LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

The caucuses have come and gone, and John F. Meehan is the standard bearer of a united democratic party, for after one of the most interesting ante-caucus contests ever waged he received 1793 votes against 1526 for his nearest competitor, Major Robert J. Crowley, while the latter held second place by a margin of only four votes. Rep. Meehan's plurality, therefore, is 267, sufficiently large to preclude any change by a recount.

It has been said that a prophet is without honor in his own country, but not so with Meehan, for the flattering vote given him in ward two, that stronghold of democracy where the candidate was born and reared, was mainly responsible for his nomination. In ward two Rep. Meehan received 559 votes and his nearest rival in the ward was James E. O'Donnell whose vote was 250. Rep. Meehan's plurality in this ward alone being an even 309 votes. A remarkable feature of the democratic contest was the fact that the winner carried the least number of wards. Major Crowley carried wards four, five, eight and nine; Mr. O'Donnell carried wards one, three and seven, while Rep. Meehan carried only wards two and six. In ward five Major Crowley led him by only one vote. While the democratic vote appeared large on the returns, City Clerk Dodman remarked this morning when the votes were all counted that the democratic vote was about 2000 votes behind its total enrollment.

In striking contrast to the vote of the democrats was that cast by the republicans. The democrats cast 5008 votes, out of which only 113 blanks were recorded. On the other side the republicans polled a vote of only 4679, and of these the unusually large number of 1245 were blanks, which shows that many republicans remained away from the polls, and of those who were attracted there by the aldermanic ticket over 1200 cast blanks on the head of the ticket. Furthermore, Purchasing Agent MacKenzie who, like the head of the ticket, was running without opposition, received 3942 against 3434 received by the head of the ticket. There were 748 blanks on purchasing agent against 1245 on the head of the ticket.

The democratic contest for purchasing agent was won by Mr. Edward Foye who received an excellent vote, and his plurality was 607. In the aldermanic field both parties gave the preference to men who have had previous experience at city hall. The democrats nominated seven men out of nine who have served in either or both branches of the city council, while the republicans nominated six members of the present city council, a member of the present park board and two who have not had experience at city hall. There were several lively contests for common council and school board, which are reported elsewhere, while there were also a few contests over ward committees.

There were many who believed that on account of the great number of candidates on the ballot the returns would not be complete until late this morning. But thanks to the speed and accuracy of the precinct officers, the last precinct came in one minute past two and by four o'clock the figures at city hall had the results complete.

An enthusiastic and expectant crowd remained at city hall until the last precinct came in, and as the indications pointed strongly to Rep. Meehan's nomination they cheered that candidate lustily. The latter appeared at city hall about midnight and was greeted as the winner. He declined to address the gathering until the returns were all in, and then he delivered a brief speech of thanks, expressing his appreciation of the grand vote given him. He then went home where he was kept out of bed receiving congratulations until almost sunrise.

GIRL ARRESTED

She is Suspected of Having Shot a Man

WALTHAM, Mass., Nov. 24.—Found under the bed of Clarence F. Glover, the man with whose mysterious death she has been connected, after hiding for three days without food and submitting to three and one-half hours' questioning, Miss Hattie Le Blanc, of Arichat, C. B., collapsed in the police station early yesterday morning. In a statement given out today, the police say the 17-year-old girl admitted having been with Glover on Saturday night, claimed that he assaulted her in his laundry, that he drew a revolver and threatened her life, following which she ran from the building. She said that as she was leaving by a window in the rear she heard a shot. Then she made her way to the Glover home, went to Mr. Glover's room and hid herself under the bed. No other person had any knowledge of her presence in the house, she said.

Miss Le Blanc had been sought for since the statement by Glover, before his death, in which he charged her with shooting him. An undertaker believed she was in the Glover home and told the police of her suspicions. The girl was found under the bed.

From the Glover home yesterday was held the funeral of the dead man. Mrs. Glover, his wife went to the cemetery with the body and had returned but a short time when the search was made.

FOUND A FISH

Woman Discovered it in the Milk

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 24.—Mrs. M. E. O'Brien of 4 Wellington avenue was making the sponge for her week's baking yesterday morning and turning in milk found a two-inch minnow splashing about. She rescued the fish and put it in a bowl of water.

By use of the telephone Mrs. O'Brien gathered in a full jury of neighbors to sit in judgment on the audacity of her milk man. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty of undue dilution of the milk and the recommendation that no mercy be shown. After an all day's exhibition the milk fish died. A warm reception was promised the milkman on his morning rounds.

INAUGURATION

Of Gov. Forbes of the Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 24.—In the marble hall of the Ayuntamiento, once used for conference by the Spanish authorities and now the Chamber of Popular Assembly, at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning, W. Cameron Forbes of Massachusetts, took the oath of office as governor-general of the Philippines and delivered his inaugural address. He is the fifth and youngest governor-general since the United States instituted civil government here.

Improvement in the material condition of the islands and the people was the key-note of Gov. Forbes' address. He dedicated his administration to the advancement of the people and country and declared that the country's greatest need was capital. He counseled Americans and Filipinos to unite jointly to strive for the advancement of the islands, quoting figures to show that the per capita production in the Philippines was far behind that of Porto Rico and Hawaii.

The governor outlined an extensive program of public improvements, including roads, irrigation, rivers and harbors. He read the original McKinley instructions and declared they had been fully carried out. The United States only retaining a necessary strong central control.

Following the address, Gov. Forbes held a reception. Gov. Forbes, in his inaugural address, spoke at some length with reference to the stability of the Philippine government and protection which it would give to investments.

"Capital demands a stable government," he declared. "Capital is not particularly interested in the color or race of the ruler. It wants just and equitable laws, sound and uniform policy on the part of the government, just and fair treatment in the courts. The faith of the United States is pledged that all of these benefits shall be permanently assured to the Filipinos. No capitalist need feel alarmed as to security of his investment, provided it has been made in such a way as to fulfill the conditions imposed by law. The United States stands pledged to the establishment and maintenance of a stable government in the Philippine Islands, not the sake of capital which may be invested here, but for the sake of the welfare of the Philippine people and the faith of the United States before the world. The security of foreign capital is merely an incident in the general security of property rights to the Filipino, but both are now permanently assured."

"There is not on the horizon discernible any cloud which indicates the possibility of any kind of disturbance in the present status of these islands either from within or without by war or insurrection."

"The United States is strong, determined, fixed in her policy, and not to be dissuaded or coerced. The development of the Philippines will proceed along the lines originally set forth, strictly adhered to by each successive administration and by the gradual progress in line of declared policy, not by spasms or jerks."

BOUT STOPPED

By Order of the Supt. of Police

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—In less than one minute of fighting in the first round last night Sam Langford, the Boston boxer, beat Mike Shreck up so badly that at the order of Supt. of Police Thomas A. McQuade, Referee Henniger stopped the bout and gave the decision to Langford.

Shreck had just tottered to his feet after his second knockdown, and Langford was just posing for the knockout when the bout was stopped. The 2500 persons who had paid $5, $3 and $2 to see this mill became so enraged that it was with great difficulty that Shreck was permitted to reach his dressing room without being hit with a chair, several being raised over him.

Shreck came into the ring very fat, weighing at least 200 pounds, while the Boston boxer was trained to the minute. Langford lost no time in preliminaries. He reached for Shreck's stomach and landed, then whipped his right to the chin, dropping the fat man like a log.

Shreck came to his feet with some labor and managed to clinch a few times, while Langford did some murderous lunging. Before the minute was ended Langford once more reached the stomach lightly with his left and crossed his right hand to the jaw. This ended it. Shreck got up at the count of nine, but could hardly stand and to save a knockout the battle was stopped.

Langford tried all day and last evening to come up with Jack Johnson, who is in Pittsburgh, but failed. He challenged Johnson from the ring.

A feature of the evening's milling was the resurrection of the veteran Johnny Stroup, who 17 years ago drew with George Dixon in 20 rounds. Stroup fought Young Green, half his years, six fast rounds and had the better of Green.

STEAMER MISSING

NO TIDINGS FROM THE MARIA HERRERA

HAVANA, Nov. 24.—No tidings have reached here of the missing steamer Maria Herrera of the Herrera line, which left Havana October 30 for Santiago de Cuba, where her passengers were landed. The Maria Herrera then proceeded for Porto Rican ports with a cargo of cattle. She has not since been reported and grave fears are entertained for her safety. She is now overdue on the return voyage to Havana eight days.

BODY EXHUMED

Miss Glendelis Victim of Dropsy

ATHOL, Nov. 24.—By order of Asst. Dist. Atty. James A. Stiles of Gardner the body of Miss Sophie Glendelis, aged 25, who died suddenly at the home of friends on Freedom street, a week ago, was exhumed yesterday, and in the afternoon at the undertaking rooms of J. F. Higgins on Exchange street an autopsy was performed by the medical examiner, Dr. James Oliver, assisted by Dr. A. V. Bowker and Dr. George J. Bassow.

It was announced by Dr. Oliver at the close of the autopsy that there was absolutely no evidence of foul play, and that the cause of death was from dropsy.

There were present besides those taking part in the autopsy Dr. J. A. Smith, Dr. David C. Coolidge and Dr. Marion Bowker. There had been many conflicting stories since the girl's death and it is to clear the case up the step was taken.

INVITATION PARTY

GIVEN AT O. U. A. M. HALL LAST NIGHT

The A. L. A.—whatever, that stands for—an organization of young ladies, gave a very pretty invitation party in O. U. A. M. hall in Middle street last night. Despite the fact that it was the night of the primaries the gentlemen turned out in large numbers and assisted the ladies in making the affair a grand success.

The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion. The predominating colors being yellow and white, while the slugs were faintly set with green, ery and crimson and blue hunting. General dancing was enjoyed from 8 o'clock to midnight.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

Military Coats

There are just 100 of these coats—the result of a fortunate purchase made by our buyer, who happened to be in New York when these plums were offered. He jumped at the opportunity to give the young men of Lowell such magnificent coats at this price. These coats are not to be confused with the usual $20 Overcoats. They're far and away beyond anything ever offered in the Military cut style at $20.00. Every one of the patterns is attractive, the materials are of the very best and each coat bears the marks of the highest order of hand tailoring.

It's such a pleasure for us to offer exceptional values, that we ask you to compare these coats with what others offer at the price. Take the coat home, examine it closely, if you are not satisfied with your purchase, or feel that you can duplicate the coat at less than $25.00, bring it back and we'll cheerfully refund your money.

We're enthusiastic about our showing of Military Coats and we want to have you see them.

ENDED HIS LIFE A $3500 VERDICT

Fitchburg Man a Suicide Man Injured in a Street by Shooting Car Accident

FITCHBURG, Nov. 24.—Fred E. Whipple, a painter living at 29 Temple street, committed suicide at his home late yesterday afternoon. A .32-calibre revolver with two chambers empty, found by his side, told the story of the deed.

Whipple had been despondent for several weeks, yet he with friends Monday night and was about his home yesterday. He ate his dinner at noon yesterday with his 11 year old son, Joseph Whipple, and appeared in good spirits. Late yesterday afternoon when the son returned from school he found his father sitting on a sofa in the parlor. There were blood stains on his shirt, which attracted the attention of the boy, and without waiting to make an examination he ran to the tenement of Charles Moore where he told what had happened.

Mr. Moore accompanied the boy to his home and upon making an examination found Whipple dead. There were two bullet wounds under the heart, which undoubtedly caused instant death. Medical Examiner Thompson was notified and after viewing the body turned it over to the undertaker. Medical Examiner Thompson stated that Whipple had been found dead some time before the body was found.

Whipple was one of the well known residents of the city. Some years ago he attempted to take his life by shooting himself, but was prevented from carrying out intentions by friends who took the weapon away from him. Whipple is survived by one son and one brother.

SAMUEL GOMPERS Refers to the Contempt Sentence

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Insurance should be subject to the regulation of congress rather than to the caprice of state legislatures, according to Darwin F. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Co. He expressed this view last night incidental to a discussion of wage earners insurance as he addressed a representative gathering of 900 persons at the tenth annual dinner of the National Civic Federation.

He said congress should declare interstate insurance "to be what it manifestly is—not only an instrumentality of commerce, but interstate commerce."

Samuel Gompers in an address last night on his European trip referred briefly to the contempt sentence now hanging over him.

He said:

"In the clash of interests in our comparatively new country there must be some standard bearers who will go ahead and find out what are the people's rights under the constitution. If the courts disagree these standard bearers have no choice but to state their case spiritedly and to carry it to the courts of last resort. Those who thus contribute to make the law definite or who through their action obtain needed changes in law perform a great public service. If they suffer it is in a good cause."

Senator Root, the last speaker of the evening, took issue with Mr. Kingsley in his demand for federal regulation of insurance. "We must be always watchful," he said, "not to break down the power of local governments just for the sake of an efficiency which comes from centralization. Let us remember that in the local governments lie the heart and centre of our liberties which have built us up into a great and strong nation of individuals. If we overrule the constitution in this matter of insurance there will be demands for government control of other business and we will find that we have established a dangerous precedent."

ACCIDENT CASES

FELIX RICHARD FRACTURED HIS KNEE

Felix Richard, aged 51 years, and living at 57 George street fell while at work in the Massachusetts street yesterday and fractured his left knee. He was taken to the Emergency hospital for treatment.

Jeremiah Tody, a boy five years of age, was taken from 29 Swift street yesterday afternoon with a fractured hip, received, it is said, through a fall from a wagon. The accident occurred about 4.30 o'clock.

BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Firm Casagnot, the French billiard champion, and Harry Cline of Philadelphia won the two games played yesterday in the 182 ball line tournament for the championship of the world. Casagnot defeated Albert Cutter of Boston, 4 to 12, and Cline defeated George F. Slosson, the local veteran, 300 to 422.

In the Casagnot-Cutter game the Boston player in his ninth inning made the highest run of the tournament thus far, 163 points, then failing to get either object ball out of balk space.

The Frenchman was both deliberate and delicate in his cue work, getting on even terms with his opponent with a run of 97 in the 14th inning.

The game then dragged and at the 28th inning the men were tied again with 363 each. Casagnot drew away gradually with one run of 58, and won the game in the 37th inning.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—Nearly every river and creek in Oregon was out of its banks last night owing to heavy rains, and in eastern Washington floods are general though the rainfall was not so heavy. The greatest damage has been done along the Willamette river.

FAST BRITISH DREADNOUGHT

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Nov. 24.—The new British Dreadnought vanguard completed an eight hour trial last night, during which she attained the remarkable speed of 22.4 knots an hour, a full knot in excess of the Admiralty's stipulation.

When You Are in Doubt about the diagnosis and cure of your indisposition, don't get anxious. Your safest remedy is within reach of your hand. Most disorders have their origin in neglect or over-crowding of the intestinal tract. The stomach is gorged, the intestines are inactive, the liver is torpid, and the entire body is in the grip of pain and disease. Don't experiment with unknown drugs. Many cures are worse than the disease. Use what for three generations has been found safe and sure.

Try the Old Reliable Remedy which cured our grandparents of their ill, and which is as good and effective to-day as then. Beecham's Pills never fail to relieve the troubles connected with the stomach, bowels, liver or kidneys. They are good if taken in the earlier stages, and most valuable when taken to relieve aggravated forms of trouble. They strengthen the digestive organs and make new healthy blood. No one can give you a better remedy than

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

A fair sized audience witnessed the performance of "A Convict's Daughter" at the Opera House last night. The plot of the piece is of the common day and portrays a pretty story, but like all melodramas right triumphs and the windup is along the line of "they lived happily ever afterward." There is considerable comedy introduced in order to remove the seriousness of the plot which is very pleasing.

The cast of the company included some very good men, including Clark B. Feigal, who portrayed the role of "William Woodford," the former convict. W. J. Florence played the heavy part, taking the role of "James Blackburn."

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD" TONIGHT. Demman Thompson's "The Old Homestead," unimpaired in every way and seemingly more virile and compelling than in the past, is now in its twenty-fourth season and is playing to audiences that completely fill the theatre where the company appears. The audiences follow the thread of the old story with as much unflagging interest as if it were all brand new. The production in all the essential details that go to make up a play, are perfect. Such familiar scenes as the old farmyard in the New Hampshire hills, breathe the air of good, wholesome honesty. The equally familiar Grace church scene, with the choir singing the well-known, but always pleasing music, is said to be as good as in former seasons. One of the secrets of the longevity of this simple play is the high quality of the ways maintained in production and presenting company. Frank Thompson, Demman Thompson's son, who is manager, keeps the traditions of the old play well in hand and he consequently reaps a golden harvest every season. The famous double quartette of farm hands is one of the distinctive features of the play and the old and new songs that are rendered always meet with the warmest and most appreciative approval. Edward Snader is playing the part of Uncle Josh, and among the other old favorites may be mentioned Maggie, played by Fred Clarke, Charles Clarke, Earl Redding, George Patch, Dave Willard and Anita Fowler.

"EAST LYNNE." Tomorrow, matinee and night, the attraction at the Opera House is an equally staged production of the most popular of all dramas, "East Lynne," by Joseph King's New York company. The engagement is for matinee and night only, and special prices will prevail.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM." "Leon W. Washburn's production of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" will be the attraction at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday and daily matinee. An excellent feature is produced during the action of the play. Popular prices will prevail. Seats are now on sale.

HATTIE WILLIAMS.

Hattie Williams will be at the Opera House soon in Michael Morton's famous dramatic comedy "Detective Sparks" which comes here under the direction of Charles Frohman, after a notable engagement of 100 nights at the Garrick theatre, New York City. Miss Williams holds introduction to local players who will remember her so well in "The Girl from Maxim's," "The Girl from Kay's," "The Little Chubby," "The Rollicking Girl," and "Fluffy Ruffles."

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

Theatre-goers and book readers who have read the famous "Brewster's Millions" story by George Barr McCutcheon, will be delighted with the announcement that the dramatic version of the book will be presented at the Opera House soon.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The big holiday bill, at Hathaway's theatre, this week is highly entertaining. The little Chinese play called "Suey San," Miss Mabel Barlowe heads the company. The production of the piece is unusually rich. The basis of the little piece is the love of two Chinese, for the Nanking maiden, one of the loveliest of a gambling house keeper, the other a humble laundryman. The incidental music has been especially composed for this production.

Anna Chabrier, one of the most singing singing comedienne ever seen here, is guaranteed 100 proof. Her personality is remarkable and nobody else has but that likes her. Gracie Lee, a mott in "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband" will supply plentiful laughs, and the comical Begonia and his clever juggling, furnish one of the most striking of finishes to the bill. Other acts are: Marrow & Heines, in musical moments; El Barto, the merry wizard; Bert and Lottie Walton, and the Hutchinsons.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Tonight another big amateur show will be given at the Academy, which bids fair to excel all the past performances. Marlowe, Myers and Muri, in their charming travesty, "A Lesson in Shakespeare," are still scoring a tremendous hit, while Rube Dickenson as the ex-justice of the peace, presents a novelty as a down cast Yankee that gains him much applause. The picture biography picture, "Sweet Revenge," teaches a strong lesson. Travelers of Rome and illustrated song, "Barney, Come in Out of the Rain," completes a splendid program.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, the Theatre Voyons will be opened at 10 in the morning, and performances will be continuous till 10.30 in the evening. The picture program will be an exceptional one, one of the features being "Her Father's Sin," a beautiful and appealing love story. The musical feature will be "Home in Our Mountains," the latest duet from "The Mountaineers" by James Bales and Lillian Bales. These singers have made an excellent impression the past week with their duets, and tomorrow's will be well worth hearing.

STAR THEATRE

Extra performances, presented in full, and consisting of vaudeville, motion pictures, and illustrated songs, will be given at the Star Theatre tomorrow afternoon. Keaton's educated dogs, the smartest canines on the stage, and Ted Letch, eccentric comedian, are stellar vaudeville attractions, which will be seen for the last time tonight. Tomorrow's program features the funny cyclist, presenting the funniest knockabout act on the American stage will be seen, and on Friday all new moving pictures will be shown. The admission of five cents allows a seat.

COM. PEARY

TENDERED RECEPTION BY NATIONAL PRESS CLUB

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Commander Robert E. Peary and Walter Wellman, the Arctic explorers, met last evening for the first time since both of them began seeking the North pole.

The occasion was a reception tendered Commander Peary by the national press club of Washington at which were distinguished scientists, officials of the government and others. The feature of the reception which was informal was the meeting between Commander Peary and Mr. Wellman. Cordially greeting Commander Peary, Mr. Wellman said: "I am glad to greet you as the only man who reached the North pole."

Commander Peary expressed his gratification at this evidence of confidence and said he wanted an opportunity to discuss with Mr. Wellman their Arctic experiences and as a result a tentative arrangement was made to do so.

Commander Peary made a very brief address but made no reference to Dr. Cook.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At the regular meeting of the Pledge encampment, 4, I. O. O. F., held Monday evening at the Odd Fellows hall, the patriarchal degree was conferred on one candidate. At the next meeting, which will be held in the Central Odd Fellows hall, the grand patriarch and board of grand officers will be present to witness the royal purple degree. A large number of members and visitors will be present on that occasion.

CHILDREN SAVED

Firemen Carried Them Through Smoke to the Street

DENVER, Mo., Nov. 24.—Two children were rescued from a fire which called out the entire department yesterday morning soon after 6 o'clock. The alarm from box 27, corner of Main and Free streets sent the firemen into Wall street to cope with a bad blaze in the dry goods store of Able Elias, the store being in a frame wooden block of two stories, the property of F. H. Hayes of this town.

The flames had gained considerable headway before discovered. The sticking of a hydrant caused a little delay so that when water was sent into the building it was a seething mass of flames which sent forth dense black smoke in huge clouds which filled the narrow street and choked the firemen and caused the spectators to scatter.

Over the store lived Mrs. James Gordon and two children, Eva, aged 16 years, and a younger brother, Mrs. Gordon, who is a mill operative, had gone to her work a few moments before, leaving both children asleep in their beds. Breaking into the apartment through locked doors the firemen caught the children from their beds and carried them through dense black smoke to a hotel. Neither was aware of the fire until awakened by the firemen and taken from the room. Both were unharmed, though the rescue was a fortunate piece of work.

HARRIET E. CLARK

Of Chelmsford Wants Separate Support

Mrs. Harriet E. Clark of Chelmsford has filed a petition for separate support against her husband, Joseph E. Clark of Somerville, in the probate office at East Cambridge. She alleges desertion and cruelty.

She also alleges that her husband married her for her money, that she obtained a large amount after her marriage and when it disappeared he ceased to care for her. The petition is returnable Dec. 9 at East Cambridge.

CORBETT, HARVARD BACK, MAKING RUN AROUND LEFT END IN GAME WITH YALE

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 24.—Now that the curtain has practically dropped on the football season of 1909 gridiron experts are discussing what may be said to be the most notable season that the popular American college game has experienced in many years. The season may be called a notable one because of two reasons—first, that the Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge, which has always marked the closing of the season with the "big eastern four," was the true championship struggle, and Yale, by its victory over the Cambridge team, is the undisputed champion of 1909. Heretofore Pennsylvania has laid a claim to the championship honor, but because of the trouncing administered to it at the hands of "Hurry Up" Yost's Michigan eleven it lost all claim to the honor this fall. Second, the season may be called one of the most disastrous that the popular game has ever experienced. More players have suffered from injuries and more deaths have resulted from them this fall than have ever marked the play of any one season before. That some means should be employed to eliminate the roughness from the game is felt by all. The illustration shows Corbett, Harvard's left halfback, going around Yale's left end in first half of recent game. Picture also gives splendid idea of immensity of crowd that witnessed the game between the two eleven in the stadium at Cambridge.

TAYLOR IS FREE

He Was Released From Cranston Jail

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 24.—After sojourning in Cranston for twenty-one months in default of $350,000 bail Thomas D. Taylor, of Boston, formerly president of the defunct New England Trust company of Providence was released yesterday by direction of the receiver of the company, J. P. Beagan. Taylor signed a two years' note for $50,000 shortly after noon and walked out of the jail a free man.

Taylor was the originator of several financial institutions in this state and Massachusetts. One of them, the New England Trust company of Providence, went to the wall a few months after the financial panic of 1907. In his report to the court Receiver Beagan stated that he found that the securities of one company had been used as the assets of another and so on through the chain of banks. Receiver Beagan sought to recover from Taylor through the courts, placing the amount due at $350,000 and Taylor's arrest followed in February, 1908. Under the Rhode Island law the defendant must furnish bail equal to the damages claimed in the suit. Taylor was unable to raise the necessary $350,000 bail in default of which he was sent to jail.

ASK NEW TRIAL

Mantir and Delorey File Petition

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 24.—Jas. Mantir and Peter Delorey who were convicted last week of murder in the second degree and manslaughter, respectively, in causing the death of Annie Mullins at Arlington in March, 1908 filed motions for a new trial through their counsel with the clerk of the Middlesex superior court yesterday. The motions recite that the verdict was against the evidence. Several legal exceptions also are taken.

THE MAYOR ELECT

Said to Have Violated Statute

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—The Marion county grand jury yesterday began an investigation of charges that Samuel Lewis Shank, republican mayor-elect, had violated a state statute which makes it a criminal offense for a candidate to obtain the assistance of an elector by promise of appointment to office.

F. W. Eppert, a member of the council, and J. O. Barrett, who it is alleged received from Shank promises of the presidency of the board of public works and a membership of the board of public safety, respectively, were called before the grand jury today. They were not appointed.

Shank's appointments generally since his election have not agreed with the "state" arranged by him with his political adherents before the election, according to the public statements of prominent politicians and political feud of a bitterness unexampled in the history of this city has arisen.

MANAGER ROSENBERG HERE

Mr. Max Rosenberg, general manager of "Under the North Star," which is to be presented at the Opera House soon, is in this city arranging for the production of the piece. Mr. Rosenberg states that the performance is meeting with great success along the circuit.

FUNERALS

McKERNAN.—Ellen McKernan, aged five months, child of John and Bridget McKernan, died Monday at their home, 732 Rogers street. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Underlaker, Thomas, J. McDermott, from which place the funeral took place at 2:30 this afternoon. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place at the parochial residence of the Immaculate Conception church yesterday when Mr. Gratian C. Sheridan, an employee of the Manchester & Concord Express company, and a popular young man, was united in marriage to Miss Mary A. Gallagher, a well known young lady of the Immaculate Conception parish.

The ceremony took place at 4:30 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Fr. Nolin, O. M. L., pastor of the church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Sarah Gallagher while Mr. Chas. Johnson acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple went to the depot where they boarded a train for Woodstock, N. H., the home of the bride, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan were the recipients of many beautiful and appropriate presents.

Halifax Solicitor Seeks Information in Lowell

Postmaster Thompson today received the following self explanatory letter:

To the Postmaster, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir—Enclosed please find a letter which I wish to reach the widow of William Spriggs, formerly of Fall River, Halifax, Co. N. S. I have heard she has since married and that there were three children by her first husband, but no one here knows her present name. I think I have heard she married an Andrews. Her maiden name was Aggie Sedley. She is wanted in reference to some property left by an uncle of her first husband. All the information I can get here is that she is in Lowell, Mass. If you would kindly try to get the enclosed delivered to her you would greatly oblige one who is trying to trace the heirs so that they will get what is coming to them.

Yours very truly,
A. J. Crosby,
Custom House, Halifax, N. S.

Postmaster Thompson is seeking the proper party to whom to give the letter.

SILVER WEDDING

Of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley of 750 Lawrence street observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their home Monday, a large party of friends calling upon them to tender their congratulations and assist in the celebration of the event. Refreshments were served during the evening and a musical and literary program was given under the direction of Mr. Sam Holgate, assisted by Mr. John W. Foster. Songs were given by Mrs. Unsworth, Mrs. Paul, Miss E. Paul, Miss K. Jennings, Miss R. Richards, Miss Whiteley, Misses Evelyn and Emma Pearson, Mr. W. Shackleton, Mr. G. Battye and Mr. A. Cawthra; readings by John W. Foster; gramophone selections by Messrs. E. Calvert and A. Tempest. Mr. J. H. Moss was the accompanist of the occasion, assisted by Mrs. Moss. Mr. A. E. Schom, on behalf of those present, extended best wishes for long life and prosperity. The success of the pleasant affair was due to a committee consisting of Miss E. Whiteley, Miss A. Bayman, Mrs. C. Wood, Miss Emma Pearson, Mr. A. Atkinson and Mr. F. Calvert. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteley were married in York-shire, England, Nov. 22, 1884, and came to Lowell 23 years ago.

OBSERVED 50TH BIRTHDAY ON SUNDAY

Sig. Vincent Marato of No. 1 Winter street observed his 50th birthday on Sunday evening with a dinner to a party of friends at his home. There was turkey, spaghetti, macaroni, vermicelli, chicken, luncymachist and other things dear to the Italian palate and to the palates in general. Sig. Angelo Palato was master of ceremonies and toastmaster, and the speech of the evening was delivered by Sig. H. Frederico Flinnery, also from the old world, who addressed the party on the broad and helpful laws of the land as observed while serving on a jury. Sig. Flinnery's remarks were most attentively listened to and it was the opinion of his hearers that he would make a most acceptable candidate for chief magistrate of one of our municipalities. Toasts were drunk to the president, the king of Italy and to Sig. Flinnery. Dinolianas, and Grossi's combined orchestra provided music.

TWO LIVES LOST

Men Drowned in Merrimack River

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 24.—Two men were drowned and two rescued from a capsized dory in the Merrimack river yesterday. The dead are David McKenzie, 39 years old, of Boston, and Mr. McKenzie took three workmen on Italian.

out in a dory to pick up an anchor rope and a wind squall overturned the little craft. McKenzie and the Italian disappeared almost immediately while the other workmen were taken from the water in an exhausted condition.

Smokeless

Until science discovered a way to construct the Automatic Smokeless Device, and make it completely dependable, all oil heaters had one common great fault—smoke.

With the advent of the Automatic Smokeless Device, and its practical application to the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

the smoke problem was successfully solved.

which insures a steady, full-glowing heat, with the wick turned up as high as it will go, without a shred of smoke. Reverse the motion, turn the wick down—there's no odor. The smokeless device automatically locks and prevents the upward movement of the wick beyond the proper exposure. That is the secret. This splendid result gives leadership to the Perfection.

You may now have all the heat you want—when you want it—and where you want it—without the annoyance of smoke or odor. Brass font holds 4 quarts of oil, which permits a glowing heat for 9 hours. Brass wick tube—dampers top—cool handle. Cleaned in a minute. The Perfection is beautifully finished in Nickel or Japan.

HORSE SALE

SOME NOTED ONES BROUGHT HIGH PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The "Old Glory" sale of light harness horses was continued at Madison Square Garden yesterday with the disposal of James Butler's East View farm trotters and peers as the feature. Flying Feet, a five-year-old trotter, with a trial time of 2:10 was sold to J. J. Ryan of Chester, Pa., for $1,575, while Asle Oil, who is said to be the best bred son of Axworthy Alama Vista by Direct, went to J. E. Whitsett, Corsicana, Tex., for only $775. Direct Finish, a son of Direct Rosa Ludwig, brought $450 from W. S. Alarich of Westley, R. I.

The high price of the day was $2000 paid by James Hazzell of Indianapolis for the 17-year-old stallion, trotter Oratorio, sold by George Amisen, of Richmond, Ind. The Deer, a 11-year-old trotter, consigned by the McElwain farm at West Springfield, Mass., was sold to Arnold Lawson of Boston for $1300. The 112 horses sold yesterday brought $42,333.

TO PROTECT MILLS

LUDLOW, Nov. 24.—One hundred men hired by the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates in Boston and other cities as watchmen to aid in protecting their mills from possible violence by strikers, arrived here in a special car yesterday. The car was run directly into the mill yard and the men were able to see to the quarters provided for them without going outside the mill stockade.

THE FIRST SNOW

CAME PELTING DOWN LAST NIGHT WITH HIGH WIND

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—A pelting, blinding fall of snow came swirling out of the northwest from Boston late last night, marking the first snow storm of the winter. A decided drop in temperature was experienced during the early part of the day, the afternoon was murky and foreboding and in the early evening a cold, drizzling rain began to fall. Soon after 5 o'clock the rain turned to ice and sleet and then to snow, blanketing the streets and walks slippery, and interfering somewhat with the traffic on street car lines and by automobiles.

TALKED ON "HEALTH"

Dr. William M. Jones gave a very interesting talk on "Health" before the pupils of the evening high school last night. The pupils met in the assembly hall and the speaker informed those in attendance that health was the best capital that a young man or woman could have. The importance of fresh air by day and night, wholesome food, thoroughly nutritious, absolute cleanliness of body and clothing, with a moderate amount of exercise and sufficient rest, was emphasized.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotto, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

ALL UP FOR MEEHAN.

In one of the most harmonious ante-caucus contests ever conducted in this city, Rep. John F. Meehan has been nominated for mayor by the democrats of Lowell with a plurality that gives him a clear lead over his two closest opponents. From the beginning the fact was recognized that the contest was a three-cornered one with Meehan, Crowley and O'Donnell as the leaders, and it was not until all the returns were counted that the result was definitely known.

Rep. Meehan is a young man of clean record and marked ability. Unassuming and modest in manner, he is possessed of much natural ability, and his campaign demonstrated the fact that he is an eloquent speaker, a logical reasoner; that he is well versed in matters of state and municipal legislation and, therefore, well equipped to give the city of Lowell a business-like and progressive administration of her affairs.

From the beginning of the contest Major Crowley stood out prominently and firmly for perfect harmony in the party with the purpose that whoever might be chosen would receive the united support of all the other candidates. That was his policy in the beginning and he held to it until the last gun was fired.

A similar policy in favor of party harmony and good feeling among the candidates was adopted and put into effect by Mr. James E. O'Donnell, who came in a few votes behind Major Crowley. Both these gentlemen stand pledged to support the nominee of the party, and we have not the slightest doubt that they will do so in the most cordial and enthusiastic manner. The same is true of Messrs. Daly and Maloney.

It had been stated that anyone of the five men who were in the contest could beat the republican candidate at the polls, and that is probably true. Now that Mr. Meehan has been nominated it is the party's duty to give him its most loyal support and to see that every honorable means be adopted to secure his election as mayor. Equipped as he is by education, training and natural ability, he will make a chief magistrate who will redeem the city from the humiliating condition in which it has been placed during the past year. The fact that he carried off the nomination in the face of such opposition proves his ability as a campaigner. He will stoop to no undignified or ungentlemanly methods. He will brook no corruption; his record is clean and above reproach whether we consider his public or his private career. He will make an ideal candidate and a good mayor. It is up to the democratic party and the citizens of Lowell to elect him, as we have no doubt they will with a sweeping majority.

The rest of the ticket is perhaps the strongest that could be chosen from the list of candidates and will compare favorably with the republican ticket.

MUNICIPAL REFORM IN THE AIR.

All over this country the paramount question seems to be municipal reform. The principal cities are having their affairs probed by committees on finance or else by bureaus of municipal research. In either case the results are proving very satisfactory in exposing the defects in system and looseness in the methods of doing business, if not open and flagrant corruption.

In some of the cities the conditions revealed are really alarming. The reports prove beyond doubt the urgent need of a better system of conducting municipal business.

The general tendency of the reforms favored is in the direction of smaller governing bodies for cities and those to be constituted of men of eminent ability and unquestionable integrity.

The city of Lowell for some time past has suffered from the handicap of an antiquated charter. It will be some time before the various sections of our citizens can unite upon a form of charter suitable for adoption. It seems, however, that a close study of the charters being adopted by other cities will convince anybody that we would be better off with a smaller city council made up of men of eminent ability even though we had to pay them a reasonable salary for their services.

The question of charter reform is one of the most important to be considered in the immediate future. It is the question of deciding upon the best form of organic law for the government of our city in the future.

The city of Lowell has passed beyond the status of an overgrown town. It is now a city of 100,000 inhabitants with a prospect of reaching 200,000 within the next half century. The charter to be adopted must plan for future growth and for metropolitan methods.

Hereafter we shall have to do things on a large scale and to drop provincial ideas. But in all cases we shall have to apply business methods and progressive ideas in the management of municipal affairs. One of the worst things a city can do is to put incompetent men or dishonest or insincere men at the head of the government. Under present methods of conducting our government we have reached a state of affairs under which the ablest men find it very difficult to enter public office.

It requires men of experience to safeguard the city's finances, to prevent extravagance or injudicious outlay. The new charter of the future must centre responsibility in one executive head; it must define the duties of every department, provide a uniform system of accounting, and it must also provide for a periodical investigation of the city's financial condition in order that the citizens may know in what direction the municipal bark is steering, whether to the haven of success or upon the rocks of financial ruin.

At the present time the interest account of our city is much larger than it should be and long years of economy will be needed to get it reduced to what might be considered normal.

In the transition from the old to new methods the guidance of able and experienced men will be requisite, and that is the secret of the tendency to have smaller bodies. Men of wide and varied ability are scarce. If we want a score or more of such men we shall be disappointed; but if we want but a small number we may be accommodated. This is one of the great problems which our citizens will have to solve at an early day, and upon the disinterested wisdom of their solution depends in a great measure the future of this great city.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mark Twain, 76, suffering from a tobacco smoke, says plaintively that he never smoked more than one cigar at a time.

It appears that the recent purchase by Congressman Weeks of Newton of the Jacob Benton homestead in Lancaster, N. H., is not to make it his summer home, but to utilize it as an old ladies' home. There is nothing of the sort in that section of New Hampshire.

Three New York physicians to receive decorations from Emperor William are Dr. Otto Killian, Dr. Rudolph Denig and Dr. Louis Felsner of the staff of the German hospital. The first named received membership in the order of the Royal Prussian crown, and two last named the medal and ribbon of the order of the Red Eagle. The services of the German hospital to German immigrants and subjects doubtless account for the Kaiser's appreciative action.

The Federation of Women's clubs of New York city has passed by an act of unanimous vote a motion to urge legislation that will prevent the wrecking of homes through the physical unfitness of parents. The motion was introduced by Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood, and she proposed that applicants for marriage licenses be required to show certificates from reputable physicians stating that they are free from insanity, dipsomania, tuberculosis and other hereditary diseases.

What is said to be the largest amount of insurance ever placed, at one time on a single life, has just been taken out by George E. Nicholson of Kansas City, president of several cement manufacturing companies. The aggregate is $1,500,000 distributed among about twenty-five companies, and is additional to $1,300,000 already held by him. Some of his companies are made the beneficiaries of the new

RUB ON PARISIAN SAGE DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS

Dandruff Germs Will Quickly Die, and Itching Scalp Will Say Good-Bye

Your money back if Parisian Sage isn't the best hair tonic—the best hair grower—the best hair saver—you ever used, you'll be the judge.

It's really a wonder what a phenomenon Parisian Sage has made for itself in America in a few years. And what a multitude of people have been cured of falling hair, dandruff and itching scalp by its use.

And how the American women praise Parisian Sage for its peculiar ability to turn harsh, faded, lustreless hair into fresh, beautiful, silky and lustrous hair in a few days.

Parisian Sage is today the favorite hair dressing and tonic of discriminating Americans, not because of sensational methods of advertising, but because it is the only hair restorer that will do just what it is advertised to do.

policies, as he is a widower with two sons grown up, and is worth $4,000,000. He is said to be a very liberal man, for twenty-five physicians, representing as many different companies have examined and accepted him.

The German Housewives society has just awarded prizes to thirty-five model servant women who have been two or more years in the same place. The twenty-five who had been two years in the same place received gold pins as a symbol of their industry. Eight who had four year records received rings and the two who had six years in the same place to their credit received each a ten dollar gold piece along with their rings. The society awards prizes every two years and among those rewarded last year several had ten and twelve year records.

President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota will go to Florida and California following his retirement from office. The president plans to make Minneapolis his home for the rest of his life, but his vacation after leaving the president's chair will be an extended one in the south and west. President Northrop will not engage actively in the work of the American Missionary association, of which he has been elected president, but will attend the meetings of the association in Boston during the second week of next October.

Dr. Thomas Bliss Stillman, 23 years professor of analytical chemistry at the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, has retired to accept the Carnegie pension. He was great in his specialty and was bent on a wholly chemical regimen, according to his ideas all the cooking of mankind was wrong, because empirical in its origin; the time had come to have only scientific foods and drinks, compounded by chemical process. To illustrate this he gave at the Hotel Astor, a few years ago, a "synthetical" dinner on these lines, but made few converts.

Miss M. Cary Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college and chairman of the committee that has gathered statistics concerning college women in the United States, reported at a recent convention of the association of college alumnae that when men and women were educated together there were no more marriages than when the sexes were educated apart. Her report showed also that college women had an average of 3.5 children each, while non-college women had an average of 3.5 children, although college women married later in life. College women choose better husbands, the report said.

The anti-suffragists have announced Mrs. George Cornwallis West (Lady Randolph Churchill) among the speakers whom they have engaged to teach American women the virtue of keeping out of politics. The suffragists reply by pointing out that in her recently published reminiscences Mrs. Cornwallis West declares herself a keen and ardent politician. As the mainpring of the Primrose league she tells how she used to travel about England making public speeches against home rule for Ireland. The suffragists declare that the women in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, who vote for all offices from president down, have never made themselves as conspicuous, nor allowed their political activities to keep them away from home nearly as much as Mrs. Cornwallis West.

Helpful Hints on Hair Health

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody's else hat. Many a husband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve you. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color or when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to lighten and grow new hair. It was originally devised to cure the hair troubles of scalp and scalp to scalp. FUNERALS

MARCHAND—The funeral of Mrs. J. B. Marchand took place yesterday afternoon from the home, 25 Pearl street. Solemn funeral mass was held at Notre Dame de Lourdes church. Rev. Frs. Vincent Brullard and Dubreuil, O. M. L. officiating. The choir sang Perreault's funeral mass. H. A. Ruellet directed, and Miss Alma Alexander played the organ. The bearers were John Cote, Edouard, Fred and Joseph Dupuis, Dorval St. Yves and Joseph Meunier. There were many floral offerings. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Dubreuil officiated at the grave. Undertaker Amedee Archambault had charge.

BARTLETT—The funeral of Mrs. Mary V. Bartlett took place yesterday afternoon. Prayers were said by Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist church, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred L. Emerson, 11 South Loring street. Funeral services were held at the Wilson chapel, Carlisle. The services there were conducted by Rev. F. H. Billington. Appropriate selections were sung by the quartet composed of Mrs. D. W. Robbins, Miss Grace Chamberlin, Mr. W. B. Chamberlin and Mr. D. L. Chamberlin. The bearers were Messrs. Charles Forbush, Everett Lapham, Parker Nickles and Amasa N. Kildner. Burial was in the family lot in the Green cemetery, Carlisle, in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

DRAPER—The funeral of Cora M. Draper, infant daughter of Charles and Annie Draper, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of the parents, 31 Railroad street. Rev. A. R. Dills officiated. Burial was in the Fairview cemetery, Westford, under the direction of C. H. Molley & Sons.

WHEELER—The funeral of John Wheeler took place yesterday afternoon from the chapel in the Edison cemetery. Rev. Mr. Ellis of Chelmsford Centre officiating. Burial was under the direction of C. H. Molley & Sons.

HEESON—The funeral of Elizabeth Heeson, daughter of John and Elizabeth Heeson, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, Dracut, Mass. Rev. Mr. Bartlett of Dracut was the officiating clergyman. There was singing by Beatrice and Shirley Smithson. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Burial was in the Edison cemetery, under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

DRACUT

There was a large attendance of voters at the special meeting of the citizens of Dracut held last night. Both questions were acted favorably upon.

Town Clerk John W. Brennan called to order at eight o'clock and the first article, calling for the election of a moderator, resulted in the election of Arthur W. Colburn.

The meeting then took up article 2 which provided for a loan of $1000 for one year for the extermination of the brown tail and gypsy moths. There was considerable discussion relative to the matter, but a vote by check list showed that the article was carried, 64 voting in the affirmative and 11 in the negative.

Article 3 called for a loan of not more than $4000 for five years to be used under chapter 279 of the acts of 1908, and instructing the selectmen to petition the highway commissioners for an article under the provisions of the act.

Warren W. Fox offered a motion amending the reduction of the amount to $2000 for a term of three years at a rate of not more than 4 per cent.

The article was passed by a vote of 13 to 4.

Article 4, which was to determine where the money raised under the previous article should be expended, was then taken up by the meeting. Mr. Bassett moved that the money borrowed under article 3, be expended upon Lakeview avenue between the Lowell line and the Pelham car tracks in Collinsville. The motion prevailed without debate and there was not a dissenting vote.

If You Have Rheumatism Let Me Send You a 50 Cent Box of My Remedy Free.

Deformity in Chronic Rheumatism.

I Will Mail FREE To Anyone Suffering From Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Sciatica (Who Will Enclose This Advertisement)

A 50 Cent Box of my Rheumatism Remedy Free.

My remedy has actually cured men and women seventy and eighty years of age—some were so decrepit that they could not even dress themselves. To introduce this great remedy I intend to give fifty thousand 50 cent boxes away, and every suffering reader of this paper is courteously invited to write for one. No money is asked for this 50 cent box neither now nor later, and if afterwards more is wanted I will furnish it to sufferers at a low cost. I found this remedy by a fortunate chance while an invalid from rheumatism, and since it cured me it has been blessing to thousands of other persons. Don't be sceptical, remember the first 50 cent box is absolutely free. This is an internal remedy which goes after the cause of the trouble, and when the cause of rheumatism is removed, have no fear of deformities. Rheumatism in time will affect the heart, so do not trifle with this merciless affliction. Address, enclosing this adv., JOHN A. SMITH, 5424 Smith Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

The caucuses have come and gone, and John F. Meehan is the standard bearer of a united democratic party, for after one of the most interesting ante-caucus contests ever waged he received 1703 votes against 1526 for his nearest competitor, Major Robert J. Crowley, while the latter held second place by a margin of only four votes. Rep. Meehan's plurality, therefore, is 267, sufficiently large to preclude any change by a recount.

It has been said that a prophet is without honor in his own country, but not so with Meehan, for the flattering vote given him in ward two, that stronghold of democracy where the candidate was born and reared, was mainly responsible for his nomination. In ward two Rep. Meehan received 559 votes and his nearest rival in the ward was James E. O'Donnell whose vote was 259, Rep. Meehan's plurality in this ward alone being an even 300 votes. A remarkable feature of the democratic contest was the fact that the winner carried the least number of wards. Major Crowley carried wards four, five, eight and nine; Mr. O'Donnell carried wards one, three and seven, while Rep. Meehan carried only wards two and six. In ward five Major Crowley led him by only one vote. While the democratic vote appeared large on the returns.

In striking contrast to the vote of the democrats was that cast by the republicans. The democrats cast 5908 votes, out of which only 113 blanks were recorded. On the other side the republicans polled a vote of only 4679, and of these the unusually large number of 1245 were blanks, which shows that many republicans remained away from the polls, and of those who were attracted there by the aldermanic ticket over 1200 cast blanks on the head of the ticket. Furthermore, Purchasing Agent MacKenzie who, like the head of the ticket, was running without opposition, received 3942 against 3434 received by the head of the ticket. There were 748 blanks on purchasing agent against 1245 on the head of the ticket.

The democratic contest for purchasing agent was won by Mr. Edward Foye who received an excellent vote, and his plurality was 607. In the aldermanic field both parties gave the preference to men who have had previous experience at city hall. The democrats nominated seven men out of nine who have served in either or both branches of the city council, while the republicans nominated six members of the present city council, a member of the present park board and two who have not had experience at city hall. There were several lively contests for common council and school board which are reported elsewhere, while there were also a few contests over ward committees.

There were many who believed that on account of the great number of candidates on the ballot the returns would not be complete until late this morning. But thanks to the speed and accuracy of the precinct officers, the last precinct came in one minute past two and by four o'clock the figures at city hall had the results complete.

An enthusiastic and expectant crowd remained at city hall until the last precinct came in, and as the indications pointed strongly to Rep. Meehan's nomination they cheered that candidate lustily. The latter appeared at city hall about midnight and was greeted as the winner. He declined to address the gathering until the returns were all in, and then he delivered a brief speech of thanks, expressing his appreciation of the grand vote given him. He then went home where he was kept out of bed receiving congratulations until almost sunrise.

The result of the vote by wards for all officers will be found on page three.

IN POLICE COURT

Larceny Case Engages Attention of the Court

A rather peculiar as well as interesting case was heard before Judge Hadley in the police court this morning, it being that of Paul R. Feidler of Methuen, charged with the larceny of 432 bottles of Mathews Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil from Joseph Routhier and Adolphe Delisle, of the Lowell Pharmacy.

According to the testimony offered by the government, the defendant, substituted a preparation which he claimed was of his own preparation and put it on the market as the original preparation.

Messrs. A. O. Hamel and William H. Bent appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Lawyer W. J. Bradley of Lawrence. Joseph Routhier, a member of the firm known as the Lowell Pharmacy, with a store in upper Merrimack street, was the first witness called.

He testified that last spring he met the defendant and exchanged about three gross of Mathews Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil, valued at $75, for about four gross of Gauvin's Aniseed of Syrup. Witness asked the defendant where he got the syrup; the latter said that he had got it from Mr. Gauvin.

The current price of Gauvin's syrup is $18.90 per gross, but witness said that the defendant gave him the medicine for $18 per gross, a reduction of 90 cents per gross.

Mr. Routhier testified that he had sold some of the bottles of syrup and returned others to Mr. Feidler. At that point an argument arose among counsel. Messrs. Hamel and Bent appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. W. J. Bradley of Lawrence represented the defendant. Mr. Hamel conducted the direct examination and when he asked a question relative to what had happened Mr. Bradley questioned the admissibility of the question. Mr. Bent arose and started to take part in the argument when Mr. Bradley objected, stating that he was willing to fight one man, but that he could not fight two men.

Mr. Bent insisted that he was not examining the witness and had a right to speak upon the admission of answers. Mr. Bradley carried his point so far as the conducting of the case by one attorney was concerned, but the court allowed Mr. Bent to say what he wanted.

Witness said he had not analyzed the Gauvin syrup to see if anything was the matter with it. He said that the corks were out of the bottle and the syrup had run all over the wrappers.

On cross-examination witness said that he kept books at his store but that his transactions with Feidler were not entered in the books at all. Witness admitted that the transactions between Feidler and him were the exchange of different preparations, though in some instances money was paid by either party.

Witness said that Mr. Feidler, said that he had got the Gauvin syrup from Mr. Gauvin, but did not state at what time or place the syrup was purchased.

Louis Godu and Anna Lessage, who were taken from a house in Middlesex street Saturday night, were brought into court this morning on a charge of adultery.

Lawyer J. Joseph Hennessy, who appeared for the defendants, entered pleas of guilty, but at his request a continuance was granted till December 1.

Joseph F. Riley, charged with drunkenness, was fined $5. There were two first offenders who escaped with $2 fines.

John Hennessy and Edward Fallon of Hildesheim appeared before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on complaints charging them with malicious mischief. The case was conducted in an undertone and the clerk of the court stated that Hennessy was found guilty and fined $15, while the other defendant was found guilty also and fined $1 less.

Neglect of Wife

Joseph Brando was charged with drunkenness and neglect of wife and pleaded guilty to both charges. Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society stated to the court that the man goes on a drunk for weeks at a time and leaves his wife unprotected for and that she has to struggle hard to secure food for herself and children.

Patrolman John H. Clark corroborated the testimony offered by the former witness and added that he had seen the defendant drunk on the street on many occasions.

GIRL ARRESTED

She is Suspected of Having Shot a Man

WALTHAM, Mass., Nov. 24.—Found under the bed of Clarence F. Glover, the man with whose mysterious death she has been connected, after hiding for three days without food and submitting to three and one-half hours' questioning, Miss Hattie Le Blane, of Arichat, C. B., collapsed in the police station early yesterday morning. In a statement given out today, the police say the 17-year-old girl admitted having been with Glover on Saturday night, claimed that he assaulted her in his laundry, that he drew a revolver and threatened her life, following which she ran from the building. She said that as she was leaving by a window in the rear her way to the Glover home, went to Mr. Glover's room and hid herself under the bed. No other person had any knowledge of her presence in the house, she said.

Miss Le Blane had been sought for since the statement by Glover, before his death, in which he charged her with shooting him. An undertaker believed she was in the Glover home and told the police of his suspicions. The girl was found under the bed.

From the Glover home yesterday

was held the funeral of the dead man. Mrs. Glover, his wife went to the cemetery with the body and had returned but a short time when the search was made.

FOUND A FISH

Woman Discovered it in the Milk

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 24.—Mrs. M. E. O'Brien of 4 Wellington avenue was making the sponge for her week's baking yesterday morning and turning in milk found a two-inch minnow splashing about. She rescued the fish and put it in a bowl of water.

"By use of the telephone Mrs. O'Brien gathered in a full fury of neighbors to sit in judgment on the audacity of her milk man. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty of undue dilution of the milk and the recommendation that no money be shown. After an all-day exhibition the milk fish died. A warm reception was promised the milkman on his morning rounds.

INAUGURATION

Of Gov. Forbes of the Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 24.—In the marble hall of the Ayuntamiento, once used for conference by the Spanish authorities and now the Chamber of Popular Assembly, at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning, W. Cameron Forbes of Massachusetts, took the oath of office, as governor-general of the Philippines and delivered his inaugural address. He is the fifth and youngest governor-general since the United States instituted civil government here.

Improvement in the material condition of the islands and the people was the key-note of Gov. Forbes' address. He dedicated his administration to the advancement of the people and country and declared that the country's greatest need was capital. He counseled Americans and Filipinos to unite jointly to arrive for the advancement of the islands, quoting figures to show that the per capita production in the Philippines was far behind that of Porto Rico and Hawaii.

The governor outlined an extensive program of public improvements, including roads, irrigation, rivers and harbors. He read the original McKinley instructions and declared they had been fully carried out. The United States only retaining a necessary strong central control.

Following the address, Gov. Forbes held a reception.

Gov. Forbes, in his inaugural address, spoke at some length with reference to the stability of the Philippine government and protection which it would give to investments.

"Capital demands a stable government," he declared. "Capital is not particularly interested in the color or design of the flag; it wants just and equitable laws, sound and uniform policy on the part of the government, just and fair treatment in the courts. The faith of the United States is pledged that all of these benefits shall be permanently assured to the Filipinos. No capitalist need feel alarmed as to security of his investment, provided it has been made in such a way as to fulfill the conditions imposed by law. The United States stands pledged to the establishment and maintenance of a stable government in the Philippine islands, not the sake of capital which may be invested here, but for the sake of the welfare of the Philippine people and the faith of the United States before the world. The security of foreign capital is merely an incident in the general security of property rights to the Filipino, but both are now permanently assured.

"There is not on the horizon discernible any cloud which indicates the possibility of any kind of disturbance in the present status of these islands either from within or without by war or insurrection.

"The United States is strong, determined, fixed in her policy, and not to be dissuaded or coerced. The development of the Philippines will proceed along the lines originally set forth, strictly adhered to by each successive administration and by the gradual process in line of declared policy, not by spasms or jerks."

BOUT STOPPED

By Order of the Supt. of Police

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—In less than one minute of fighting in the first round last night Sam Langford, the Boston boxer, beat Mike Shreck up so badly that at the order of Supt. of Police Thomas A. McQuaid, Referee Henniger stopped the bout and gave the decision to Langford.

Shreck had just tottered to his feet after his second knockdown, and Langford was just poised for the knockout when the bout was stopped. The 2500 persons who had paid $5, $3 and $2 to see this mill became so enraged that it was with great difficulty that Shreck was permitted to reach his dressing room without being hit with a chair, several being raised over him.

Shreck came into the ring very fat, weighing at least 300 pounds, while the Boston boxer was trained to the minute. Langford lost no time in preliminaries. He reached for Shreck's stomach and landed, then whipped his right to the chin, dropping the fat man like a log.

Shreck came to his feet with some labor and managed to elude a few blows, while Langford did some murderous hitting. The minute was ended Langford once more reached the stomach lightly with his left and crossed his right hand to the jaw. This ended it. Shreck got up at the count of nine, but could hardly stand and to save a knockout the battle was stopped.

Langford tried all day and last evening to come up with Jack Johnson, who is in Pittsburgh, but failed. He challenged Johnson from the ring.

A feature of the evening's milling was the resurrection of the veteran Johnny Stroup, who 17 years ago drew with George Dixon in 20 rounds. Stroup fought Young Green, half his years, six fast rounds and had the better of Green.

STEAMER MISSING

NO TIDINGS FROM THE MARIA HERRERA

HAVANA, Nov. 24.—No tidings have reached here of the missing steamer Maria Herrera of the Herrera line, which left Havana October 26 for Santiago de Cuba, where her passengers were landed. The Maria Herrera then proceeded for Porto Rican ports with a cargo of cattle. She has not since been reported and grave fears are entertained for her safety. She is now overdue on the return voyage to Havana eight days.

BODY EXHUMED

Miss Glendelis Victim of Dropsy

ATHOL, Nov. 24.—By order of Asst. Dist. Atty. James A. Stiles of Gardner the body of Miss Sophia Glendelis, aged 23, who died suddenly at the home of friends on Freedom street, a week ago, was exhumed yesterday, and in the afternoon at the undertaking rooms of J. F. Higgins on Exchange street an autopsy was performed by the medical examiner, Dr. James Oliver, assisted by Dr. A. V. Bowker and Dr. George J. Bassow.

It was announced by Dr. Oliver at the close of the autopsy that there was absolutely no evidence of foul play, and that the cause of death was from dropsy.

There were present besides those taking part in the autopsy Dr. J. A. Smith, Dr. David G. Coolidge and Dr. Marion Bowker. There had been many conflicting stories since the girl's death and it is to clear the case up the step was taken.

INVITATION PARTY

GIVEN AT O. U. A. M. HALL LAST NIGHT

The A. L. A.—whatever that stands for—an organization of young ladies, gave a very pretty invitation party in O. U. A. M. hall in Middle street last night. Despite the fact that it was the night of the primaries the gentlemen turned out in large numbers and assisted the ladies in making the affair a grand success.

The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion, the predominating colors being yellow and white, while the stage was dimly set with greenery and crimson and blue bunting. General dancing was enjoyed from 8 o'clock to midnight.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

There are just 100 of these coats—the result of a fortunate purchase made by our buyer, who happened to be in New York when these plums were offered. He jumped at the opportunity to give the young men of Lowell such magnificent coats at this price. These coats are not to be confused with the usual $20 Overcoats. They're far and away beyond anything ever offered in the Military cut style at $20.00. Every one of the patterns is attractive, the materials are of the very best and each coat bears the marks of the highest order of hand tailoring.

It's such a pleasure for us to offer exceptional values, that we ask you to compare these coats with what others offer at the price. Take the coat home, examine it closely, if you are not satisfied with your purchase, or feel that you can duplicate the coat at less than $25.00, bring it back and we'll cheerfully refund your money.

We're enthusiastic about our showing of Military Coats and we want to have you see them.

DIED SUDDENLY

Old Greenback Leader Passed Away

TURNER, Me., Nov. 24.—Solon Chase, one time leader of the Greenback party, an editor, lecturer and stump speaker widely known for nearly half a century, died suddenly yesterday of heart failure at the age of 87. Mr. Chase had been suffering from a cold for a week at his home, Chase's mile, but his general condition appeared to be good, and no particular anxiety was felt. Two minutes before his death he called for a daily paper. Three decades ago Mr. Chase became famous as an advocate of Greenbackism, and he kept up his belief throughout his career. As a Greenback candidate for congress from the second Maine district, he stumped the whole eastern section of the United States, driving a pair of steers hitched to a hayrack, from the year of which he delivered his speeches. The slogan, "Solon Chase and them steers" became familiar to everybody from Maine to the middle west. After the passing of the greenback agitation Mr. Chase withdrew from the popular eye, but as the editor and publisher of Chase Chronicle, a weekly organ, he continued for many years to utter his opinions forcibly, and he was often heard on the lecture platform also throughout New England.

IMPERIAL BANK
HOLDS THE FUNDS OF ABDUL HAMID

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—The Imperial Bank of Germany holds $5,000,000 deposited by Abdul Hamid before he was deposed from the sultanhip of Turkey.

which, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung, the present Ottoman ruler purposes to recover through a legal action.

It is learned here that the Imperial bank is willing to surrender the money if the order bears the signature of the former sultan authenticated by the special seal adopted by him when the deposit was made. At that time Abdul Hamid entered into a strict compact with the officers of the bank under which no withdrawal from this account was to be permitted except upon the authority of the special seal.

CHILDREN SAVED

Firemen Carried Them Through Smoke to the Street

DENVER, Me., Nov. 24.—Two children were rescued from a fire which called out the entire department yesterday morning soon after 8 o'clock. The alarm from box 27, corner of Main and Free streets sent the firemen into Wall street to cope with a bad blaze in the dry goods store of Miss Elias, the store being in a frame wooden block of two stories, the property of F. H. Hayes of this town.

The flames had gained considerable headway before discovered. The sticking of a hydrant caused a little delay so that when water was sent into the building it was a seething mass of flames which sent forth dense black smoke in huge clouds which filled the narrow street and choked the firemen and caused the spectators to scatter.

Over the store lived Mrs. James Gordon and two children, Eva, aged 16 years, and a younger brother, Mrs. Gordon, who is a mill operative, had gone to her work a few moments before, leaving both children asleep in their beds. Breaking into the apartment through locked doors the firemen caught the children from their beds and carried them through dense black smoke to a hotel. Neither was aware of the fire until awakened by the firemen and taken from the room. Both were unharmed, though the rescue was a fortunate piece of work.

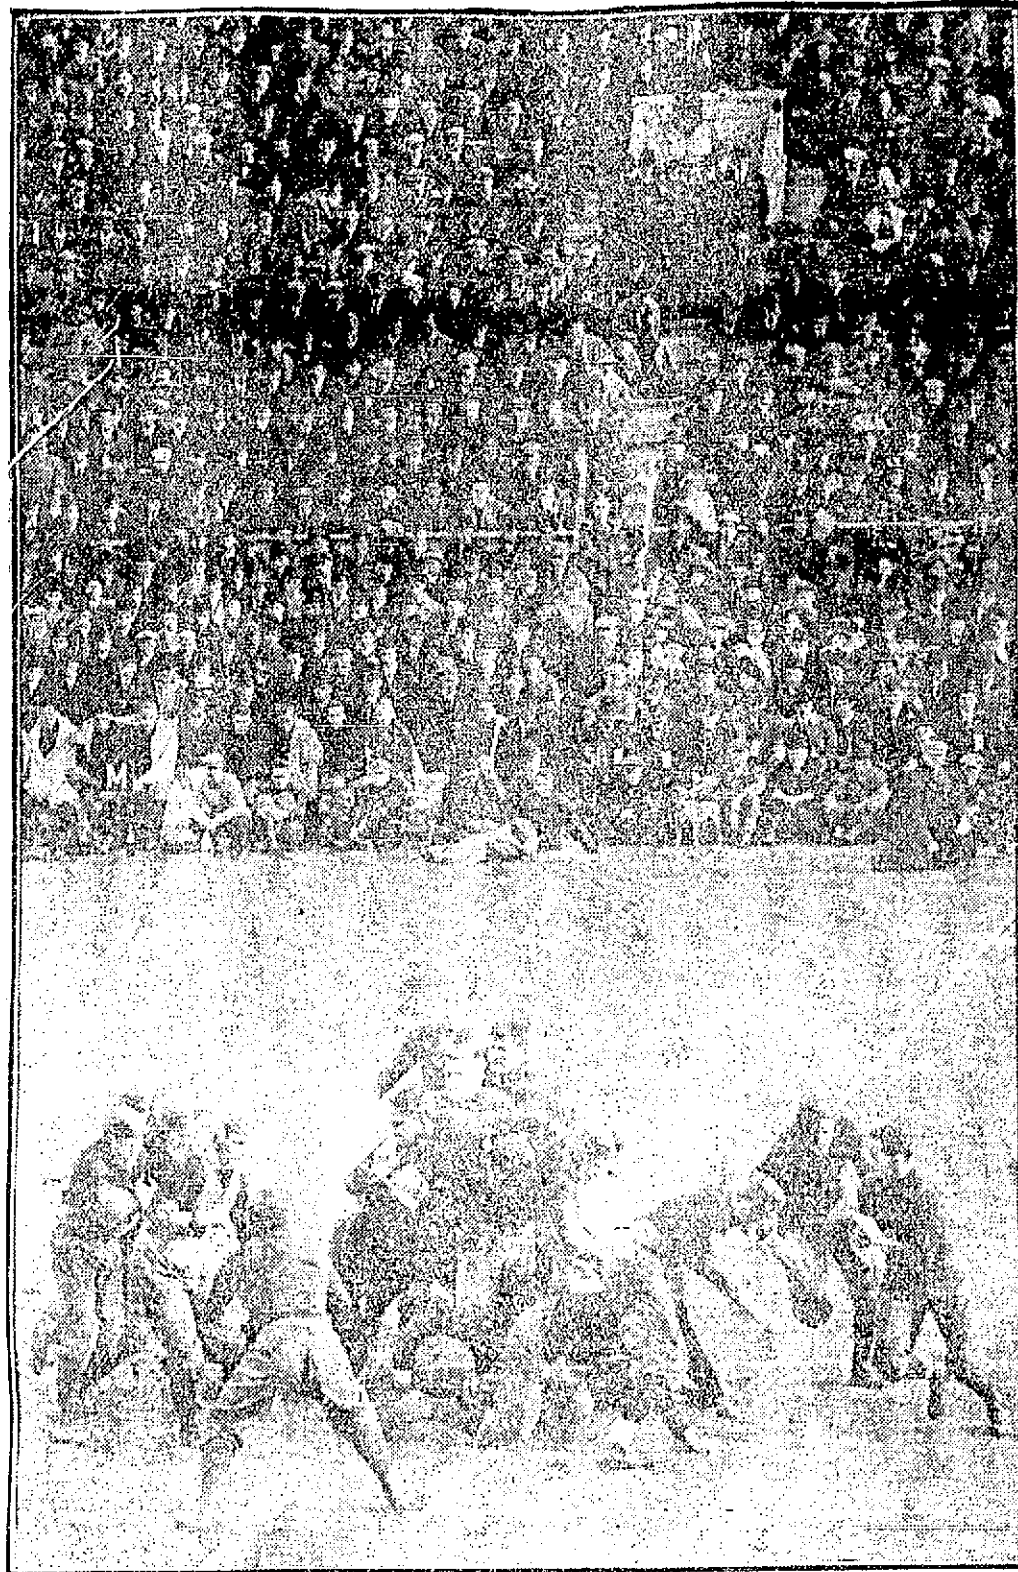

HARRIET E. CLARK

Of Chelmsford Wants Separate Support

Mrs. Harriet E. Clark of Chelmsford has filed a petition for separate support against her husband, Joseph E. Clark of Somerville, in the probate office at East Cambridge. She alleges desertion and cruelty.

She also alleges that her husband married her for her money, that she obtained a large amount after her marriage and when it disappeared he ceased to care for her. The petition is returnable Dec. 9 at East Cambridge.

CORBETT, HARVARD BACK, MAKING RUN AROUND LEFT END IN GAME WITH YALE

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 21.—Now that the curtain has practically dropped on the football season of 1909 gridiron experts are discerning what may be said to be the most notable season that the popular American college game has experienced in many years. The season may be called a notable one because of two reasons—first, that the Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge, which has always marked the closing of the season with the "big eastern four," was the true championship struggle, and Yale, by its victory over the Cambridge team, is the undisputed champion of 1909. Heretofore Pennsylvania has laid a claim to the championship honor, but because of the trouncing administered to it at the hands of "Hurry Up" Yale's Michigan eleven it lost all claim to the honor this fall. Second, the season may be called one of the most disastrous that the popular game has ever experienced. More players have suffered from injuries and more deaths have resulted from them this fall than have ever marked the play of any one season before. That some means should be employed to eliminate the roughness from the game is felt by all. The illustration shows Corbett, Harvard's left halfback, going around Yale's left end in first half of recent game. Picture also gives splendid idea of immensity of crowd that witnessed the game between the two eleven in the stadium at Cambridge.

HORSE SALE

SOME NOTED ONES BROUGHT HIGH PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The "Old Glory" sale of light harness horses was continued at Madison Square Garden yesterday with the disposal of James Butler's East View farm trotters and pacers as the feature. Flying Feet, a five-year-old trotter, with a trial time of 2:10 was sold to J. J. Ryan of Chester, Pa., for $1,500, while Ash Oil, who is said to be the best bred son of Asworthy Abner Vista by Direct, went to J. L. Whitehead, Cordonia, Tex., for only $750. Direct Flash, a son of Direct Rosa Lavada, brought $400 from W. S. Aldrich of Wysterly, R. I. The high price of the day was $3,000 paid by James H. Linton of Indianapolis, for the 17-year-old stallion trotter Graveland, sold by George Amoson, of Ireland, Ind. The Pace, a 11-year-old trotter, consigned by the McElwain farm at West Springfield, Mass., was sold to Arnold Lawson of Boston for $1,500. The 113 horses sold yesterday brought $42,135.

TO PROTECT MILLS

LUNFOW, Nov. 24.—One hundred men hired by the Lumb Manufacturing Associates in Boston and other cities as watchmen to aid in protecting the mills from possible violence by strikers, arrived here in a special car yesterday. The car was run directly into the mill yard and the men were able to go to the quarters provided for them without going outside the mill stockade.

THE FIRST SNOW

CAME PELTING DOWN LAST NIGHT WITH HIGH WIND

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—A pelting, blinding fall of snow came swirling out of the northwest from Boston late last night, marking the first snow storm of the winter. A decided drop in temperature was experienced during the early part of the day, the afternoon was murky and foreboding and in the early evening a cold, drizzling rain began to fall. Soon after 9 o'clock the rain turned to ice and sleet and then to snow, making the streets and walks slippery, and interfering somewhat with the traffic on street car lines and by automobiles.

TALKED ON "HEALTH"

Dr. William M. Jones gave a very interesting talk on "Health" before the pupils of the evening high school last night. The pupils met in the assembly hall and the speaker informed those in attendance that health was the best capital that a young man or woman could have. The importance of fresh air by day and night, wholesome food, thoroughly masticated, absolute cleanliness of body and clothing, with a moderate amount of exercise and sufficient rest, was emphasized.

TAYLOR IS FREE

He Was Released From Cranston Jail

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 24.—After sojourning in Cranston for twenty-one months in default of $350,000 bail Thomas D. Taylor of Boston, formerly president of the defunct New England Trust company of Providence was released yesterday by direction of the receiver of the company, J. P. Beagan. Taylor signed a two years' note for $50,000 shortly after noon and walked out of the jail a free man.

Taylor was the originator of several financial institutions in this state and Massachusetts. One of them, the New England Trust company of Providence, went to the wall a few months after the financial panic of 1907. In his report to the court Receiver Beagan stated that he found that the securities of one company had been used as the assets of another, and so on through the chain of banks. Receiver Beagan sought to recover from Taylor through the courts, placing the amount due at $350,000 and Taylor's arrest followed in February, 1908. Under the Rhode Island law the defendant must furnish bail equal to the damages claimed in the suit. Taylor was unable to raise the necessary $350,000 bail in default of which he was sent to jail.

ASK NEW TRIAL

Mantir and Delorey File Petition

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 24.—Jas. Mantir and Peter Delorey who were convicted last week of murder in the second degree and manslaughter, respectively, in causing the death of Annie Mullins at Arlington in March, 1905, filed motions for a new trial through their counsel with the clerk of the Middlesex superior court yesterday. The motions recite that the verdict was against the evidence. Several legal exceptions also are taken.

THE MAYOR ELECT

Said to Have Violated Statute

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—The Marion county grand jury yesterday began an investigation of charges that Samuel Lewis Shank, republican mayor-elect, had violated a state statute which makes it a criminal offense for a candidate to obtain the assistance of an elector by promise of appointment to office.

F. W. Eppert, a member of the council, and J. O. Barrett, who it is alleged received from Shank promises of the presidency of the board of public works and a membership of the board of public safety, respectively, were called before the grand jury today. They were not appointed.

Shank's appointments generally since his election have not agreed with the "state" arranged by him with his political adherents before the election, according to the public statements of prominent politicians and the official fund of a bitterness unexampled in the history of this city has arisen.

FUNERALS

McKERNAN—Ellen McKernan, aged five months, child of John and Bridget McKernan, died Monday at their home, 132 Rogers street. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott, from which place the funeral took place at 2:30 this afternoon. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place at the parochial residence of the Immaculate Conception church yesterday when Mr. Gratian C. Sheridan, an employee of the Manchester & Concord Express company, and a popular young man, was united in marriage to Miss Mary Gallagher, a well known young lady of the immaculate Conception parish.

The ceremony took place at 4:30 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Fr. Nolin, O. M. L., pastor of the church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Sarah Gallagher, while Mr. Chas. Johnson acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple went to the depot where they boarded a train for Woodstock, N. B., the home of the bride, where they will spend their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan were the recipients of many beautiful and appropriate presents.

Halifax Solicitor Seeks Information in Lowell

Postmaster Thompson today received the following self explanatory letter:

To the Postmaster, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir—Enclosed please find a letter which I wish to reach the widow of William Spriggs, formerly of Fall River, Halifax, Co., N. S. I have heard she has since married and that there were three children by her first husband, but no one here knows her present name. I think I have heard she married an Andrews. Her maiden name was Aggie Sedley. She is wanted in reference to some property left by an uncle of her first husband. All the information I can get here is that she is in Lowell, Mass. If you would kindly try to get the enclosed delivered to her you would greatly oblige one who is trying to trace the heirs so that they will get what is coming to them.
Yours very truly,
A. J. Crosby.

Custom House, Halifax, N. S.
Postmaster Thompson is seeking the proper party to whom to give the letter.

SILVER WEDDING

Of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley of 730 Lawrence street observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their home Monday, a large party of friends calling upon them to tender their congratulations and assist in the celebration of the event. Refreshments were served during the evening and a musical and literary program was given under the direction of Mr. Sam Holgate, assisted by Mr. John W. Foster. Songs were given by Mrs. Unsworth, Mrs. Paul, Miss E. Paul, Miss K. Jennings, Miss R. Richards, Miss Whiteley, Misses Evelyn and Emma Pearson, Mr. W. Shackleton, Mr. O. Batte and Mr. A. Cawthra; readings by John W. Foster; gramophone selections by Messrs. E. Calvert and A. Tempest. Mr. J. H. Moss was the accompanist of the occasion, assisted by Mrs. Moss. Mr. A. E. Schoon, on behalf of those present, extended best wishes for long life and prosperity. The success of the pleasant affair was due to a committee consisting of Miss E. Whiteley, Miss A. Bayman, Mrs. C. Wood, Miss Emma Pearson, Mr. A. Kinson and Mr. E. Calvert. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteley were married in Yorkshire, England, Nov. 22, 1884, and came to Lowell 23 years ago.

OBSERVED 50TH BIRTHDAY ON SUNDAY

Sig. Vincent Marato of No. 1 Winter street observed his 50th birthday on Sunday evening with a dinner to a party of friends at his home. There was turkey, spaghetti, macaroni, vermicelli, chianti, lacrymachristi and other things dear to the Italian palate and to the palates in general. Sig. Angelo Palato was master of ceremonies and toastmaster, and the speech of the evening was delivered by Sig. H. Frederico Finnelly, also from the old world, who addressed the party on the broad and helpful laws of the land as observed while serving on a jury. Sig. Finnelly's remarks were most attentively listened to and it was the opinion of his hearers that he would make a most acceptable candidate for chief magistrate of one of our municipalities. Toasts were drunk to the president, the king of Italy and to Sig. Finnelly. Dimodanis and Grossi's combined orchestra provided music.

TWO LIVES LOST

Men Drowned in Merrimack River

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 24.—Two men were drowned and two rescued from a capstern dory in the Merrimack river yesterday. The dead are David McKenzie, 39 years old, of Boston, and Mr. McKenzie took three workmen out in a dory to pick up an anchor rope and a wind squall overturned the little craft. McKenzie and the Italian disappeared almost immediately while the other workmen were taken from the water in an exhausted condition.

CANDIDATE MEEHAN

Is Congratulated by the Other Candidates for the Nomination

Rep. John F. Meehan, the democratic candidate for mayor, was kept busy early this morning receiving the greetings and congratulations of his numerous friends. Mr. Meehan was particularly pleased with the expressions of good will that came from the other candidates for the democratic nomination. To a representative of The Sun, he said:

"I am thankful, indeed, to the democratic party of Lowell for this nomination. I am also grateful to those who contested for the nomination with me, for the manly campaign that was conducted. I believe that the sole object of each one of us who sought the nomination was to defeat Mayor Brown. The democrats have chosen me to make their fight. I promise the people of Lowell that if elected, and I certainly expect to be, I will give them an administration that will be a credit to all of us. I will be the mayor of the whole people. I will respect their wishes, and what they desire that will be of benefit to the city, will be my aim to accomplish. I am thankful to the great number of democrats who favored my candidacy and I assure them and all the people of Lowell that my sole aim will be to serve the best interests of the city and its people in case I am elected."

Congratulations from Crowley

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 24.
Mr. John F. Meehan.
Dear Sir—Allow me to congratulate you on your splendid victory achieved by honorable methods. It was a contest of which we may all feel proud, and you may rest assured that in the coming campaign you will have the support of all united party. Anything that I or my friends can do for you will be done most cheerfully. I wish you the same measure of success on election day that was yours yesterday. Sincerely yours,
Robert J. Crowley.

O'Donnell to Meehan

Lowell, Nov. 24, 1909.
John F. Meehan, Lowell, Mass.
Friend John—There was a splendid victory and I sincerely hope that it will be repeated at the polls. There is abundant satisfaction in the thought that the campaign was clean and above board. No personalities were indulged in and that in itself should prosper the winning candidate. I will do all in my power to assist in electing you. Yours very truly,
James E. O'Donnell.

William E. Maloney

Mr. William E. Maloney when seen by The Sun representative accepted my congratulations. You was a splendid victory and I sincerely hope that it will be repeated at the polls. There is abundant satisfaction in the thought that the campaign was clean and above board. No personalities were indulged in and that in itself should prosper the winning candidate. I will do all in my power to assist in electing you. Yours very truly,
James E. O'Donnell.

THE FIVE DIVISIONS OF THE A. O. H. WILL HOLD THEIR ANNUAL THANKSGIVING PARTY AT HIBERNIAN HALL, TONIGHT.

SEVERE STORM

Has Shown No Signs of Abating

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—The unprecedented storm that has prevailed in the Pacific northwest for two days shows no signs of abating. In eastern Oregon and western Washington the rain is of secondary importance to a wind storm which has caused considerable financial loss. So far as reported no lives have been lost. Along lower Puget sound the streams are flooding the low lands and destroying bridges and railroad tracks. The Great Northern railroad, which crosses the Cascade east of Everett is tied up, several trains being stalled in the mountains.

In the Grays harbor country the greatest loss has been to logs, one raft alone valued at $20,000 being swept out to sea.

Along the bank of the Columbia river landslides have put the railroads out of business temporarily.

The false work to the new Southern Pacific railroad bridge at Oswego has gone out and at Portland the water is over the lower docks and still rising.

THE FIVE DIVISIONS OF THE A. O. H. WILL HOLD THEIR ANNUAL THANKSGIVING PARTY TONIGHT AT HIBERNIAN HALL.

MORE BODIES FOUND

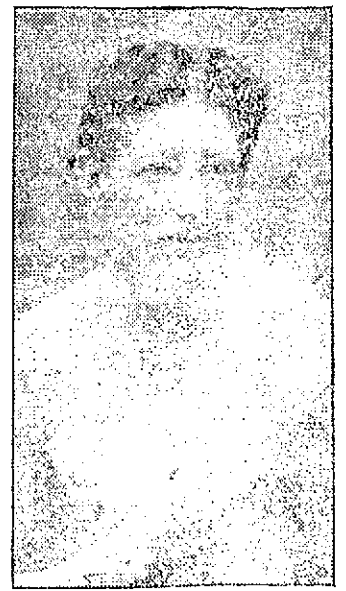

Were Recovered From the Mine at Cherry, Ill.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 24.—Practically all means of escape having been blocked off by debris falling and covering the top of the shaft, the bodies of the three men who were found in the mine at Cherry, Ill., were recovered from the mine. The bodies were found in a great tangled mass completely blocking the staircase leading from the third to the second level and were scattered along the vein where they had dropped before reaching the staircase. Backdamp was the cause of death.

FREDDIE MAGUIRE

Put MacDougall Away in Two Rounds

The fact that it was caucus night kept many Lowell members of the Armory club from last night's meeting, but those who did attend saw one of the best shows of the season and saw Freddie Maguire do a stunt on Angus MacDougall, the tough little South Western bantam, that was worth going miles to see. It was Freddie's first appearance at the Armory club and he was stacked up against a youngster who had it on him on weight and who has the reputation of being a hard hitter.

FREDDIE MAGUIRE

ter and who was looked upon by the Boston fans as a sure winner over the Lowell boy. It took but one round for Freddie to convince the crowd that he had the goods and in the second round he brought home the bacon with a right upper cut to the jaw that sent MacDougall to slumberland. MacDougall has fought 31 battles and received his first knockout from Maguire last evening. Maguire's cleverness surprised the Boston sports, while his up per cut at short range demonstrated the fact that he has the mullip.

In the final bout Jim Barry not only defeated Ralph Calloway, the California colored heavyweight, in a decisive manner in ten rounds, but he gave the Californian a facing that he will never forget. That the bout went as long as it did was due to the poor judgment of the seconds of the Californian, for after the fifth round they should not have allowed Calloway to continue, as he was nearly exhausted. He seemed to revive some during the minute of rest, and expanded a weeper in the tenth session. He lasted half a minute, and then fell, completely exhausted and unable to continue.

Dr. Cunningham stepped into the ring and looked Calloway over and said that nothing serious was the matter with him. Calloway was taken to his dressing room, and after a while he was able to dress and walk to his hotel.

An amusing thing happened while Calloway was lying in the room. Joe Walcott, thinking that Calloway needed something to revive him, poured a large quantity of ammonia into his nose. In an instant Calloway was sitting up and asked Walcott what he was trying to do to him. Barry weighed at least 25 pounds more than Calloway, and besides he had the advantage in height and reach. Barry showed better form than he previously has here and boxed carefully. Only in the fifth round did Calloway have a look in, and at the end of that round Barry was pretty nearly as tired as Calloway.

WEALTHY FARMER

Was Tricked Twice by Women

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 24.—After waiting on the streets for several hours yesterday for Miss Mabel Gagnon of 337 Amherst street, who had promised to marry him, James E. Jameson, a wealthy farmer of Bow, complained to the police.

Jameson advertised for a housekeeper a few weeks ago, and Miss Gagnon responded. He proposed that they get married, and she consented. After their arrival here Jameson purchased clothing for her, and finally they visited the city clerk's office and secured the license.

Miss Gagnon, according to Jameson's story, then led him to Concord common and asked to be excused for a few minutes while she went home and said good-by to her sister. She didn't return.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Tomorrow afternoon at Washington park the Y. M. C. I. team and the Hustlers will battle for the championship of the city. Great rivalry exists between these two teams, and after waiting for several weeks the success of the two teams have come to a head and arranged to settle their claims to the championship. The Hustlers are a speedy lot of players, and have been defeated this year, while the Y. M. C. I. a much heavier team, have been defeated twice, once by the Tigers of Lawrence, 11 to 6, and again by the St. Alphonsus A. A. of Boston, 5 to 0. The Y. M. C. I. have agreed to use nobody but local players and will probably line up as follows: Left end, Pavetto; R. McNulty; R. Kenyon; C. Kiran; R. Cooney; R. Kenyon; R. St. Peter; R. Bourke; fullback, O'Connor; lbs. H. Jewett-McOsker; q. Campbell-King. The Hustlers will have the same lineup that has gone through the season. The rosters of both teams will be out in force as many bets have been made on the result. Admission will be 25 cents. Game called at 3 sharp.

AIDED REVOLUTIONISTS

PORTO CORTEZ, Spanish Honduras, Nov. 23, via New Orleans, Nov. 24.—Telegraph advices from Managua say it is believed in Nicaragua that the government authorities in Port Limon, Costa Rica, and former President Rafael Iglesias and his following have aided the Nicaraguan revolutionists. This information came from a high official of Nicaragua, who said that this aid had been stopped through the petitions of the charge d'affaires of Nicaragua.

TO PAY OFF INDEBTEDNESS

HEAVY, Ohio, Nov. 24.—In order to raise enough money to pay off the indebtedness on the Christian church here the congregation has taken up burning and yesterday sold a crop of broom corn grown on a forty acre field near the church. All the work was done by the congregation headed by the pastor, Rev. L. R. Coffey. Women and children helped gather the harvest which made over five tons of broom straw and sold for $380.

TRIBESMEN SURRENDERED

MELILLA, Nov. 24.—The Rifian tribesmen at Nador appeared before Gen. Marina, governor of Melilla, today and formally surrendered.

GETS VERDICT

DECISION IN FAVOR OF AN ACTRESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Florence May De Haven, known on the stage as Flora Parker, yesterday obtained a verdict against her husband, Carter De Haven, also an actor, in Justice Pitzeck's part of the supreme court. The proceeding was in the form of an inquest and was not defended. Mrs. De Haven will have to apply to a special term of court for the confirmation of the jury's verdict before a decree of divorce will be granted to her.

Three detectives, who were in Mrs. De Haven's employ, told of a raid on Carter De Haven's apartment in the Hotel Bayard, when they, in company with Mrs. De Haven, found De Haven with a pretty young woman.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

ALL UP FOR MEEHAN.

In one of the most harmonious anti-caucous contests ever conducted in this city, Rep. John F. Meehan has been nominated for mayor by the democrats of Lowell with a plurality that gives him a clear lead over his two closest opponents. From the beginning the fact was recognized that the contest was a three-cornered one with Meehan, Crowley and O'Donnell as the leaders, and it was not until all the returns were counted that the result was definitely known.

Rep. Meehan is a young man of clean record and marked ability. Unassuming and modest in manner, he is possessed of much natural ability, and his campaign demonstrated the fact that he is an eloquent speaker, a logical reasoner; that he is well versed in matters of state and municipal legislation and, therefore, well equipped to give the city of Lowell a business-like and progressive administration of her affairs.

From the beginning of the contest Major Crowley stood out prominently and firmly for perfect harmony in the party with the purpose that whoever might be chosen would receive the united support of all the other candidates. That was his policy in the beginning and he held to it until the last gun was fired.

A similar policy in favor of party harmony and good feeling among the candidates was adopted and put into effect by Mr. James E. O'Donnell, who came in a few votes behind Major Crowley. Both these gentlemen stand pledged to support the nominee of the party, and we have not the slightest doubt that they will do so in the most cordial and enthusiastic manner. The same is true of Messrs. Daly and Maloney.

It had been stated that anyone of the five men who were in the contest could beat the republican candidate at the polls, and that is probably true. Now that Mr. Meehan has been nominated it is the party's duty to give him its most loyal support and to see that every honorable means be adopted to secure his election as mayor. Equipped as he is by education, training and natural ability, he will make a chief magistrate who will redeem the city from the humiliating condition in which it has been placed during the past year. The fact that he carried off the nomination in the face of such opposition proves his ability as a campaigner. He will stoop to no undignified or ungentlemanly methods. He will brook no corruption; his record is clean and above reproach whether we consider his public or his private career. He will make an ideal candidate and a good mayor. It is up to the democratic party and the citizens of Lowell to elect him, as we have no doubt they will with a sweeping majority.

The rest of the ticket is perhaps the strongest that could be chosen from the list of candidates and will compare favorably with the republican ticket.

MUNICIPAL REFORM IN THE AIR.

All over this country the paramount question seems to be municipal reform. The principal cities are having their affairs probed by committees on finance or else by bureaus of municipal research. In either case the results are proving very satisfactory in exposing the defects in system and looseness in the methods of doing business, if not open and flagrant corruption.

In some of the cities the conditions revealed are really alarming. The reports prove beyond doubt the urgent need of a better system of conducting municipal business.

The general tendency of the reforms favored is in the direction of smaller governing bodies for cities and these to be constituted of men of eminent ability and unquestionable integrity.

The city of Lowell for some time past has suffered from the handicap of an antiquated charter. It will be some time before the various sections of our citizens can unite upon a form of charter suitable for adoption. It seems, however, that a close study of the charters being adopted by other cities will convince anybody that we would be better off with a smaller city council made up of men of eminent ability even though we had to pay them a reasonable salary for their services.

The question of charter reform is one of the most important to be considered in the immediate future. It is the question of deciding upon the best form of organic law for the government of our city in the future.

The city of Lowell has passed beyond the status of an overgrown town. It is now a city of 100,000 inhabitants with a prospect of reaching 200,000 within the next half century. The charter to be adopted must plan for future growth and for metropolitan methods.

Hereafter we shall have to do things on a large scale and to drop provincial ideas. But in all cases we shall have to apply business methods and progressive ideas in the management of municipal affairs. One of the worst things a city can do is to put incompetent men or dishonest or insincere men at the head of the government. Under present methods of conducting our government we have reached a state of affairs under which the ablest men find it very difficult to enter public office.

It requires men of experience to safeguard the city's finances, to prevent extravagance or injudicious outlay. The new charter of the future must centre responsibility in one executive head; it must define the duties of every department, provide a uniform system of accounting, and it must also provide for a periodical investigation of the city's financial condition in order that the citizens may know in what direction the municipal bark is steering, whether to the haven of success or upon the rocks of financial ruin. At the present time the interest account of our city is much larger than it should be and long years of economy will be needed to get it reduced to what might be considered normal.

In the transition from the old to new methods the guidance of able and experienced men will be requisite, and that is the secret of the tendency to have smaller bodies. Men of wide and varied ability are scarce. If we want a score or more of such men we shall be disappointed; but if we want but a small number we may be accommodated. This is one of the great problems which our citizens will have to solve at an early day, and upon the disinterested wisdom of their solution depends in a great measure the future of this great city.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mark Twain, 76, suffering from a tobacco heart, has been advised by his physician to quit smoking. He never smoked more than one cigar at a time.

It appears that the recent purchase by Congressman Weeks of Newton of the Jacob Benton homestead in Lancaster, N. H., is not to make it his summer home, but to utilize it as an old ladies' home. There is nothing of the sort in that section of New Hampshire.

Three New York physicians to receive decorations from Emperor William are Dr. Otto Kiliani, Dr. Rudolph Denis and Dr. Louis Fieser of the staff of the German hospital. The first named received membership in the order of the Royal Prussian crown, and two last named the medal and ribbon of the order of the Red Eagle. The services of the German hospital to German immigrants and subjects doubtless account for the Kaiser's appreciative action.

The Federation of Women's clubs of New York city has passed by an almost unanimous vote a motion to urge legislation that will prevent the wrecking of homes through the physical unfitness of parents. The motion was introduced by Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood, and she proposed that applicants for marriage licenses be required to show certificates from reputable physicians stating that they are free from insanity, dipsomania, tuberculosis and other hereditary diseases.

What is said to be the largest amount of insurance ever placed at one time on a single life has just been taken out by George W. Nicholson of Kansas City, president of several cement manufacturing companies. The aggregate is $1,500,000, distributed among about twenty-five companies, and is additional to $1,300,000 already held by him. Some of his companies are made the beneficiaries of the new policy, as he is a widower with two sons and a daughter worth $1,000,000. He ought to believe himself a well man, for twenty-five physicians, representing as many different colleges, have examined and accepted him.

The German Housewives society has just awarded prizes to thirty-five model servants, women who have been two or more years in the same place. The twenty-five who had been two years in the same place received gold bees as a symbol of their industry. Eight who had four year records received rings and the two who had six years in the same place to their credit received each a ten dollar gold piece along with their rings.

The society awards prizes every two years and among those rewarded last year several had ten and twelve year records.

President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota will go to Florida and California following his retirement from office. The president plans to make Minneapolis his home for the rest of his life, but his vacation, after leaving the president's chair, will be an extended one in the south and west. President Northrop will not engage actively in the work of the American Missionary association, of which he has been elected president, but will attend the meetings of the association in Boston during the second week of next October.

Dr. Thomas Bliss Stillman, 23 years professor of analytical chemistry at the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, has retired to accept the Carnegie pension. He was great in his specialty and was bent on a wholly chemical regimen; according to his ideas all the cooking of mankind was wrong. He caused empirical in its origin the time had come to have only scientific foods and drinks, compounded by chemical process. To illustrate this he gave at the Hotel Astor, a few years ago, a "synthetic" dinner on these lines, but made few converts.

Mrs. M. Cary Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college and chairman of the committee that has gathered statistics concerning college women in the United States, reported, at a recent convention of the association of the college alumnae that when men and women were educated together there were no more marriages than when the sexes were educated apart. Her report showed also that college women had an average of 3.5 children each, while non-college women had an average of 2.5 children, although college women married later in life. College women choose better husbands, the report said.

The anti-suffragists have announced Mrs. George Cornwallis West (Lady Randolph Churchill) among the speakers whom they have engaged to teach American women the virtue of keeping out of politics. The suffragists reply by pointing out that in her recently published reminiscences Mrs. Cornwallis West declares herself a keen and ardent politician. As the mainpring of the Primrose league she tells how she used to travel about England making public speeches against home rule for Ireland. The suffragists declare that the women in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, who vote for all of these women, never have heard of Mrs. Cornwallis West, nor allowed their political activities to keep them away from home nearly as much as Mrs. Cornwallis West.

Helpful Hints on Hair Health

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody's else hat. Many a hand has a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color or when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Lowell only at our store, The Rexall Store—Hall & Lyon Co., 67-69 Merrimack street.

RUB ON PARISIAN SAGE DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS

Dandruff Germs Will Quickly Die, and Itching Scalp Will Say Good-Bye

Your money back if Parisian Sage isn't the best hair tonic—the best hair grower—the best hair savor—you ever used, you be the judge.

It's really a wonder what a phenomenal sale Parisian Sage has made for itself in America in a few years. And what a multitude of people have been cured of falling hair, dandruff and itching scalp by its use.

And how the American women praise Parisian Sage for its peculiar ability to turn harsh, faded, lusterless hair into fresh, beautiful, silky and lustrous hair in a few days.

Parisian Sage is today the favorite hair dressing and tonic of discriminating Americans, not because of sensational methods of advertising, but because it is the only hair restorer that will do just what it is advertised to do.

It kills the dandruff germs and cures dandruff, stops falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks. If it doesn't, your money back.

For a long time my hair had been falling out, and my scalp gave forth great quantities of dandruff. I used several so-called hair tonics but never received any benefit until I used Parisian Sage. This wonderful tonic removed the dandruff and stopped my hair falling out. —Jessie Sweet, Lowell, Mich., June 28, 1909.

If you haven't tried Parisian Sage, get a large 50 cent bottle today. Sold by druggists everywhere, and by Carter & Sherburne. It is a delightful dressing, not sticky or greasy. The right method of application is on every package. It is cordially filled, all charges prepaid, by the American makers, Glouco Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

FUNERALS

MARCIAND—The funeral of Mrs. J. D. Marchand took place yesterday from her home, 25 Pearl street, Solomons general mass was held at Notre Dame de Lourdes church. Rev. Frs. Vincent, Brulard and Dubreuil, O. M. L., officiating. The choir sang Perreault's funeral mass. H. A. Racicot directed, and Miss Alma Alexander played the organ. The bearers were John C. Colquhoun, Fred and Joseph Dupuis, Donat St. Yves and Joseph McNeur. There were many floral offerings. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Dubreuil officiated at the grave. Undertaker Amedee Archambault had charge.

BARTLETT—The funeral of Mrs. Mercy V. Bartlett took place yesterday afternoon. Prayers were said by Rev. C. E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist church, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred L. Emerson, 11 South Loring street. Funeral services were held at the Wilson chapel, Carlisle. The services there were conducted by Rev. F. H. Billington. Appropriate selections were sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. D. W. Robbins, Mrs. Grace Chamberlain, Mr. W. B. Chamberlain and Mr. D. L. Chamberlain. The bearers were Messrs. Charles Forbush, Everett Lafram, Parker Nickles and Amasa N. Kildner. Burial was in the family lot in the Green cemetery, Carlisle, in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

DRAPER—The funeral of Cora M. Draper, infant daughter of Charles and Anne Draper, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of the parents, 31 Railroad street. Rev. A. R. Ellis officiated. Burial was in the Fairview cemetery, Westford, under the direction of C. H. Molloy & Sons.

WHEELER—The funeral of John Wheeler took place yesterday afternoon from the chapel in the Edison cemetery. Rev. Mr. Ellis of Chelmsford Center, officiating. Burial was under the direction of C. H. Young.

HESSON—The funeral of Elizabeth Hesson, daughter of John and Elizabeth Hesson, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, Dracut, Mass. Rev. Mr. Bartlett of Dracut was the officiating clergyman. There was singing by Beatrice and Shirley Smith. Town Clerk John W. Brennan called to order at eight o'clock and the first article, calling for the election of a moderator, resulted in the election of Arthur W. Colburn.

DRACUT

There was a large attendance of voters at the special meeting of the citizens of Dracut held last night. Both questions were acted favorably upon.

Town Clerk John W. Brennan called to order at eight o'clock and the first article, calling for the election of a moderator, resulted in the election of Arthur W. Colburn.

The meeting then took up article 2 which provided for a loan of $1000 for one year for the extermination of the brown tail and gypsy moths. There was considerable discussion relative to the matter, but a vote by check list showed that the article was carried, 64 voting in the affirmative and 11 in the negative.

Article 3 called for a loan of not more than $1000 for five years to be used under chapter 273 of the acts of 1908, and instructing the selectmen to petition the highway commissioners for an allotment under the provisions of the article.

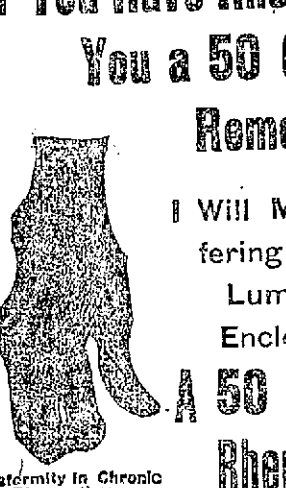

Warren W. Fox offered a motion amending the reduction of the amount to $2000 for a term of three years at a rate of not more than 4 per cent.

The article was passed by a vote of 22 to 4.

Article 4, which was to determine where the money raised under the previous article should be expended, was then taken up by the meeting. Mr. Lassett moved that the money borrowed under article 2, be expended on Lakeview avenue between the Lowell line and the Pelham car tracks in Collinsville.

The motion prevailed without debate and there was no dissenting vote.

If You Have Rheumatism Let Me Send You a 50 Cent Box of My Remedy Free.

A 50 Cent Box of my Rheumatism Remedy Free.

My remedy has actually cured men and women seventy and eighty years of age—some were so decrepit that they could not even dress themselves. To introduce this great remedy I intend to give fifty thousand 50 cent boxes away, and every suffering reader of this paper is courteously invited to write for one. No money is asked for this 50 cent box neither now nor later, and if afterwards more is wanted I will furnish it to sufferers at a low cost. I found this remedy by a fortunate chance while an invalid from rheumatism, and since it cured me it has been a blessing to thousands of other persons. This is not a sceptical, remember the first 50 cent box is absolutely free. This is an internal remedy which goes after the cause of the trouble, and when the cause of rheumatism is removed, have no fear of deformities. Rheumatism in time will affect the heart, so do not trifle with this merciless affliction. Address, enclosing this adv., JOHN A. SMITH, 5126 Smith Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

BURNED TO DEATH

Six Persons Perished in a Fire in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—In a Brooklyn fire believed to be of incendiary origin, six persons were burned to death today. Four persons received probably fatal and a dozen others serious injuries.

The blaze was in a four-story tenement building in Haven's place. Fanned by a strong wind, the fire originating in the basement swept quickly upward. Escape by the stairways being cut off, most of the sixty tenants in the building rushed for the fire escapes. Several in their panic jumped from windows and were injured, one woman fatally. Nearly two score were carried out of the blazing structure by firemen on ladders.

The fire was marked by a number of tragic incidents and many thrilling rescues. Three of those burned to death were children, the others being two women and a man. One unidentified woman was found clasping the body of her dead infant in the rear of the second floor where the flames had overtaken her. Another woman, reaching the street in safety, rushed back in an attempt to save her children. Her body with those of her children was found in the house. Still another mother saved her child by throwing it from a window into the firemen's arms. She jumped and was fatally injured.

Nearly all the victims were Italians.

Takes His Daughter Footpads Attacked Man With Him at Amesbury

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Deputy sheriffs in automobiles raced about Chicago yesterday in search of a seven-year-old girl and her father, who were taken into custody by a circuit court judge. The efforts were futile, however, and the father, who was thought to be on his way to the father's home in the east.

The search was for the purpose of gaining possession of Kathryn A. Good, daughter of Henry F. Good of Lock Haven, Pa. The mother of the girl, who was divorced from her husband, was killed in an automobile accident near Buffalo in September, and the child's grandmother, Mrs. John R. Hoyle of Chicago, was made guardian of the girl's estate, which is valued at about $400,000.

No sooner had the girl been given into her father's care yesterday than the grandmother got a writ enjoining Good from taking Kathryn out of Illinois. Deputy sheriffs were whisked in automobiles from one hotel and railroad station to another, but were compelled to admit defeat.

Mrs. Hoyle says she was legally appointed guardian of the girl by the probate court and that the father had no legal right to the child.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS

Bill to be Introduced in the Legislature Next Year

A bill providing for direct nomination in all representative and senatorial districts will be represented by the republican majority to next winter's legislature, according to a statement made yesterday by Speaker Walker of the house.

Direct nominations were much considered in the state in the last campaign. The democratic platform contained a plank declaring in favor of that principle, while in the 4th Essex and the Cape senatorial district, both of which elected the insurgent candidates for the senate, it was made the principal argument.

Senator-elect Arthur L. Nason of Haverhill, who as a representative led the direct nomination cause in the house for two years, and who carried the 4th Essex district, has announced his intention of fighting for another bill in the senate.

With the legislative organization against him his chances would probably be no better now than they have been in previous years, but, according to the interview given yesterday by Speaker Walker, the organization will take the initiative. He declared his belief that a general bill, providing for a referendum of some kind on the question, "will be presented early in the coming session."

According to the speaker's plan, the bill will declare outright for direct nominations in all of the representative and senatorial districts. Then the referendum will be attached, giving the voters of any particular district power to accept or reject the proposition at any time. In those places which believe the convention system of choosing state officials is better, the present law will stand.

In speaking of the matter yesterday, Speaker Walker said: "It is true that I believe the time has come when the question of direct nominations in representative and senatorial districts can best be met by submitting the matter to the people of these districts and letting them decide for themselves whether they will have conventions or the direct nomination system."

He told of the advance made in direct nominations in Massachusetts and called attention to the fact that 173 of the 240 members of the house and 43 of the 40 members of the senate are chosen that way.

"It seems to me, however," he continued, "that the legislature is scarcely in a position to understand precisely just what the sentiment of a given district is. The compactness of a district affords, after all, a poor standard on which to base legislative action in this important regard."

In conclusion he declared that the interests of all would be best served just what the sentiment of a given district is. The compactness of a district affords, after all, a poor standard on which to base legislative action in this important regard."

"This would seem," he concluded, "not only the more scientific manner of treating the matter, but, to my mind, would be the fairer and more equitable way."

There will be a number of bills submitted, however, which will go further than is proposed by Speaker Walker. Senator-elect Nason has already declared that he intended to file a general bill, applying to the state officers as well as to the legislative districts. The father of that measure in last winter's legislature was former Representative Edwin C. McIntire of Gloucester, a republican, and he also has declared that he will file a general bill again, this year.

It may be that the democratic state organization will do the same, and the latter body may even go to the extent of including direct nomination of candidates for United States senator. This has not been definitely decided upon as yet, but it has been considered at 15 Beacon street, and should the action be determined finally there are a number of democrats in the membership of next year's house who stand ready to act as godfather for the proposition.

WINTER STORM

Struck This Section This Morning

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—An early winter storm with a cold, sleety rain on the coast and some snow in the interior reached New England from southern climes early today and with a big mountain range of high pressure over the lakes and a trough of low pressure off the coast stiff north to north-east gales prevailed.

In some ways conditions resembled the famous storm of eleven years ago next Friday when more than 300 lives were lost off the Massachusetts coast including the 250 which went down on the steamer Portland.

The gale off the coast was about the usual northeast severity ranging from 20 miles in Boston and 60 and 70 miles an hour on exposed points like Block Island, Nantucket and Cape Cod. Shipping clung to safe harbors and vessels caught off shore scurried back for shelter. No serious accidents had been reported up to noon although a fleet of boats in Provincetown harbor had been well knocked about and one of them lost her topmast.

GREAT SNOWSTORM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A driving snow storm, the first of the season set in here today. The flakes melted rapidly.

SNOW IN VIRGINIA

WINCHESTER, Va., Nov. 24.—Snow has been falling in northern Virginia since early today. Much of the corn crop is still in the field.

FOR A RECOUNT

James E. O'Donnell's Friends Want One

Mr. James E. O'Donnell, candidate for nomination for mayor, will ask for a recount of the votes for the majority candidates in the interest of his friends. Some of his friends believe that some mistake has been made in the count.

McDonald Also

Mr. Joseph McDonald, who got eleventh place for alderman on the democratic ticket yesterday, has asked for a recount. He polled 34 votes less than Mr. Lyons, the man who got ninth place and ten less than John J. Delaney, who was tenth man. Mr. Delaney has not asked for a recount.

GET NO TURKEY GEN'L CLARKSON

Nantucket People Are Shut Out Said to be Slated for Retirement

NANTUCKET, Nov. 24.—Nantucket people will have a turkeyless Thanksgiving day tomorrow and all because of a sixty mile northeast gale which caused a temporary suspension of the steamers plying between the island and the mainland. The annual consignment of turkeys was due to arrive today but the storm interfered.

The gale caused extremely high tides and the wharves were inundated. The Nantucket mosquito fleet of fishing boats was badly damaged.

Six fishing smacks were caught by the storm on the fishing grounds east of the island, but all reached port safely today after a perilous experience.

POLITICAL NOTES

In his initial entry into politics William J. Gargan, "Smiling Bill," as he is affectionately called, made a great run in ward four for the common council leading the bunch of eleven candidates. Mr. Gargan is a capable young man and his friends are confident he will be heard from in the lower board. The defeat of John W. Shanley, a clean cut, progressive young man, was unexpected, but he will be in the field again.

A NEW TRIAL

COURT GRANTS ONE TO MRS. TEAL

ALBANY, Nov. 24.—The court of appeals yesterday reversed the judgment of conviction and ordered a new trial

Decides Against Dr. Chase in Fight for $300,000 Estate

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in the case of Leonard H. Phillips et al., vs. Dr. Horace Chase, affirmed a final decree revoking a probate decree of April 23, 1899, whereby Mrs. Jennie P. Chase, who a short time before became the wife of Dr. Chase, adopted his son, Dr. Forest Woodruff Chase, by his first marriage, as her son.

Mrs. Chase and the adopted son are now dead. She died first, and Dr. Chase was the only heir of his son. She had an estate of about $300,000, which now goes to her brothers and sisters. Had the adoption stood Dr. Chase would have inherited it through his son.

Dr. Chase objected to the entry of the final decree, which was based upon his undue influence in procuring his wife to have the court grant her leave to adopt his son.

The keynote of the decision is that a party shall not be allowed to profit by his own wrongdoing.

Dr. Chase claimed the evidence before the jury at the trial did not warrant finding undue influence on his part in procuring the adoption. He said the adoption decree could not or should not be set aside as there was no fraud committed by his son, the other party to the adoption proceeding and also because the status created by the adoption could not be changed after the death of both Mrs. Chase and his son, the parties to it.

The court holds that the evidence warranted a finding that Mrs. Chase's mind had been overpowered by her husband so as to have forced her against her will to bring a petition in court for the adoption of his son, and that this was a gross fraud upon his wife.

The court further declares that Dr. Chase having procured the adoption in order to secure his wife's property for his son, thinking that if his son got the property he would benefit thereby, the adoption should be set aside to prevent him from profiting now as the heir of his son by his wrongdoing in procuring the adoption.

In the case of Mrs. Margaret Teal, who was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for subornation of perjury growing out of the Frank Gould divorce case.

Mrs. Teal rented apartments to Beattie Devoe, an actress who was named in the case. The specific charge was that Mrs. Teal tried to induce Mabel MacCausland, an employee of a millinery establishment, to testify that she had called on Miss Devoe to solicit her trade and had seen Mr. Gould there.

INCENDIARY FIRE

Residents of Berwick, Me., Excited

BERWICK, Me., Nov. 24.—Residents were much excited today over the second fire of supposed incendiary origin within a month at Beaver Dam. On October 22 the Beaver Dam town hall was burned and traces of an incendiary were found. Last night while the occupants were absent the farm buildings of Frank Gupill were burned.

This fire started in the barn, burning the horses, cattle and poultry before they could be removed and Mr. Gupill is positive that the fire was set by some one. His loss is $5000, partly covered by insurance.

SUPREME COURT

Says Fish Warden Made Illegal Seizure

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday held in the case of William T. Dunn of Dartmouth vs. Fish and Game Warden Samuel J. Lowe of New Bedford that the laws authorizing game wardens or district policemen to "search in suspected places" for lobsters unlawfully taken or offered for sale, does not justify an officer in searching sacks carried by a person in the street, without a search warrant. The plaintiff is for sale, seized them. He later returned them to Dunn. He had no search warrant.

Dunn sued the defendant for damages for making a wrongful search for lobsters. He was carrying two sacks containing lobsters received from a common carrier, and had not opened them. It was not unlawful for him to have them.

Lowe met him, and suspecting the lobsters had been unlawfully offered for inspection.

NIGHT EDITION

MISS LEBLANC

Says That She Did Not Shoot

Mr. Glover

WALTHAM, Nov. 24.—Lottie LeBlanc, the young French-Canadian girl, charged with the murder of Clarence F. Glover, on Saturday night, awaited with great trepidation today the preliminary proceedings in the Waltham district court where she was to be formally charged with the crime. Although Glover in a statement made a short time before his death on Saturday evening said that the LeBlanc girl shot him, the police of this city do not accept this declaration without some reservation.

Inasmuch as a great deal of mystery surrounding Glover's death and the circumstances leading to it remain to be cleared up, it was expected that today's court proceedings would be perfunctory and that a continuance of the case would be asked and granted.

The finding of Miss LeBlanc last night in the home of the man she is charged with killing has added greatly to the sensational features of the murder. Although the Glover house has been searched twice before, the quest of the police last night resulted in the discovery of Miss LeBlanc hidden under Glover's bed. She said, and her appearance corroborated her tale, that she had been in the Glover house without food and unknown to anyone, ever since Saturday night.

The remarkable composure of Mrs. Glover and the reticence she has shown since her husband was killed has arrested the attention of the police. After the finding of the LeBlanc girl last night the authorities forbade Mrs. Glover leaving her house. She said she was not aware that Lottie LeBlanc was hidden in the house.

Throughout the examination last night, Miss LeBlanc maintained that she did not shoot Glover. She adhered to the story that she had met him at his laundry by appointment and that after he had assaulted her and produced a revolver she fled, hearing shots as she was escaping by a window. This story is somewhat strengthened by Dr. Cousins, the physician who attended Glover. Dr. Cousins says that the bullets could not have been fired by the girl unless Glover was seated at the time and one of the shots was fired from behind.

CAUCUS NOTES

John H. Pyne, who won the nomination for the school board in ward four, had a narrow lead of 10 votes over his nearest competitor, John J. Conlon, who also was defeated two years ago by a small vote. Mr. Conlon will call for a recount of the vote. It was a great fight, all being popular young men as the closeness of the vote shows.

Councilman Ed. Tarrant had a close call for renomination in ward four, having just a margin of 10 votes over his nearest competitor, ex-Councilman Thomas Foubey.

Councilman George Dow of ward eight was endorsed, leading the ticket by a good vote.

On account of the unfavorable weather, which made standing out-doors rather unpleasant, the Lyon street school precinct in ward four was a lively place after supper. Many arguments by friends of the candidates served to enliven the interest. Two well known citizens of that section had an exchange of pleasantries that was enjoyed by many.

So great was the interest in the mayoralty contest that Lowell men working in Boston came up during the day to vote.

Don't miss the Y. M. C. I. party at Associate, tonight.

The caucuses have come and gone, and John F. Meehan is the standard bearer of a united democratic party, for after one of the most interesting ante-caucus contests ever waged he received 1793 votes against 1526 for his nearest competitor, Major Robert J. Crowley, while the latter held second place by a margin of only four votes. Rep. Meehan's plurality, therefore, is 267, sufficiently large to preclude any change by a recount.

It has been said that a prophet is without honor in his own country, but not so with Meehan, for the flattering vote given him in ward two, that stronghold of democracy where the candidate was born and reared, was mainly responsible for his nomination. In ward two Rep. Meehan received 559 votes and his nearest rival in the ward was James F. O'Donnell whose vote was 250, Rep. Meehan's plurality in this ward alone being an even 300 votes. A remarkable feature of the democratic contest was the fact that the winner carried the least number of wards. Major Crowley carried wards four, five, eight and nine; Mr. O'Donnell carried wards one, three and seven, while Rep. Meehan carried only wards two and six. In ward five Major Crowley led him by only one vote.

In striking contrast to the vote of the democrats was that cast by the republicans. The democrats cast 5908 votes, out of which only 113 blanks were recorded. On the other side the republicans polled a vote of only 4679, and of these the unusually large number of 1245 were blanks, which shows that many republicans remained away from the polls, and of those who were attracted there by the aldermanic ticket over 1200 cast blanks on the head of the ticket. Furthermore, Purchasing Agent MacKenzie who, like the head of the ticket, was running without opposition, received 3942 against 3434 received by the head of the ticket. There were 748 blanks on purchasing agent against 1245 on the head of the ticket.

The democratic contest for purchasing agent was won by Mr. Edward Foye who received an excellent vote, and his plurality was 607. In the aldermanic field both parties gave the preference to men who have had previous experience at city hall. The democrats nominated seven men out of nine who have served in either or both branches of the city council, while the republicans nominated six members of the present city council, a member of the present park board and two who have not had experience at city hall. There were several lively contests for common council and school board which are reported elsewhere, while there were also a few contests over ward committees.

There were many who believed that on account of the great number of candidates on the ballot the returns would not be complete until late this morning. But thanks to the speed and accuracy of the precinct officers, the last precinct came in one minute past two and by four o'clock the figures at city hall had the results complete.

An enthusiastic and expectant crowd remained at city hall until the last precinct came in, and as the indications pointed strongly to Rep. Meehan's nomination they cheered that candidate lustily. The latter appeared at city hall about midnight and was greeted as the winner. He declined to address the gathering until the returns were all in, and then he delivered a brief speech of thanks, expressing his appreciation of the grand vote given him. He then went home where he was kept out of bed receiving congratulations until almost sunrise.

The result of the vote by wards for all offices will be found on page three.

COAL LAND CLAIMS

Inquiry by the Government Was Resumed Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—When the government inquiry into the validity of the filings on the 33 Alaska coal land claims known as the Cunningham group, was resumed today it was with the intention of concluding the Seattle end of the investigation before adjournment before Thanksgiving, after which the investigation will be taken up in Spokane. The principal point brought out in the hearing yesterday was the fact that the forestry agents who were sent to Alaska to go over the claims made only a cursory investigation, owing to the demand of the general land office that they hurry through with the work. S. N. Snowden, a map-maker in the employ of the government, who prepared the map showing the location of the improvements of the claims, admitted that he spent only six days in the field in which time he was expected to go over more than five thousand acres of mountainous country. Under cross-examination he said there might have been some points she had missed.

NORTHEAST STORM

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 24.—A north-east storm of unusual severity burst on the coast of Rhode Island last night and today shipping of all kinds was held closely in harbors to prevent disasters. The Sound boats from New York came through last night but arrived several hours late. Rain fell continuously throughout the night and late this morning began to change into sleet with a prospect of snow. Block Island is cut off from the mainland, the wind blowing 45 miles an hour and as a consequence there will be no turkey for the Thanksgiving diners. At Point Judith and along the coast extra life guards were patrolling on the lookout for trouble.

DIED SUDDENLY

Old Greenback Leader Passed Away

TURNER, Mr., Nov. 24.—Solon Chase, one time leader of the Greenback party, an editor, lecturer and stump speaker widely known for nearly half a century, died suddenly yesterday of heart failure at the age of 87. Mr. Chase had been suffering from a cold for a week at his home, Chase's mills, but his general condition appeared to be good, and no particular anxiety was felt. Two minutes before his death he called for a daily paper. Three decades ago Mr. Chase became famous as an advocate of Greenbackism, and he kept up his belief throughout his career. As a Greenback candidate for congress from the second Maine district, he stamped the whole eastern section of the United States, driving a pair of stoves hitched to a harness, from the rear of which he delivered his speeches. The slogan, "Solon Chase and them stoves" became familiar to everybody from Maine to the middle west. After the passing of the greenback agitation Mr. Chase withdrew from the public eye, but as the editor and publisher of Chase Chronicle, a weekly organ, he continued for many years to utter his opinions forcibly, and he was often heard on the lecture platform also throughout New England.

which, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung, the present Ottoman ruler purposes to recover through a legal action.

It is learned here that the Imperial bank is willing to surrender the money if the order bears the signature of the former sultan authenticated by the special seal adopted by him when the deposit was made. At that time Abdul Hamid entered into a strict compact with the officers of the bank, under which no withdrawal from this account was to be permitted except upon the authority of the special seal.

CHILDREN SAVED

Firemen Carried Them Through Smoke to the Street

DENTER, Me., Nov. 24.—Two children were rescued from a fire which called out the entire department yesterday morning soon after 6 o'clock. The alarm from box 27, corner of Main and Free streets sent the firemen into Wall street to cope with a bad blaze in the dry goods store of Abie Elias, the store being in a frame wooden block of two stories, the property of F. H. Hayes of this town.

The flames had gained considerable headway before discovered. The sticking of a hydrant caused a little delay so that when water was sent into the building it was a seething mass of flames which sent forth dense black smoke in huge clouds which filled the narrow street and choked the firemen and caused the spectators to scatter.

Over the store lived Mrs. James Gordon and two children, Eva, aged 16 years, and a younger brother, Mrs. Gordon, who is a mill operative, had gone to her work a few moments before, leaving both children asleep in their beds. Breaking into the apartment through locked doors the firemen caught the children from their beds and carried them through dense black smoke to a hotel. Neither was aware of the fire until awakened by the firemen and taken from the room. Both were unharmed, though the rescue was a fortunate piece of work.

The fire was confined to the Elias store, which was gutted. No goods were removed and nearly everything in the store was consumed by the flames. Mr. Elias places the value of his stock at $5000. The fire is supposed to have originated from an overheated stove.

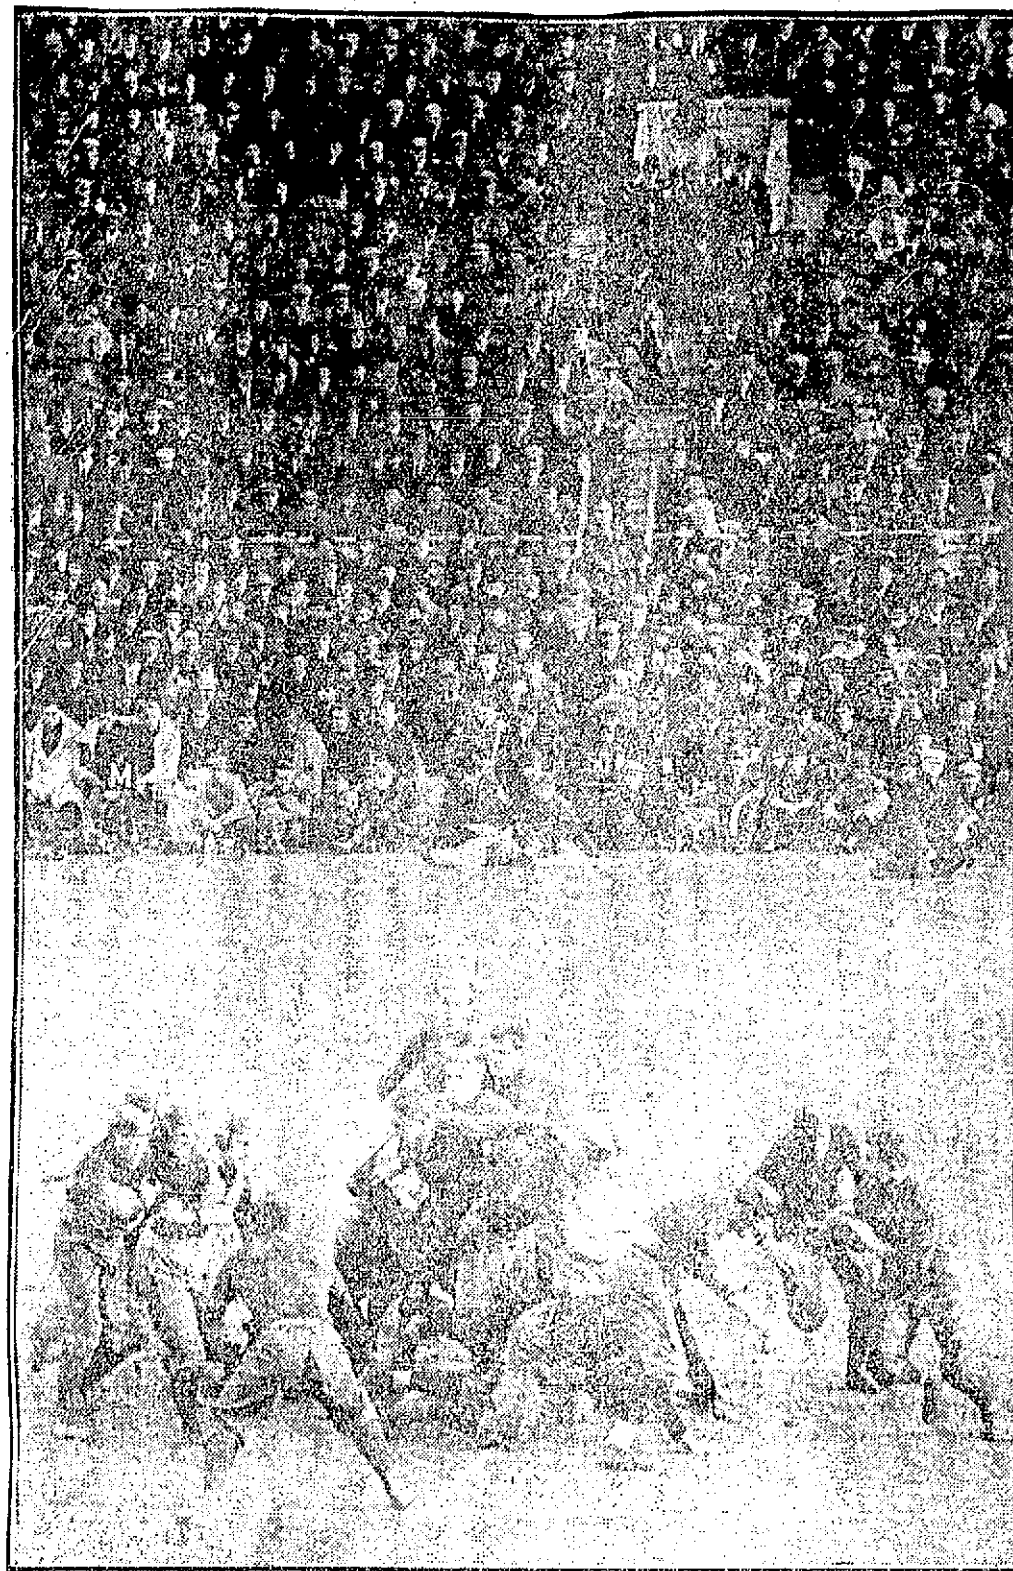

MARRIET E. CLARK

Of Chelmsford Wants Separate Support

Mrs. Harriet E. Clark of Chelmsford has filed a petition for separate support against her husband, Joseph E. Clark of Somerville, in the probate office at East Cambridge. She alleges desertion and cruelty.

She also alleges that her husband married her for her money, that she obtained a large amount after her marriage and when it disappeared he ceased to care for her. The petition is returnable Dec. 9 at East Cambridge.

CORBETT, HARVARD BACK, MAKING RUN AROUND LEFT END IN GAME WITH YALE

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 24.—Now that the curtain has practically dropped on the football season of 1909 gridiron experts are discussing what may be said to be the most notable season that the popular American college game has experienced in many years. The season may be called a notable one because of two reasons—first, that the Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge, which has always marked the closing of the season with the "big eastern four," was the true championship struggle, and Yale, by its victory over the Cambridge team, is the undisputed champion of 1909. Therefore Pennsylvania has laid a claim to the championship honor, but because of the trouncing administered to it at the hands of "Hurry Up" Yale's Michigan eleven it lost all claim to the honor this fall. Second, the season may be called one of the most disastrous that the popular game has ever experienced. More players have suffered from injuries and more deaths have resulted from them this fall than have ever marked the play of any one season before. That some means should be employed to eliminate the roughness from the game is felt by all. The illustration shows Corbett, Harvard's left halfback, going around Yale's left end in first half of recent game. Picture also gives splendid idea of immensity of crowd that witnessed the game between the two eleven's in the stadium at Cambridge.

TAYLOR IS FREE

He Was Released From Cranston Jail

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 24.—After sojourning in Cranston for twenty-one months in default of $250,000 bail Thomas D. Taylor of Boston, formerly president of the defunct New England Trust company of Providence was released yesterday by direction of the receiver of the company, J. P. Beagan. Taylor signed a two years' note for $25,000 shortly after noon and walked out of the jail a free man.

Taylor was the originator of several financial institutions in this state and Massachusetts. One of them, the New England Trust company of Providence, went to the wall a few months after the financial panic of 1907. In his report to the court Receiver Beagan stated that he found that the securities of one company had been used as the assets of another and so on through the chain of banks. Receiver Beagan sought to recover from Taylor through the courts, placing the amount due at $250,000 and Taylor's arrest followed in February, 1908. Under the Rhode Island law the defendant must furnish bail equal to the damages claimed in the suit. Taylor was unable to raise the necessary $250,000 bail in default of which he was sent to jail.

ASK NEW TRIAL

Mantir and Delorey File Petition

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 24.—Jas. Mantir and Peter Delorey who were convicted last week of murder in the second degree and manslaughter, respectively, in causing the death of Annie Mallins at Arlington in March, 1908, filed motions for a new trial through their counsel with the clerk of the Middlesex superior court yesterday. The motions recite that the verdict was against the evidence. Several legal exceptions also are taken.

THE MAYOR ELECT

Said to Have Violated Statute

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—The Marion county grand jury yesterday began an investigation of charges that Samuel Lewis Shank, republican mayor-elect, had violated a state statute which makes it a criminal offense for a candidate to obtain the assistance of an elector by promise of appointment to office.

E. W. Eppert, a member of the council, and J. O. Barrett, who is alleged to have received from Shank promises of the presidency of the board of public works and a membership of the board of public safety, respectively, were called before the grand jury today. They were not appointed.

Shank's appointments generally since his election have not agreed with the "slate" arranged by him with his political adherents before the election, according to the public statements of prominent politicians and a political feud of a bitterness unexampled in the history of this city has arisen.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place at the parochial residence of the immaculate Conception church yesterday when Mr. Gratian C. Sheridan, an employee of the Manchester & Concord Express company, and a popular young man, was united in marriage to Miss Mary A. Gallagher, a well known young lady of the immaculate Conception parish.

The ceremony took place at 4:30 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Fr. Nolin, O. M. L., pastor of the church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Sarah Gallagher while Mr. Chas. Johnson acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple went to the depot where they boarded a train for Woodstock, N. H., the home of the bride, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan were the recipients of many beautiful and appropriate presents.

Halifax Solicitor Seeks Information in Lowell

Postmaster Thompson today received the following self explanatory letter:

To the Postmaster, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir—Enclosed please find a letter which I wish to reach the widow of William Spriggs, formerly of Toll River, Halifax, Co., N. S. I have heard she has since married and that there were three children by her first husband, but no one here knows her present name. I think I have heard she married an Andrews. Her maiden name was Aggie Sedley. She is wanted in reference to some property left by an uncle of her first husband. All the information I can get here is that she is in Lowell, Mass. If you would kindly try to get the enclosed delivered to her you would greatly oblige one who is trying to trace the heirs so that they will get what is coming to them.

Yours very truly,

A. J. Crosby,

Custom House, Halifax, N. S.

Postmaster Thompson is seeking the proper party to whom to give the letter.

SILVER WEDDING

Of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley of 730 Lawrence street observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their home Monday, a large party of friends calling upon them to tender their congratulations and assist in the celebration of the event. Refreshments were served during the evening and a musical and literary program was given under the direction of Mr. Sam Holgate, assisted by Mr. John W. Foster. Songs were given by Mrs. Unsworth, Mrs. Paul, Miss E. Paul, Miss K. Jennings, Miss R. Richards, Miss Whiteley, Misses Evelyn and Emma Pearson, Mr. W. Shackleton, Mr. G. Battie and Mr. A. Cawthra; readings by John W. Foster, grammatical selections by Messrs. E. Calvert and A. Tempest. Mr. J. H. Moss was the accompanist of the occasion, assisted by Mrs. Moss. Mr. A. E. Schoon, on behalf of those present, extended best wishes for long life and prosperity. The success of the pleasant affair was due to a committee consisting of Miss E. Whiteley, Miss A. Bayman, Mrs. C. Wood, Miss Emma Pearson, Mr. A. Atkinson and Mr. F. Calvert. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteley were married in Yorkshire, England, Nov. 23, 1884, and came to Lowell 23 years ago.

OBSERVED 50TH BIRTHDAY ON SUNDAY

Sig. Vincent Marato of No. 1 Winter street observed his 50th birthday on Sunday evening with a dinner to a party of friends at his home. There was turkey, spaghetti, macaroni, vermicelli, chianti, lacrymarchist and other things dear to the Italian palate and to the palates in general. Sig. Angelo Palato was master of ceremonies and toastmaster, and the speech of the evening was delivered by Sig. H. Frederico Finerty, also from the old world, who addressed the party on the broad and helpful laws of the land as observed while serving on a jury. Sig. Finerty's remarks were most attentively listened to and it was the opinion of his hearers that he would make a most acceptable candidate for chief magistrate of one of our municipalities. Toasts were drunk to the president, the king of Italy and to Sig. Finerty. Dinodana's and Grossi's combined orchestra provided music.

TWO LIVES LOST

Men Drowned in Merrimack River

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 24.—Two men were drowned and two rescued from a capsized dory in the Merrimack river yesterday. The dead are David McKenzie, 39 years old, of Boston, and Mr. McKenzie took three workmen out in a dory to pick up an anchor rope and a wind sguill overturned the little craft. McKenzie and the Italian disappeared almost immediately while the other workmen were taken from the water in an exhausted condition.

Smokeless

Until science discovered a way to construct the Automatic Smokeless Device, and make it completely dependable, all oil heaters had one common great fault—smoke.

With the advent of the Automatic Smokeless Device, and its practical application to the

the smoke problem was successfully solved.

which insures a steady, full-glowing heat, with the wick turned up as high as it will go, without a shred of smoke. Reverse the motion, turn the wick down—there's no odor.

The smokeless device automatically locks and prevents the upward movement of the wick beyond the proper exposure. That is the secret. This splendid result gives leadership to the Perfection.

You may now have all the heat you want—when you want it—and where you want it—without the annoyance of smoke or odor.

Brass foot holds 4 quarts of oil, which permits a glowing heat for 9 hours.

Brass wick tube—damper top—cool handle. Cleaned in a minute.

The Perfection is beautifully finished in Nickel or Japan.

HORSE SALE

SOME NOTED ONES BROUGHT HIGH PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The "Old Glory" sale of light harness horses was continued at Madison Square Garden yesterday with the disposal of James Butler's East View farm trotters and pacers as the feature. Flying Feet, a five-year-old trotter, with a trial time of 2:10 was sold to J. J. Ryan of Chester, Pa., for $1,575, while Ash-Oil, who is said to be the best bred son of Asworth's Alama Vista by Direct, went to J. E. Whitsella, Corsicana, Tex., for only $175. Direct Finish, a son of Direct Rosa Ludwig, brought $150 from W. S. Aldrich of Westbury, N. Y.

The high price of the day was $2000 paid by James Hazzleton of Indianapolis, for the 17-year-old stallion trotter Gratorio, sold by George Amason, of Richmond, Ind. The Peer, a 11-year-old trotter, consigned by the McElwain farm at West Springfield, Mass., was sold to Arnold Lawson of Boston for $1800. The 113 horses sold yesterday brought $42,135.

TO PROTECT MILLS

LUDLOW, Nov. 24.—One hundred men hired by the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates in Boston and other cities as watchmen to aid in protecting their mills from possible violence by strikers, arrived here in a special car yesterday. The car was run directly into the mill yard and the men were able to go to the quarters provided for them without going outside the mill stockade.

THE FIRST SNOW

CAME PELTING DOWN LAST NIGHT WITH HIGH WIND

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—A pelting, blinding fall of snow came swirling out of the northwest from Boston late last night, marking the first snow storm of the winter. A decided drop in temperature was experienced during the early part of the day, the afternoon was murky and foreboding and in the early evening a cold, drizzling rain began to fall. Soon after 9 o'clock the rain turned to ice and sleet and then to snow, making the streets and walks slippery, and interfering somewhat with the traffic on street car lines and by automobiles.

CANDIDATE MEEHAN

Is Congratulated by the Other Candidates for the Nomination

Rep. John F. Meehan, the democratic candidate for mayor, was kept busy early this morning receiving the greetings and congratulations of his numerous friends. Mr. Meehan was particularly pleased with the expressions of good will that came from the other candidates for the democratic nomination. To a representative of The Sun, he said:

"I am thankful, indeed, to the democratic party of Lowell for this nomination. I am also grateful to those who contested for the nomination with me, for the many campaign that was conducted. I believe that the sole object of each one of us who sought the nomination was to defeat Mayor Brown. The democrats have chosen me to make their fight. I promise the people of Lowell that if elected, and I certainly expect to be, I will give them an administration that will be a credit to all of us. I will be the mayor of the whole people, I will respect their wishes, and what they desire that will be of benefit to the city, will be my aim to accomplish. I am thankful to the great number of democrats who favored my candidacy and I assure them and all the people of Lowell that my sole aim will be to serve the best interests of the city and its people in case I am elected."

Congratulations from Crowley

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 24. Mr. John F. Meehan. Dear Sir—Allow me to congratulate you on your splendid victory achieved by honorable methods. It was a contest of which we all feel proud, and you may well assume that in the coming campaign you will have the support of a united party. Anything that I or my friends can do for you will be done most cheerfully. I wish you the same measure of success on election day that was yours yesterday. Sincerely yours, Robert J. Crowley.

O'Donnell to Meehan

Lowell, Nov. 24, 1909. John F. Meehan, Lowell, Mass. Friend John: Please accept my congratulations. Yours was a splendid victory and I sincerely hope that it will be repeated at the polls. There is abundant satisfaction in the thought that the campaign was clean and above board. No personalities were indulged in and that in itself should prosper the winning candidate. I will do all in my power to assist in electing you. Yours very truly, James B. O'Donnell.

William E. Maloney

Mr. William E. Maloney when seen by a Sun representative this morning, said: "I most heartily congratulate Mr. Meehan upon winning such a well fought battle. I believe that he will be successful at the polls, and he will have my heartiest support. He is the choice of the democratic party and by his vote, showed that he has the confidence of the party. I urge all my friends to support him on Dec. 14, and I give him assurance that whatever aid I can give to his candidacy, will be given with a good will and a hope that he will be successful at the polls on election day, as I sincerely believe he will be."

From John W. Daly. Mr. John F. Meehan. Friend John—Accept my heartiest congratulations. The democrats of Lowell have elected you their standard bearer, and it will be my earnest endeavor to assist you in piloting the party to victory. I will do anything I can to assist you. Command me at any time. Sincerely yours, John W. Daly.

SEVERE STORM

Has Shown No Signs of Abating

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—The unprecedented storm that has prevailed in the Pacific northwest for two days shows no signs of abating. In eastern Oregon and western Washington the rain is of secondary importance to a wind-storm which has caused considerable financial loss. So far as reported no lives have been lost. Along lower Puget sound the streams are flooding the low lands and destroying bridges and railroad tracks. The Great Northern railroad, which crosses the Cascade east of Everett is tied up, several trains being stalled in the mountains.

In the Grays harbor country the greatest loss has been to logs, one raft alone valued at $20,000 being swept out to sea. Along the bank of the Columbia river landslides have put the railroads out of business temporarily. The false work to the new Southern Pacific railroad bridge at Oswego has gone out and at Portland the water is over the lower docks and still rising.

THE FIVE DIVISIONS OF THE A. O. H. WILL HOLD THEIR ANNUAL THANKSGIVING PARTY TONIGHT AT HIBERNIAN HALL.

Y. M. C. I. party, Associate, tonight.

MORE BODIES FOUND

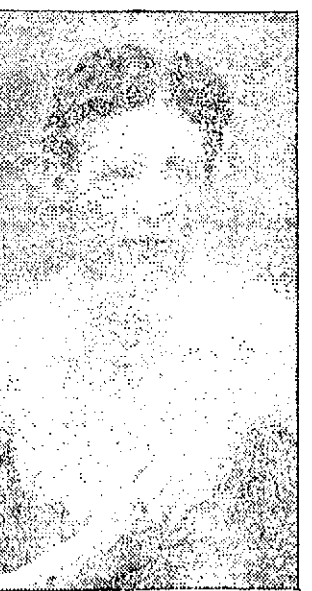

Were Recovered From the Mine at Cherry, Ill.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 24. Practically all means of escape having been blocked by debris, falling and covering the top of the shaft, the bodies of the three men who were found in the mine at Cherry, Ill., were recovered from the mine. FREDDIE MAGUIRE

Put MacDougall Away in Two Rounds

The fact that it was vicious night kept many Lowell members of the Armory club from last night's meeting, but those who did attend saw one of the best shows of the season and saw Freddie Maguire do a stunt on Angus MacDougall, the tough little South Boston bantam, that was worth going miles to see. It was Freddie's first appearance at the Armory club and he was stacked up against a youngster who had it on him on weight and who has the reputation of being a hard bitter and who was looked upon by the Boston fans as a sure winner over the Lowell boy. It took but one round for Freddie to convince the crowd that he had the goods and in the second round he brought home the bacon with a right upper cut to the jaw that sent MacDougall to slumberland. MacDougall was knocked out and received his first knockout from Maguire last evening. Maguire's cleverness surprised the Boston sports, while his upper cut at short range demonstrated the fact that he has the wallop.

FREDDIE MAGUIRE

In the final bout Jim Barry not only defeated Ralph Calloway, the California colored heavyweight, in a decisive manner in ten rounds, but he gave the Californian a facing that he will never forget.

That the bout went as long as it did was due to the poor judgment of the seconds of the Californian. For after the ninth round they should not have allowed Calloway to continue, as he was nearly exhausted. He seemed to revive some during the middle of rest, and was ready to fight in the tenth session. He lasted half a minute, and then fell, completely exhausted and unable to continue.

Dr. Cunningham stepped into the ring and looked Calloway over and said that nothing serious was the matter with him. Calloway was taken to a dressing room, and after a while he was able to dress and walk to his hotel.

An amusing thing happened while Calloway was lying in the room. Joe Walcott, thinking that Calloway needed something to revive him, poured a large quantity of ammonia into his nose. In an instant Calloway was sitting up and asked Walcott what he was trying to do to him.

Barry weighed at least 27 pounds more than Calloway, and besides, he had the advantage of a right and left jab, Barry showed but a form that he previously has, and he was careful. Only in the fifth round did Calloway have a look-in, and at the end of the fourth round Barry was pretty much as ready to go as Calloway.

They engaged in several rapid exchanges, in which Calloway was right and left on the body, back and jaw, and both were tired when the bell rang. In all the other rounds Barry would continually send the left to the face and body, and he landed with the right on the forehead and nose several times in about six rounds. Barry also did some hard counter-punching with both hands of the face and body. In about every fourth round Barry used some short left and right hand jabs that landed on Calloway's face and jaw. Calloway got in some good punches on Barry's body and face, and he was tired when he left and right to the side of Barry's head and body. When the ninth session began Calloway was weary, and Barry was quick to see it. He forced Calloway around the ring and landed repeatedly on the face and body with both hands. Calloway tried to avoid the punches by dodging or stepping about the ring, but near the close of the round Barry had him against the ropes, and was working fast with both hands when the bell rang. Calloway turned to go to his corner, when Barry let go a right that caught Calloway on the jaw, that put him to the mat. He would have been counted out but for the bell. He was carried to his corner and it was then that the

Was Tricked Twice by Women

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 24.—After waiting on the streets for several hours yesterday for Miss Mabel Gagnon of 337 Amherst street, who had promised to marry him, James E. Jameson, a wealthy farmer of Bow, complained to the police.

Jameson advertised for a housekeeper a few weeks ago, and Miss Gagnon responded. He proposed that they get married, and she consented. After their arrival here Jameson purchased clothing for her, and finally they visited the city clerk's office and secured the license.

Miss Gagnon, according to Jameson's story, then led him to Concord common and asked to be excused for a few minutes while she went home and said good-by to her sister. She didn't return.

Last winter Jameson secured a housekeeper by advertising. He said that he spent considerable money on her, and she, too, had agreed to marry him. The day before the wedding this woman disappeared, taking a part of his household furniture.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Tomorrow afternoon at Washington park the Y. M. C. I. team and the Hustlers will battle for the championship of the city. Great rivalry exists between these two teams, and after wrangling for several weeks the managers of the two teams have come to a settlement and arranged to settle their claims to the championship. The Hustlers are a speedy lot of players, not having been defeated this year, while the Y. M. C. I. a much braver team, have been defeated twice, once by the Tigers of Lawrence, 11 to 6, and again by the St. Alphonsus A. A. of Boston, 5 to 0. The Y. M. C. I. have agreed to use nobody but local players and will probably line up as follows: Left end, Paverette; R. McNulty; C. Knapton; C. Kirane; R. Cooney; R. Kenna; R. St. Peter; R. Rourke; R. Kullback; O'Connor; R. H. Jewett; McOsler; Q. Campbell-King. The Hustlers will have the same lineup that has gone through the season. The rosters of both teams will be out in force as many bets have been made on the result. Admission will be 25 cents. Game called at 3 sharp.

AIDED REVOLUTIONISTS

PORTO CORTEZ, Spanish Honduras, Nov. 24, via New Orleans, Nov. 24.—Telegraph advices from Managua say it is believed in Nicaragua that the government authorities in Port Union, Costa Rica, and former President Rafael Aguirre and his following have aided the Nicaraguan revolutionists. This information came from a high official of Nicaragua, who said that this aid had been stopped through the petitions of the charge d'affaires of Nicaragua.

TO PAY OFF INDEBTEDNESS

WABVER, Okla., Nov. 24.—In order to raise enough money to pay off the indebtedness on the Christian church here the congregation has taken up farming and yesterday sold a crop of broom corn grown on a forty acre field near the church. All the work was done by the congregation headed by the pastor, Rev. H. R. Coffey. Women and children helped gather the harvest which made over five tons of broom straw and sold for $380.

TRIBESMEN SURRENDERED

MELILLA, Nov. 24.—The Rifian tribesmen at Nador appeared before Gen. Marlin, governor of Melilla, today and formally surrendered.

Don't miss the Y. M. C. I. party at Associate, tonight.

GETS VERDICT

DECISION IN FAVOR OF AN ACCUSED

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Florence May De Haven, known on the stage as Flora Parker, yesterday obtained a verdict against her husband, Carter De Haven, also an actor, in Justice Plazek's part of the supreme court. The proceeding was in the form of an inquest and was not defended. Mrs. De Haven will have to apply to a special term of court for the confirmation of the jury's verdict before a decree of divorce will be granted to her. Three detectives, who were in Mrs. De Haven's employ, told of a raid on Carter De Haven's apartment in the Hotel Bayard, when they, in company with Mrs. De Haven, found De Haven with a pretty young woman.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

ALL UP FOR MEEHAN.

In one of the most harmonious anti-caucus contests ever conducted in this city, Rep. John F. Meehan has been nominated for mayor by the democrats of Lowell with a plurality that gives him a clear lead over his two closest opponents. From the beginning the fact was recognized that the contest was a three-cornered one with Meehan, Crowley and O'Donnell as the leaders, and it was not until all the returns were counted that the result was definitely known.

Rep. Meehan is a young man of clean record and marked ability. Unassuming and modest in manner, he is possessed of much natural ability, a logical reasoner; that he is well versed in matters of state and municipal legislation and, therefore, well equipped to give the city of Lowell a business-like and progressive administration of her affairs.

From the beginning of the contest Major Crowley stood prominently and firmly for perfect harmony in the party with the purpose that whoever might be chosen would receive the united support of all the other candidates. That was his policy in the beginning and he held to it until the last gun was fired.

A similar policy in favor of party harmony and good feeling among the candidates was adopted and put into effect by Mr. James E. O'Donnell, who came in a few votes behind Major Crowley. Both these gentlemen stand pledged to support the nominee of the party, and we have not the slightest doubt that they will do so in the most cordial and enthusiastic manner. The same is true of Messrs. Daly and Maloney.

It had been stated that anyone of the five men who were in the contest could beat the republican candidate at the polls, and that is probably true. Now that Mr. Meehan has been nominated it is the party's duty to give him its most loyal support and to see that every honorable means be adopted to secure his election as mayor. Equipped as he is by education, training and natural ability, he will make a chief magistrate who will redeem the city from the humiliating condition in which it has been placed during the past year. The fact that he carried off the nomination in the face of such opposition proves his ability as a campaigner. He will stoop to no undignified or ungentlemanly methods. He will brook no corruption; his record is clean and above reproach whether we consider his public or his private career. He will make an ideal candidate and a good mayor. It is up to the democratic party and the citizens of Lowell to elect him, as we have no doubt they will with a sweeping majority.

The rest of the ticket is perhaps the strongest that could be chosen from the list of candidates and will compare favorably with the republican ticket.

MUNICIPAL REFORM IN THE AIR.

All over this country the paramount question seems to be municipal reform. The principal cities are having their affairs probed by committees on finance or else by bureaus of municipal research. In either case the results are proving very satisfactory in exposing the defects in system and looseness in the methods of doing business, if not open and flagrant corruption.

In some of the cities the conditions revealed are really alarming. The reports prove beyond doubt the urgent need of a better system of conducting municipal business.

The general tendency of the reforms favored is in the direction of smaller governing bodies for cities and these to be constituted of men of eminent ability and unquestionable integrity.

The city of Lowell for some time past has suffered from the handicap of an antiquated charter. It will be some time before the various sections of our citizens can unite upon a form of charter suitable for adoption. It seems, however, that a close study of the charters being adopted by other cities will convince anybody that we would be better off with a smaller city council made up of men of eminent ability even though we had to pay them a reasonable salary for their services.

The question of charter reform is one of the most important to be considered in the immediate future. It is the question of deciding upon the best form of organic law for the government of our city in the future.

The city of Lowell has passed beyond the status of an overgrown town. It is now a city of 100,000 inhabitants with a prospect of reaching 200,000 within the next half century. The charter to be adopted must plan for future growth and for metropolitan methods.

Hereafter we shall have to do things on a large scale and to drop provincial ideas. But in all cases we shall have to apply business methods and progressive ideas in the management of municipal affairs. One of the worst things a city can do is to put incompetent men or dishonest or insincere men at the head of the government. Under present methods of conducting our government we have reached a state of affairs under which the ablest men find it very difficult to enter public office.

It requires men of experience to safeguard the city's finances, to prevent extravagance or injudicious outlay. The new charter of the future must centre responsibility in one executive head; it must define the duties of every department, provide a uniform system of accounting, and it must also provide for a periodical investigation of the city's financial condition in order that the citizens may know in what direction the municipal bark is steering, whether to the haven of success or upon the rocks of financial ruin.

At the present time the interest account of our city is much larger than it should be and long years of economy will be needed to get it reduced to what might be considered normal.

In the transition from the old to new methods the guidance of able and experienced men will be requisite, and that is the secret of the tendency to have smaller bodies. Men of wide and varied ability are scarce. If we want a score or more of such men we shall be disappointed; but if we want but a small number we may be accommodated. This is one of the great problems which our citizens will have to solve at an early day, and upon the disinterested wisdom of their solution depends in a great measure the future of this great city.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mark Twain, 70, suffering from a tobacco heart, says plaintively that he never smoked more than one cigar at a time.

It appears that the recent purchase by Congressman Weeks of Newton of the Jacob Boston homestead in Lancaster, N. H., in not to make it his summer home, but to utilize it as an old ladies' home. There is nothing of the sort in that section of New Hampshire.

Three New York physicians to receive decorations from Emperor William are Dr. Otto Killian, Dr. Rudolph Denig and Dr. Louis Feiler of the staff of the German hospital. The first named received membership in the order of the Royal Prussian crown, and two last named the medal and ribbon of the order of the Red Eagle. The services of the German hospital to German immigrants and subjects doubtless account for the Kaiser's appreciative action.

The Federation of Women's clubs of New York City has passed by an almost unanimous vote a motion to urge legislation that will prevent the wrecking of homes through the physical unfitness of parents. The motion was introduced by Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood, and she proposed that applicants for marriage licenses be required to show certificates from reputable physicians stating that they are free from insanity, dipsomania, tuberculosis and other hereditary diseases.

What is said to be the largest amount of insurance ever placed at one time on a single life has just been taken out by George W. Nichols of Kansas City, president of several cement manufacturing companies. The aggregate is $1,500,000 distributed among about twenty-five companies and is additional to $1,300,000 already held by him. Some of his companies are made the beneficiaries of the new policies, as he is a widower with two sons grown up, and is worth $4,000,000. He ought to believe in life insurance, for twenty-five physicians representing as many different companies have examined and accepted him.

The Gorman Housewives society has just awarded prizes to thirty-five model servants. Women who have been two or more years in the same place. The twenty-five who had been two years in the same place received gold pins as a symbol of their industry. Eight who had four year records received rings and the two who had six years in the same place received credit for each a ten dollar gold piece along with their rings. The society awards prizes every two years and among those rewarded last year several had ten and twelve year records.

President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota will go to Florida and California following his retirement from office. The president plans to make Minneapolis his home for the rest of his life, but his vacation, after leaving the president's chair, will be an extended one in the south and west. President Northrop will not engage actively in the work of the American Missionary association, of which he has been elected president, but will attend the meetings of the association in Boston during the second week of next October.

Dr. Thomas Ellis Stillman, 23 years professor of analytical chemistry at the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, has retired to accept the Carnegie pension. He was great in his specialty and was bent on a wholly chemical regimen; according to his ideas all the cooking of mankind was wrong. He had come to have only scientific foods and drinks, compounded by chemical process. To illustrate this he gave at the Hotel Astor, a few years ago, a "synthetical" dinner on these lines, but made few converts.

Miss M. Cary Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college and chairman of the committee that has gathered statistics concerning college women in the United States, reported at a recent convention of the association of the college alumnae that when men and women were educated together there were no more marriages than when they were not. College women had an average of 2.6 children each, while non-college women had an average of 3.5 children, although college women married later in life. College women choose better husbands, the report said.

The anti-suffragists have announced Mrs. George Cornwallis West (Lady Randolph Churchill) among the speakers whom they have engaged to teach American women the virtues of keeping out of politics. The suffragists reply by pointing out that in her recently published reminiscences Mrs. Cornwallis West declares herself a keen and ardent politician. As the mistress of the Primrose league she tells how she used to travel about England making public speeches against home rule for Ireland. The suffragists declare that the women in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, who vote for all of their offices from president down, have never allowed themselves as conspicuous nor allowed their political activities to keep them away from home nearly as much as Mrs. Cornwallis West.

RUB ON PARISIAN SAGE

DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS

Dandruff Germs Will Quickly Die, and Itching Scalp Will Say Good-Bye

Your money back if Parisian Sage isn't the best hair tonic—the best hair grower—the best hair saver—you ever used, you be the judge.

It's really a wonder what a phenomenon Parisian Sage has made for itself in America in a few years. And what a multitude of people have been cured of falling hair, dandruff and itching scalp by its use.

And how the American women praise Parisian Sage for its peculiar ability to turn harsh, faded, matted hair into fresh, beautiful, silky and lustrous hair in a few days.

Parisian Sage is today the favorite hair dressing and tonic of discriminating Americans, not because of sensational methods of advertising, but because it is the only hair restorer that will do just what it is advertised to do.

Helpful Hints on Hair Health

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody's else hat. Many a husband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. The remedy is called "Rexall '93' Hair Tonic." We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

"Rexall '93' Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silken, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall '93' Hair Tonic is the best hair restorer and restorer in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Lowell only at our store, The Rexall Store—Hall & Lyon Co., 67-69 Merrimack street.

HESSON—The funeral of Elizabeth Hesson, daughter of John and Elizabeth Hesson, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, Dracut, Mass. Rev. Mr. Bartlett of Dracut was the officiating clergyman. Burial was in the cemetery at Dracut, under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

There was a large attendance of voters at the special meeting of the citizens of Dracut held last night. Both questions were acted favorably upon.

Town Clerk John W. Brennan called to order at eight o'clock and the first article, calling for the election of a moderator, resulted in the election of Arthur W. Colburn.

The meeting then took up article 2 which provided for a loan of $1000 for one year for the extermination of the brown rat and gypsy moth. There was considerable discussion relative to the matter, but a vote by check list showed that the article was carried, 64 voting in the affirmative and 11 in the negative.

Article 3 called for a loan of not more than $4000 for five years to be used under chapter 273 of the acts of 1908, and instructing the selectmen to petition the highway commissioners for an allotment under the provisions of the article.

Warren W. Fox offered a motion amending the reduction of the amount to $2000 for a term of three years at a rate of not more than 4 per cent.

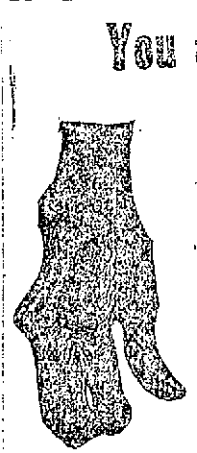

The article was passed by a vote of 23 to 4.

Article 4, which was to determine where the money raised under the previous article should be expended, was then taken up by the meeting.

Mr. Dussott moved that the money borrowed under article 2, be expended on Lakeview grounds between the Lowell line and the Putnam car tracks in Collinsville.

The motion prevailed without debate and there was not a dissenting vote.

If You Have Rheumatism Let Me Send You a 50 Cent Box of My Remedy Free.

A 50 Cent Box of my Rheumatism Remedy Free.

My remedy has actually cured men and women seventy and eighty years of age—some were so decrepit that they could not even dress themselves. To introduce this great remedy I intend to give fifty thousand 50 cent boxes away, and every suffering reader of this paper is courteously invited to write for one. No money is asked for this 50 cent box neither now nor later, and if afterwards more is wanted I will furnish it to sufferers at a low cost. I found this remedy by a fortunate chance while an invalid from rheumatism, and since it cured me it has been a blessing to thousands of other persons. Don't be sceptical, remember the first 50 cent box is absolutely free. This is an internal remedy which goes after the cause of the trouble, and when the cause of rheumatism is removed, have no fear of deformities. Rheumatism in time will affect the heart, so do not trifle with this merciless affliction. Address, enclosing this adv., JOHN A. SMITH, 5420 Smith Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

BURNED TO DEATH

Six Persons Perished in a Fire in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—In a Brooklyn fire believed to be of incendiary origin, six persons were burned to death today. Four persons received probably fatal and a dozen others serious injuries.

The blaze was in a four story tenement building in Haven's place. Fanned by a strong wind, the fire originating in the basement swept quickly upward. Escape by the stairways being cut off, most of the sixty tenants in the building rushed for the fire escapes. Several in their panic jumped from windows and were injured, one woman fatally. Nearly two score were carried out on ladders.

The fire was marked by a number of tragic incidents and many thrilling rescues. Three of those burned to death were children, the others being two women and a man. One unidentified woman was found clasping the body of her dead infant in the rear of the second floor where the flames had overtaken her. Another woman, reaching the street in safety, rushed back in an attempt to save her children. Her body with those of her children was found in the house. Still another mother saved her child by throwing it from a window into the fireman's arms. She jumped and was fatally injured.

Nearly all the victims were Italians.

Takes His Daughter Footpads Attacked Man With Him at Amesbury

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Deputy sheriffs in automobiles raced about Chicago yesterday in search of a seven year old girl heiress and her father, into whose custody the child was given yesterday by a circuit court judge. The efforts were futile, however, and the fleeing father and daughter are thought to be on their way to the father's home in the east.

The search was for the purpose of gaining possession of Kathryn A. Good, daughter of Henry F. Good of Lock Haven, Pa. The mother of the girl, who was divorced from her husband, was killed in an automobile accident near Buffalo in September, and the child's grandmother, Mrs. John R. Hoxie of Chicago, was made guardian of the girl's estate, which is valued at about $400,000.

No sooner had the girl been given into her father's care yesterday than the grandmother got a writ enjoining Good from taking Kathryn out of Illinois. Deputy sheriffs were whisked in automobiles from one hotel and railroad station to another, but were compelled to admit defeat.

Mrs. Hoxie says she was legally appointed guardian of the girl by the probate court and that the father had no legal right to the child.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS

Bill to be Introduced in the Legislature Next Year

A bill providing for direct nomination in all representative and senatorial districts will be introduced by the republican majority to next winter's legislature, according to a statement made yesterday by Speaker Walker of the house.

Direct nominations were much considered in the state in the last campaign. The democratic platform contained a plank declaring in favor of that principle, while in the 4th Essex and the Cape senatorial district, both of which elected the insurgent candidates for the senate, it was made the principal argument.

Senator-elect Arthur L. Nason of Haverhill, who as a representative led the direct nomination cause in the house for two years, and who carried the 4th Essex district, has announced his intention of fighting for another bill in the senate.

With the legislative organization against him his chances would probably be no better now than they have been in previous years, but, according to the interview given yesterday by Speaker Walker, the organization will take the initiative. He declared his belief that a general bill, providing for a referendum of some kind on the question, "will be presented early in the coming session."

According to the speaker's plan, the bill will declare outright for direct nominations in all of the representative and senatorial districts. Then the referendum will be attached, giving the voters of any particular district power to accept or reject the proposition at any time. In those places which believe the convention system of choosing state officials is better, the present law will stand.

In speaking of the matter yesterday, Speaker Walker said:

"It is true that I believe the time has come when the question of direct nominations in representative and senatorial districts can best be met by submitting the matter to the people of those districts and letting them decide for themselves whether they will have conventions or the direct nomination system."

He told of the advance made in direct nominations in Massachusetts and called attention to the fact that 173 of the 240 members of the house and 13 of the 40 members of the senate are chosen that way.

"It seems to me, however," he continued, "that the legislature is scarcely in a position to understand precisely just what the sentiment of a given district is. The compactness of a district affords, after all, a poor standard on which to base legislative action in this important regard."

In conclusion he declared that the interests of all would be best subserved if legislation were enacted putting local questions of convention or direct nominations, "which affect neither the state convention nor party organization," squarely up to the people themselves.

"This would," he concluded, "not only the more scientific manner of treating the matter, but, to my mind, would be the fairer and more equitable way."

There will be a number of bills submitted, however, which will go further than is proposed by Speaker Walker. Senator-elect Nason has already declared that he intended to file a general bill, applying to the state offices as well as to the legislative districts. The father of that measure in last winter's legislature was former Representative Edwin C. McIntire of Gloucester, a republican, and he also has declared that he will file a general bill again this year.

It may be that the democratic state organization will do the same, and the latter body may even go to the extent of including direct nomination of candidates for United States senator. This has not been definitely decided upon as yet, but it has been considered at 15 Beacon street, and should the action be determined timely, there are a number of democrats in the membership of next year's house who stand ready to act as godfather for the proposition.

WINTER STORM

Struck This Section This Morning

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—An early winter storm with a cold, sleety rain on the coast and some snow in the interior reached New England from southern climes early today and with a big mountain range of high pressure over the lakes and a trough of low pressure off the coast still north to northeast gales prevailed.

In some ways conditions resembled the famous storm of eleven years ago next Friday when more than 300 lives were lost off the Massachusetts coast including the 250 which went down on the steamer Portland.

The gale off the coast was about the usual northeast severity ranging from 50 miles in Boston and 60 and 70 miles an hour on exposed points like Block Island, Nantucket and Cape Cod. Shipping clung to safe harbors and vessels sought off shore scurried back for shelter. No serious accidents had been reported up to noon although a fleet of boats in Provincetown harbor had been well knocked about and one of them lost her topmast.

GREAT SNOWSTORM
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A driving snow storm, the first of the season so far in here today. The flakes melted rapidly.

FOR A RECOUNT

James E. O'Donnell's Friends Want One

Mr. James E. O'Donnell, candidate for nomination for mayor, will ask for a recount of the votes for the majority candidates in the interest of his friends. Some of his friends believe that some mistake has been made in the count.

McDonald Also
Mr. Joseph McDonald, who got eleven votes for alderman on the democratic ticket yesterday, has asked for a recount. He polled 36 votes less than Mr. Lyons, the man who got nine votes and ten less than John J. Delaney, who was truth man. Mr. Delaney has not asked for a recount.

GET NO TURKEY GEN'L CLARKSON

Nantucket People Are Shut Out

NANTUCKET, Nov. 24.—Nantucket people will have a turkeyless Thanksgiving day tomorrow and all because of a sixty mile northeast gale which caused a temporary suspension of the steamers plying between the island and the mainland. The annual consignment of turkeys was due to arrive today but the storm interfered.

The gale caused extremely high tides and the wharves were inundated. The Nantucket mosquito fleet of fishing boats was badly damaged.

Six fishing snags were caught by the storm on the fishing grounds east of the island, but all reached port safely today after a perilous experience.

POLITICAL NOTES

In his initial entry into politics William J. Gargan, "Smiling Bill," as he is affectionately called, made a great run in ward four for the common council leading the bunch of eleven candidates. Mr. Gargan is a capable young man and his friends are confident he will be heard from in the lower ward. The defeat of John W. Sharkey, a clean cut, progressive young man, was unexpected, but he will be in the field again.

Decides Against Dr. Chase in Fight for $300,000 Estate

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The announcement in Washington that James S. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York, would not be reappointed when his term expired on Jan. 1 caused general surprise in republican circles all over the country. It was also unofficially announced that Richard Parr, the man who unmasked the sugar frauds in New York, would succeed Clarkson. Parr said he knew no reason why Clarkson should not be reappointed, declaring that the surveyor had given him earnest support in the sugar trust investigation. Mr. Clarkson has held the office since 1902 and for thirty years was one of the most active men in republican politics in the middle west. He is a native of Indiana, but lived in Iowa for many years.

A NEW TRIAL

COURT GRANTS ONE TO MRS. TEAL

ALBANY, Nov. 24.—The court of appeals yesterday reversed the judgment of conviction and ordered a new trial

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in the case of Leonard H. Phillips et al., vs. Dr. Horace Chase, affirmed a final decree revoking a probate decree of April 23, 1889, whereby Mrs. Jennie P. Chase, who a short time before became the wife of Dr. Chase, adopted his son, Dr. Forest Woodruff Chase, by his first marriage, as her son.

Mrs. Chase and the adopted son are now dead. She died first, and Dr. Chase was the only heir of his son. She had an estate of about $300,000, which now goes to her brothers and sisters. Had the adoption stood Dr. Chase would have inherited it through his son.

Dr. Chase objected to the entry of the final decree, which was based upon his undue influence in procuring his wife to have the court grant her leave to adopt his son.

The keynote of the decision is that a party shall not be allowed to profit by his own wrongdoing.

In the case of Mrs. Margaret Teal, who was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for subornation of perjury growing out of the Frank Gould divorce case.

Mrs. Teal rented apartments to Benson Devoe, an actress who was named in the case. The specific charge was that Mrs. Teal tried to induce Mabel MacCausland, an employee of a millinery establishment, to testify that she had called on Mrs. Devoe to solicit her trade and had seen Mr. Gould there.

THANKSGIVING PARTY BY THE FIVE DIVISIONS OF THE A. O. H. AT HIBERNIAN HALL, TONIGHT.

INCENDIARY FIRE

Residents of Berwick, Me., Excited

BERWICK, Me., Nov. 24.—Residents were much excited today over the second fire of supposed incendiary origin within a month at Beaver Dam. On October 22 the Beaver Dam town hall was burned and traces of an incendiary were found. Last night while the occupants were absent the farm buildings of Frank Guphill were burned.

Dr. Chase claimed the evidence before the jury at the trial did not warrant finding undue influence on his part in procuring the adoption. He said the adoption decree could not be set aside as there was no fraud committed by his son, the other party to the adoption proceeding and also because the status created by the adoption could not be changed after the death of both Mrs. Chase and his son, the parties to it.

The court holds that the evidence warranted a finding that Mrs. Chase's mind had been overpowered by her husband so as to have forced her against her will to bring a petition in court for the adoption of his son, and that this was a gross fraud upon his wife and that the decree of adoption should be set aside.

The court further declares that Dr. Chase having procured the adoption in order to secure his wife's property for his son, thinking that if the son got the property he would benefit thereby, the adoption should be set aside to prevent him from profiting now as the heir of his son by his wrongdoing in procuring the adoption.

This fire started in the barn, burning the horses, cattle and poultry before they could be removed and Mr. Guphill is positive that the fire was set by some one. His loss is $5000, partly covered by insurance.

SUPREME COURT

Says Fish Warden Made Illegal Seizure

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday held in the case of William T. Dunn of Dartmouth vs. Fish and Game Warden Samuel J. Lowe of New Bedford that the laws authorizing game wardens or district policemen to "search in suspecting places" for lobsters unlawfully taken or offered for sale, does not justify an officer in searching such carried by a person in the street, without a search warrant. The plaintiff is held entitled to recover. Dunn sued the defendant for damages for making a wrongful search for lobsters. He was carrying two sacks containing lobsters received from a common carrier, and had not opened them. It was not unlawful for him to have them. Lowe met him, and suspecting the lobsters had been unlawfully offered for sale, seized them. He later returned them to Dunn. He had no search warrant. The court says in conclusion: "The statute does not contemplate or authorize such a violation of personal rights." The law has since been changed, so that the officers may make a person display fish or game in his possession for inspection.

THE opening of the New theater has proved the overshadowing feature thus far of the first half of New York's dramatic season. The opening ceremony was a promising one, indeed, attended by a list of notables in public life, as well as in the artistic world, and the production of "Antony and Cleopatra," which followed two days later, attracted an as-the comfort of the patrons of the New theater. Six coat rooms have been built off the circular main corridor, rendering it unnecessary for a man to wait more than a minute before receiving his hat. Barring an enormous crush, there will be no standing in line with a draft blowing upon one's back.

The tea room on the foyer floor is patterned after the English tea rooms and is done in a Wedgwood effect. It is filled with small tables and comfortable chairs and adjoins a modern kitchen equipped with a large range, an

of the past and the other with the brilliancy of a splendid future.

Forbes-Robertson's Success.

Mr. Forbes-Robertson's New York season at Maxine Elliott's theater, which was scheduled to terminate recently, at the end of a month's run, has been so successful in Jerome K. Jerome's symbolic play that the run of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" has been indefinitely prolonged.

At every performance since the start, without exception, Forbes-Robertson has played to the capacity of the house.

Numberless letters of appreciation have been received from all kinds and conditions of people, from ministers and clergy down to the man in the street.

It is extremely unlikely that the desire generally expressed for Mr. Forbes-Robertson's revival of "Hamlet" can be consummated this visit, owing to the absence of his scenery, properties and costumes and his triumph in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

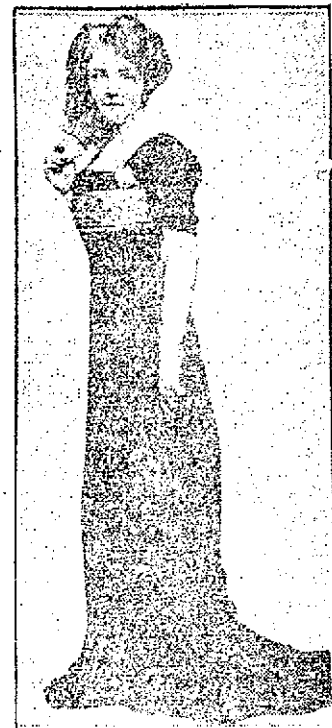

"The Play Not the Part."

William Collier is not one of those stars who are always insisting upon having the center of the stage. He knows better. A playwright recently asked for an interview with him in order to take his measure for a new piece. "Of course," said the author, "I shall build the play about you. You will be on practically the whole time."

"Now, stop!" said Mr. Collier. "You build your play about an idea. I'll play any part in a good play and be grateful for it. But there isn't any part in a bad play that's good enough for William Collier." The playwright went away amazed and hasn't yet written the play.

Camille Saint-Saens and Albert Spalding.

Camille Saint-Saens, the eminent musician and composer, is greatly interested in the career of Mr. Spalding, and when he appeared with him in concert in several of the musical centers of Europe complimented the young virtuoso upon the fineness of his interpretations.

Perhaps the most expressive thing that has ever been written about Albert Spalding was from the gifted pen of a famous Italian critic, who, in speaking of a recital in which Saint-Saens and Spalding appeared together in Florence, said: "In the concerto in D by Saint-Saens the young violinist stood worthily by the great master, and as the huge audience heaped ovation after ovation upon them one could not help but think of the dawn and sunset standing there with joined hands, the one with the great glories

By TOMMY CLARK.

THE unfortunate and untimely death of several football players in different sections of the country has focused attention on American football as it is played today and given to it probably the worst black eye it has had in years, for, coupled with the death of Cadet Byrne at West Point, is the case of Midshipman Earl Wilson, the navy quarterback, who was probably mortally injured in a flying tackle in the Annapolis-Villanova game. It has been said that the greatest injuries come from bruising mass plays, but it is pointed out in a very significant way by those opposed to even the so-called new game that Villanova has a lighter team than the navy; therefore it can hardly enter into the present discussion.

The general opinion of the majority of ex-college players is that the trouble lies not in the differences of weight, not in the differences in methods of training, not in inferior football knowledge, but in the rules themselves.

The football rules committee says that it has opened the game. Maybe it thinks it has. But just look carefully at the penalties that surround an incomplete forward pass. On the first and second downs an incomplete forward pass entails the loss of fifteen yards. Well, a team's hardly going to take a chance on that play. Then, when it has, it is backed up somewhere near its own goal line or even in its own territory anywhere when it's playing against an opponent of nearly equal strength. It would be too hazardous.

Again, on the third down, if a team tries to pull off the forward pass and it falls to the ground the ball goes to the opponents on the spot where the ball was put in play for that third down. Who's going to try a forward pass under such conditions? Naturally enough, since it is hampered by such a rule, a team in its own territory has simply got to stick to line bucking on the first two downs and punting on the third.

There seems to be only one remedy to this difficulty.

Let the committee remove these penalties or else modify them.

There's one rule that ought to be amended right away. Dragging a man after he has been tackled or tumbled over ought to be prohibited. That's where most of the injuries occur. If ten men are pulling one, somebody's got to give, and it's going to be in mass defense. It's the players, then, on the defense who are hurt. It's true we've got to keep scoring plays, but we can have them without the dragging play. There is more danger in the forward pass than there ever was in mass plays, and, while that statement may appear a little rash, I am going to show you the reason why.

In a mass play all the tackle has to do is to stiffen his neck, bend his head and plunge into the line. When a man is going like that his neck cannot be twisted. He may be bruised a little by the fall or when the other players pile on him, but his neck and spine are not in danger. On the other hand, when a tackle goes after a man who is trying to catch a forward pass he is looking upward and his neck is in a position that is very dangerous. If suddenly knocked from his feet and struck in the face or under the chin his neck is liable to be twisted. Poor Eugene Byrne probably got his first injury when he tackled Hamilton Fish, who was trying to catch a forward pass.

Byrne, who was looking upward and over his shoulder, was suddenly bent backward, and his head struck the ground, twisting to one side. He got up and went back into the next play. Many of the players believe that he was fatally hurt the first time and that he collapsed the second time after going in through sheer will power.

Danger in Striking Head.

Some of the rulemakers and others would have us believe that all the former dangers in football came from the old mass plays. They set about to change the rules. The first thing done was to eliminate the guard back, tackle back and all that class of plays that were formed by playing more than three men back of the line. They then instituted the forward pass, which was intended to keep the ball in the open and, by scattering the men over the field, prevent injuries from these grinding scrimmages that formerly made the game such a jumble to the spectators.

These rules were all well intended. They made the game much better for the spectator, and the sport naturally grew into greater popularity. But it did not eliminate a particle of danger. If mass plays were as dangerous as some persons assert they can be played under the present rules with just as much danger as they could under the former laws. They would have a play over tackle that brings nearly every man on the team through the top.

There is no way that danger can be eliminated from football by changing the rules. They might change the game so that it would be altogether different in principle, but then it wouldn't be football.

When the rules of football were changed it was with the idea that the sport should be made more open and that an eleven need not necessarily be reached to believe that all hope of its success depended upon retaining the ball continually in its own possession.

It was a heroic struggle for some of the old timers to admit that this might even be possible, and there are some to this day who rebel against it. The theory of mass play in football as it had worked out, not so much to the physical injury of players as to the utter lack of attractiveness to the sport and the steady tendency to make apart from it an exclusive pastime for the giants as opposed to the men of average physical size, was built on the foundation of retention of the ball at all hazards.

There is nothing in mass play in football which is attractive. Its value is usually nil nowadays except when it is employed to gain a short distance.

There is little of mass play as it took place five years ago. A big team which confronts a smaller team and thus it is easy to break through the defense of the smaller team is apt to fall back on line plays because it is the easiest way of winning the game. There are fewer teams, however, which under the new rules have been able to sweep across a field for long distances, gaining two or three yards or a little more at each down, than there were in the past.

There have been instances where a team has made, say, twenty-five yards through driving at the tackles or between them and the ends. Such an instance took place last year in the game between Yale and Princeton last year, but that is a rare exception.

The injury to Byrne, the West Point cadet, is accredited to mass play. The use of that term would appear to have been adopted more because it sounds objectionable than because these who have employed it are thoroughly conversant with the real character of mass play.

When one man under the new game essays to carry the ball he is not surrounded by three or four others, who form a wedge or a chisel shaped group, which seeks to crowd the opponents to earth.

He usually runs alone. One of his companions may seek to block a certain player and another companion seek to block another player. A third may essay to get in such a position that he can ward off runners who try to seize the man with the ball. A fourth may try to act in a position where he can prevent the back from checking the advance of the ball. That isn't mass play. It is a running formation, and its purpose is to scatter the defense and not let it be welded into a compact body because another compact body is trying to break through the line. That was what resulted under mass play in other days.

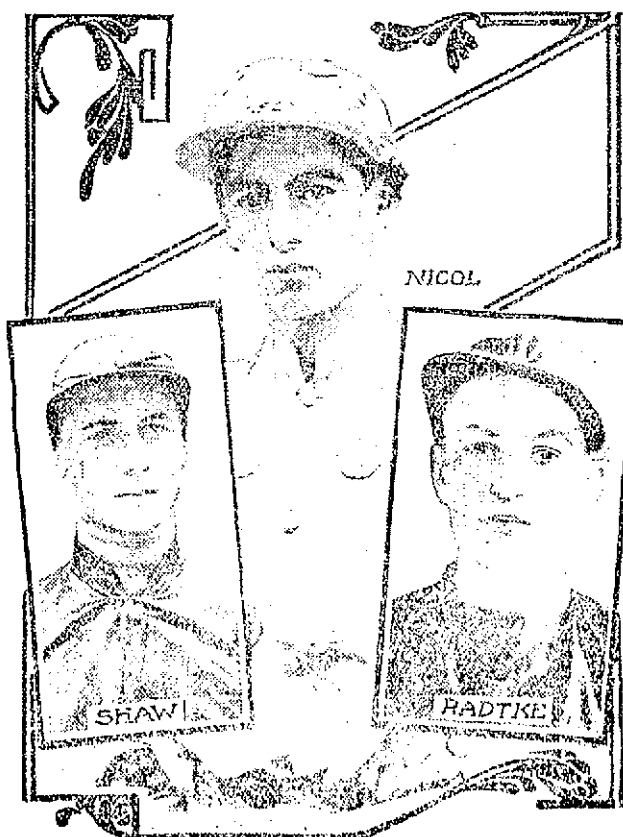

To attempt to stop a running formation on the football field by diving headforemost at the player who has the ball and whose interference is ranged on both sides of him seems to be taking a risk which is not warranted and which is not theoretically good football.

The diving tackle, while it almost seems at times to the anxious football player to be the only manner in which he may accomplish his wish to stop the advance of the ball, is foolhardy and unsound. The tackler loses command of himself as he hurks his body at his adversary and if he misses him is wholly out of the play. If, on the other hand, he attempts to body-check the player he is likely to make his tackle successful at the same time.

When the cause of four or five of the injuries of recent occurrence on the football field is thoroughly analyzed it is possible that it will be ascertained that mass play is not so much the reason for them as a faulty method of tackling.

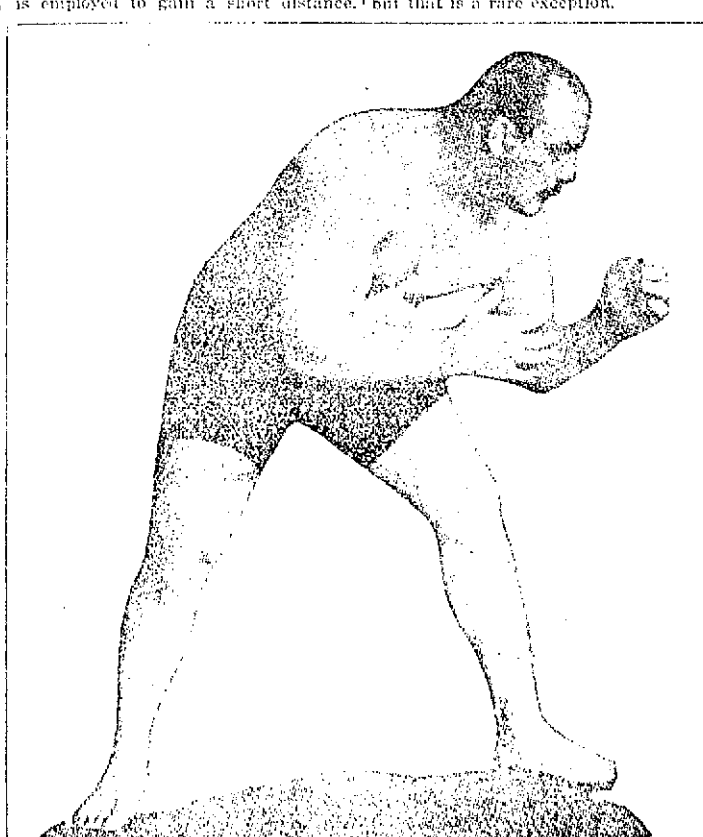

So far as young players are concerned, the diving tackle should be absolutely prohibited, and if there is no other manner in which to prohibit it a penalty should be charged against a team one of whose players offends. It is not at all difficult to tell when a player makes a diving tackle.

If older players dive at a man now and then in a last resort to stop his advance with the ball it is not good football, and there is no reason why they should not be punished for a play that has little to commend it.

GIRL ARRESTED

She is Suspected of Having Shot a Man

WALTHAM, Mass., Nov. 24.—Found under the bed of Clarence F. Glover, the man with whose mysterious death she has been connected, after hiding for three days without food and submitting to three and one-half hours' questioning, Miss Mattie Le Blanc, of Arichat, C. B., collapsed in the police station early yesterday morning. In a statement given out today, the police say the 17-year-old girl admitted having been with Glover on Saturday night, claimed that he assaulted her in his laundry, that he drew a revolver and threatened her life, following which she ran from the building. She said that as she was leaving by a window in the rear she heard a shot. Then she made her way to the Glover home, went to Mr. Glover's room and hid herself under the bed. No other person had any knowledge of her presence in the house, she said.

Miss Le Blanc had been sought for since the statement by Glover, before his death, in which he charged her with shooting him. An undertaker believed she was in the Glover home and told the police of her suspicions. The girl was found under the bed.

From the Glover home yesterday

was held the funeral of the dead man. Mrs. Glover, his wife went to the cemetery with the body and had returned but a short time when the search was made.

FOUND A FISH

Woman Discovered it in the Milk

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 24.—Mrs. M. E. O'Brien of 4 Wellington avenue was making the sponge for her week's baking yesterday morning and turning in milk found a two-inch minnow splashing about. She rescued the fish and put it in a bowl of water.

By use of the telephone Mrs. O'Brien gathered in a full jury of neighbors to sit in judgment on the audacity of her milk man. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty of undue dilution of the milk and the recommendation that no mercy be shown. After an all day's exhibition the milk fish died. A warm reception was promised the milkman on his morning rounds.

INAUGURATION

Of Gov. Forbes of the Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 24.—In the marble hall of the Ayuntamiento, once used for conference by the Spanish authorities and now the Chamber of Popular Assembly, at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning, W. Cameron Forbes of Massachusetts, took the oath of office as governor-general of the Philippines and delivered his inaugural address. He is the fifth and youngest governor-general since the United States instituted civil government here.

Improvement in the material condition of the islands and the people was the key-note of Gov. Forbes' address. He dedicated his administration to the advancement of the people and country and declared that the country's greatest need was capital. He counseled Americans and Filipinos to unite jointly to strive for the advancement of the islands, quoting figures to show that the per capita production in the Philippines was far behind that of Porto Rico and Hawaii.

The governor outlined an extensive program of public improvements, including roads, irrigation, rivers and harbors. He read the original McKinley instructions and declared they had been fully carried out, the United States only retaining a necessary strong central control.

Following the address, Gov. Forbes held a reception.

Gov. Forbes, in his inaugural address, spoke at some length with reference to the stability of the Philippine government and protection which it would give to investments.

Capital demands a stable government," he declared. "Capital is not particularly interested in the color or design of the flag; it wants just and equitable laws, sound and uniform policy on the part of the government, just and fair treatment in the courts. The faith of the United States is pledged that all of these benefits shall be permanently assured to the Filipino. No capitalist need feel alarmed as to security of his investment, provided it has been made in such a way as to fulfill the conditions imposed by law. The United States stands pledged to the establishment and maintenance of a stable government in the Philippine Islands, not the sake of capital which may be invested here, but for the sake of the welfare of the Philippine people and the faith of the United States before the world. The security of foreign capital is merely an incident in the general security of property rights to the Filipino, but both are now permanently assured.

"There is not on the horizon discernible any cloud which indicates the possibility, of any kind of disturbance in the present status of these islands either from within or without by war or insurrection.

"The United States is strong, determined, fixed in her policy, and not to be dissuaded or coerced. The development of the Philippines will proceed along the lines originally set forth, strictly adhered to by each successive administration and by the gradual process in line of declared policy, not by spasms or jerks."

BOUT STOPPED

By Order of the Supt. of Police

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—In less than one minute of fighting in the first round last night, Sam Langford, the Boston boxer, beat Mike Shreck up so badly that at the order of Supt. of Police Thomas A. McQuaide, Referee Henniger stopped the bout and gave the decision to Langford.

Shreck had just tottered to his feet after his second knockdown, and Langford was just posing for the knockout when the bout was stopped. The 2500 persons who had paid $5, $3 and $2 to see this mill became so enraged that it was with great difficulty that Shreck was permitted to reach his dressing room without being hit with a chair, several being raised over him.

Shreck came into the ring very fat, weighing at least 200 pounds, while the Boston boxer was trained to the minute. Langford lost no time in preliminaries. He reached for Shreck's stomach and landed, then whipped his right to the chin, dropping the fat man like a log.

Shreck came to his feet with some labor and managed to clinch a few times, while Langford did some murderous fighting. Before the minute was ended Langford once more reached the stomach lightly with his left and crossed his right hand to the jaw. This ended it. Shreck got up at the count of nine, but could hardly stand and to save a knockout the battle was stopped.

Langford tried all day and last evening to come up with Jack Johnson, who is in Pittsburg, but failed. He challenged Johnson from the ring.

A feature of the evening's milling was the resurrection of the veteran Johnny Stroup, who 17 years ago drew with George Dixon in 20 rounds. Stroup fought Young Green, half his years, six fast rounds and had the better of Green.

STEAMER MISSING

NO TIDINGS FROM THE MARIA HERRERA

HAVANA, Nov. 24.—No tidings have reached here of the missing steamer Maria Herrera of the Herrera line, which left Havana October 30 for Santiago de Cuba, where her passengers were landed. The Maria Herrera then proceeded for Porto Rican ports with a cargo of cattle. She has not since been reported and grave fears are entertained for her safety. She is now overdue on the return voyage to Havana eight days.

Military Coats

There are just 100 of these coats—the result of a fortunate purchase made by our buyer, who happened to be in New York when these plums were offered. He jumped at the opportunity to give the young men of Lowell such magnificent coats at this price. These coats are not to be confused with the usual $20 Overcoats. They're far and away beyond anything ever offered in the Military cut style at $20.00. Every one of the patterns is attractive, the materials are of the very best and each coat bears the marks of the highest order of hand tailoring.

It's such a pleasure for us to offer exceptional values, that we ask you to compare these coats with what others offer at the price. Take the coat home, examine it closely, if you are not satisfied with your purchase, or feel that you can duplicate the coat at less than $25.00, bring it back and we'll cheerfully refund your money.

We're enthusiastic about our showing of Military Coats and we want to have you see them.

ENDED HIS LIFE A $3500 VERDICT

Fitchburg Man a Suicide
by Shooting

FITCHBURG, Nov. 24.—Fred E. Whipple, a painter living at 29 Temple street, committed suicide at his home late yesterday afternoon. A 22-caliber revolver with two chambers empty, found by his side, told the story of the deed.

Whipple had been despondent for several weeks, yet he was with friends Monday night and was about his home yesterday. He ate his dinner at noon yesterday with his 11 year old son, Joseph Whipple, and appeared in good spirits. Late yesterday afternoon when the son returned from school he found his father sitting on a sofa in the parlor. There were blood stains on his shirt, which attracted the attention of the boy, and without waiting to make an examination he ran to the tenement of Charles Moore where he told what had happened.

Mr. Moore accompanied the boy to his home and upon making an examination found Whipple dead. There were two bullet wounds under the heart, which undoubtedly caused instant death. Medical Examiner Thompson was notified and after viewing the body turned it over to the undertaker Medical Examiner Thompson stated that Whipple had been found dead some time before the body was found. Whipple was one of the well known residents of the city. Some years ago he attempted to take his life by shooting himself, but was prevented from carrying out intentions by friends who took the weapon away from him. Whipple is survived by one son and one brother.

Jeremiah Toney, a boy five years of age, was taken from 29 Swift street yesterday afternoon with a fractured hip. It is said, through a fall from a wagon. The accident occurred about 4:30 o'clock.

BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Flamin Cassagnol, the French billiard champion, and Harry Cline of Philadelphia won the two games played yesterday in the 182 ball line tournament for the championship of the world. Cassagnol defeated Albert Cutler of Boston, 500 to 412, and Cline defeated George F. Sloan, the local veteran, 500 to 322.

In the Cassagnol-Cutler game the Boston player in his ninth inning made the highest run of the tournament thus far, 153 points, then falling to get either object ball out of ball space.

The Frenchman was both deliberate and delicate in his cue work, getting on even terms with his opponent with a run of 97 in the 14th inning.

The game then dragged and at the 230th inning the men were tied again with 362 each. Cassagnol drew away gradually with one run of 58, and won the game in the 47th inning.

FLOODS ARE GENERAL

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—Nearly every river and creek in Oregon was out of its banks last night owing to heavy rains, and in eastern Washington floods are general though the rainfall was not so heavy. The greatest damage has been done along the Willamette river.

Man Injured in a Street Car Accident

BROCKTON, Nov. 24.—Patrick Hunt, aged 64 years, who alleges that he was crippled for life in a street railway accident on North Main street, this city, in 1908, through the carelessness of a motorman, was given a verdict of $3500 by the jury in the superior court just before adjournment yesterday afternoon. It is the largest award made in a damage suit during the present term.

Mr. Hunt sued for $15,000. He claimed, supported by witnesses, that he and his party signaled the motor man, that the car stopped, and then, learning that it was not the one he wanted, he started across the street, and was struck by the car.

The claim of the Old Colony Street Railway company, through witnesses, was a denial of his story.

SAMUEL GOMPERS

Refers to the Contempt Sentence

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Insurance should be subject to the regulation of congress rather than to the caprice of state legislatures, according to Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Co. He expressed this view last night incidentally to a discussion of wage earners insurance as he addressed a representative gathering of 900 persons at the tenth annual dinner of the National City Federation.

He said congress should declare interstate insurance "to be what it manifestly is—not only an instrumentality of commerce, but interstate commerce."

Samuel Gompers in an address last night on his European trip referred briefly to the contempt sentence now hanging over him.

He said:

"In the clash of interests in our comparatively new country there must be some standard bearers who will go ahead and find out what are the people's rights under the constitution. If the courts disagree these standard bearers have no choice but to state their case spiritedly and to carry it on to the courts of last resort. Those who thus contribute to make the law definite or who through their action obtain needed changes in law perform a great public service. If they suffer it is in a good cause."

Senator Root, the last speaker of the evening, took issue with Mr. Kingsley in his demand for federal regulation of insurance. "We must be always watchful," he said, "not to break down the power of local governments just for the sake of an efficiency which comes from centralization. Let us remember that in the local governments lie the heart and center of our liberties which have built us up into a great and strong nation of individuals. If we overrule the constitution in this matter of insurance there will be demands for government control of other business and we will find that we have established a dangerous precedent."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

A fair sized audience witnessed the performance of "A Convict's Daughter" at the Opera House last night. The plot of the piece is of the common day and portrays a pretty story, but the melodrama is right, triumphant and the window is along the line of "they lived happily ever after."

There is considerable comedy introduced in order to remove the seriousness of the plot which is very pleasing. The cast of the company included some very good men, including Clark B. Feltner, who played the role of "William Woodford," the former convict. W. J. Florence played the heavy part, taking the role of "James Blackburn."

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD" TONIGHT. Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead," unimpaired in every way and seemingly more virile and compelling than in the past, is now in its twenty-fourth season and is playing to audiences that completely fill the theatre where the company appears.

The audience follow the thread of the old story with much unflagging interest as if it were all brand new. The production in all the essential details that go to make up a play, are perfect. Such familiar scenes as the old farmyard in the New Hampshire hills, breathe the air of good, wholesome honesty. The equally familiar scene of the church with the choir singing the well-known, but always pleasing music, is said to be as good as in former seasons. One of the secrets of the longevity of this simple play of a simple people lies in the very high standard always maintained in production and in presenting company. Denman Thompson, Denman Thompson's son, who is manager, keeps the traditions of the old play well in hand and he consequently reaps a golden harvest every season. The famous double quartet of farm hands is one of the distinct features of the play, and the old and new songs that are rendered always meet with the warmest and most appreciative approval. Edward Snider is playing the part of Uncle Josh, and among the other old favorites may be mentioned Charlie Breyer, Fred Clare, Charles Mackie, Earl Redding, George Patch, Dave Willard and Anita Fowler.

"EAST LYNNE"

Tomorrow, matinee and night, the attraction at the Opera House is an additional stage production of the most popular of all dramas, "East Lynne," by Joseph King's New York company. The engagement is for matinee and night only, and special prices will prevail.

"East Lynne" is one of the greatest emotional dramas ever written.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

Leon W. Washburn's production of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" will be the attraction at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday and daily matinees. An excellent company is prominently featured and the play is introduced during the action of the play. Popular prices will prevail. Seats are now on sale.

HATTIE WILLIAMS.

Hattie Williams will be at the Opera House soon in Michael Morton's new dramatic comedy, "Detective Sparks" which comes here under the direction of Charles Frohman, after a notable engagement of 100 nights at the Garrick theatre, New York City. Local players need no introduction to the audience. The production is as well as "The Girl from Maxim's," "The Girl from Kay's," "The Little Cherub," "The Rollicking Girl," and "Fluffy Tuffies."

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

Theatre-goers and book readers who have read the famous "Brewster's Millions" story by George Barr McCutcheon, will be delighted with the announcement that the dramatic version of the book will be presented at the Opera House soon.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The big holiday bill, at Hathaway's theatre, this week is headed by the inevitable little Chinese play called "Suey San." Miss Mabel Barlowe heads the competent cast presenting the novel story of the little Chinese girl who is the love of two Chinese men, the Nanking maiden, one of the lovers being a gambling house keeper, the other a humble laundryman. The incidental music has been especially composed for this production.

Anna Chandler, one of the most striking singing comedienne ever seen here, is guaranteed 100 percent. Her personality is remarkable and nobody sees her but that they like her. Grace E. Bennett in "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband" will supply plentiful laughs, and the Great Escapade and his clever Lilliputians furnish one of the most striking of finishes to the bill. Other acts are: Margou & Holmes, in minstrel songs; Bert and Lottie Walton, the Hathaas.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week with special seats at the matinees for women.

PHILIPPE THERIER.

Tonight another big amateur show will be given at the Academy, which bids fair to excel all the past performances. Marlowe, Myers and Muriel, in their charming travesty, "A Lesson in Shakespeare," are still securing a tremendous hit, while Rubie Dickinson as the ex-justice of the peace, presents a novelty as a down east Yankee that gains him much applause. The feature biograph picture, "Sweet Revenge," teaches a strong lesson. Travelers of Rome and illustrated songs, "Barney, Come in Out of the Rain," completes a splendid program.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, the Theatre Voyons will be opened at 10 in the morning, and performances will be continuous till 10:30 in the evening. The picture program will be an exceptional one, one of the features being "Her Father's Sin," a beautiful and appealing love story. The musical feature will be "Home to Our Mountains," the gypsy dance from "Il Trovatore," sung by James Bates and Lillian Bates. These singers have made an excellent impression the past week with their duets, and tomorrow's will be well worth hearing.

STAR THEATRE

Extra performances, presented in full, and consisting of vaudeville, motion pictures and illustrated songs, will be given at the Star Theatre (tomorrow afternoon. Keaton's educational dogs, the smallest canines on the stage, and Ted Teller, the little comedian, are such vaudeville attractions, which will be seen for the last time tonight. Tomorrow Fisher and Fisher, the great cyclists, presenting the funniest knockabout act on the American stage will be seen, and on Friday all new moving pictures will be shown. The admission of five cents allows a seat.

COM. PEARY

TENDERED RECEPTION BY NAVAL PRESS CLUB

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Commander Robert E. Peary and Walter Wellman, Arctic explorers, met here last evening for the first time since both of them began seeking the North pole.

The occasion was a reception tendered Commander Peary by the naval press club of Washington at which were the distinguished scientists, officials of the government and others.

The feature of the reception which was informal, was the meeting between Commander Peary and Mr. Wellman, cordially greeting Commander Peary, Mr. Wellman said: "I am glad to greet you as the only man who reached the North pole."

Commander Peary expressed his gratification at this evidence of confidence and said he wanted an opportunity to discuss with Mr. Wellman their Arctic experiences and as a result a tentative arrangement was made to do so.

Commander Peary made a very brief address but made no reference to Dr. Cook.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At the regular meeting of Pilgrim encampment, 4. L. O. E., held Monday evening at the Odd Fellows hall, the regular degree was conferred on one candidate. At the next meeting, which will be held in the Centerville Odd Fellows hall, the grand patriarch and board of grand officers will be present to witness the royal purple degree. A large number of members and visitors will be present on that occasion.

MISS LOUISE TAFT ENGAGED

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taft last night announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louise W. Taft, to George H. Snowden, of Seattle, Wash. Miss Taft is a niece of the president. Mr. Snowden was graduated from Yale in 1907 and is now engaged in the lumber business in Seattle. The wedding will take place in this city during the Christmas holidays. President Taft will attend.

A drama in four acts entitled "The Ruler" will be given in the vestry of the First Unitarian Congregational church, Dutton street, by some of the young people of the church under the direction of Mrs. George F. Kenigott, tonight and Thursday of this week at 8 p. m. The Thanksgiving dramas have been a feature in this church for several years and always have been largely attended. This one promises to be especially interesting and amusing.

LAWYER O'SULLIVAN
Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, Esq., the youngest member of the legal profession in this city, has opened law offices in Wyman's Exchange.
Mr. O'Sullivan is the youngest son of Mr. James O'Sullivan, one of Lowell's most prominent business men, and was born in Lowell and educated in St. Patrick's academy, Lowell High school and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He took up the study of law, entering Boston University Law school in 1905 and graduating in 1908 with the high distinction of "Magna Cum Laude." He was elected president of his class and was one of the leaders in his class. This last year he has devoted to special work at Harvard Law school.
Mr. O'Sullivan is a very bright young man and since he has been practicing law here has displayed great legal talent.

DIVORCE COURT

Case of Heath vs. Heath
Heard Yesterday

In the divorce court yesterday afternoon the evidence in the case of Heath vs. Heath was resumed before Judge Sanderson.

Mrs. Ada Foster, an aunt of the defendant, testified that when the Heaths lived on Queen street she used frequently to see Mr. Heath intoxicated. When Mrs. Heath left him in 1905 she came to her house with a mark on her neck, where she had been choked. After staying with her 18 months, she went to her father's home. During those 18 months she had no men callers, and the witness saw nothing to criticize in her conduct.

Howard E. Chase, owner of the house in which the Heaths lived seven years, on Chapel street, testified that he saw Mr. Heath intoxicated five or six times around the yard. Never heard him speak pleasantly to his wife. It was about the same on both sides between them.

The witness admitted that he sometimes went in and drank beer with them.

Mrs. Heath was recalled by her counsel and said that the young man Fox, referred to, was as much the friend of her husband as of herself.

She never talked with her husband about the gentleman caller referred to. The petitioner rested and the respondent's counsel called Louis H. Bernier, who testified that he saw Mrs. Heath at the Waverly on the day of the last Bremen's muster. She drank a glass of beer. Also, she used to go after beer herself, and drink it in her own house. Used to drink at the house of the witness.

Cross-examined the witness said that he lives at 26 Willie street and works for Burnham & Davis. He did not think that he ever got drunk. Goes around with Mr. Heath sometimes. Married Mr. Heath's niece.

Mrs. Hosina Harrington said that in October, 1907, Mrs. Heath came to live at her house. A gentleman used to call on her once or twice a week. Did not see Mr. Heath there but once, but heard he used to come there. On one occasion, the witness said, she asked Mrs. Heath what she would do if Mr. Heath and the other man came at the same time, and she replied that she would see that it did not happen.

This witness is Mrs. Heath's stepmother. She gave other damaging testimony.

Cross-examined, the witness said that Mrs. Heath came to her house to assist in the care of her father. She saw no impropriety in Mrs. Heath's conduct there, and never suspected any.

Mr. Sanborn, the photographer, was called to testify that the photograph referred to was taken within six years at the outside.

At this point the court inquired about the willingness of the libellant to return to her husband, and the case was suspended to give Mr. Wilson an opportunity to confer with his client.

The court heard uncontested cases the rest of the afternoon. The libel cases were defaulted in the following cases: May Edna Bell of Cambridge, vs. Wm. W. Bell of Jacksonville, Fla.; George M. Hussey of Boston vs. Eugene D. Hussey. The libellant told a pathetic story of persistent ill-treatment. On one occasion, she said, her husband took her to Chicago and tried to get rid of her by leaving her alone in the streets of a strange city. Before her child was born he left her alone in an unheated apartment.

At the close of the session Mr. Wilson told the court that there was no settlement in the Heath case.

STRUCK BY AUTO

BOY HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM SERIOUS INJURY

A boy who gave his name as McDonnell had a narrow escape from being seriously injured as a result of being run over by an automobile driven by Thomas J. O'Donnell at the junction of Merrimack and Worthen streets yesterday. The boy attempted to cross the street in front of the machine, but the driver found it impossible to stop the car in time to prevent the accident.

The boy was taken into Timmons' drug store and was attended by Dr. Harold B. Plunkett. An examination showed that the boy was suffering from a few bruises and a small cut on the side of the head.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, cannot too strongly express in words our appreciation and thanks to our many friends and neighbors for the kind deeds and heartfelt sympathies extended us in the hour of need and sorrow at the death of our beloved sister, Frances A. ST. PATRICK'S HOLY NAME

The regular monthly business meeting of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church was held last evening in the school hall and considerable business of importance was transacted. Vice Pres. Michael McDermott presided and in opening heartily congratulated the members on their very large attendance. Reports from the different captains in the membership contest showed that about 100 new members were brought in. Capt. Timothy Cullen was the winner and much credit is due Mr. Cullen for the energetic work he put into the contest. Capt. John Dalton was a close second.

The smoke talk committee reported that everything was ready for the smoke talk and lecture on next Tuesday evening, Nov. 30. The committee has secured Thomas A. Mullin, Esq., of

The anniversary high mass for the spiritual and temporal welfare of the Holy Name members will be held Thanksgiving morning at 8 o'clock and every member is urged to meet in the church basement and the members will attend mass in a body.

Two committees were nominated to bring in a list of officers to be balloted for at the December meeting. The reception of the recently enrolled members will be held Sunday night, Dec. 5 at 7 o'clock at the "crapper service and all the members admitted since the last reception are urged to be present.

Other business of minor importance was disposed of before the meeting adjourned.

HOW TO TREAT DANDRUFF

The scalp is the seat of many hair diseases. Out of the pores of the scalp constantly comes an oily secretion, together with cast-off cells and waste matter that Nature has no further use for. The oily secretion keeps the scalp moist and gives lustre and beauty to the hair. Dust, dirt, and disease germs floating in the air settle upon the head, and the oily secretion holds them fast. In time scales and dandruff form, the pores become clogged, and the first thing you know your hair begins to fall out. You don't need a "tonic," "grower," "brusher" or "rejuvenator." Most of those things are rank frauds. If you have tried them, you know it. What you need is a cleanser. The trouble with soaps and shampoos generally is that they remove all the moisture from the hair and the scalp, and rob them of the very thing Nature provided to keep the head moist and supple, and the hair lustrous. Try Birt's Head Wash, the new scientific preparation for hair and scalp troubles. It cleans the head thoroughly, and when you are through your hair will have a beautiful lustre and sheen, and the scalp will be delightfully clean. Upon each jar of Birt's Head Wash is the following formula, showing just what it is made of: Refined Soap, Glycerine, Cocaine, Coconut Oil, White of Eggs and Salicylic Acid. Ask your doctor about it. Price 50 cents.

The caucuses have come and gone, and John F. Meehan is the standard bearer of a united democratic party, for after one of the most interesting ante-caucuses contests ever waged he received 1793 votes against 1526 for his nearest competitor, Major Robert J. Crowley, while the latter held second place by a margin of only four votes. Rep. Meehan's plurality, therefore, is 267, sufficiently large to preclude any change by a recount.

It has been said that a prophet is without honor in his own country, but not so with Meehan, for the flattering vote given him in ward two, that stronghold of democracy where the candidate was born and reared, was mainly responsible for his nomination. In ward two Rep. Meehan received 559 votes and his nearest rival in the ward was James E. O'Donnell whose vote was 259, Rep. Meehan's plurality in this ward alone being an even 300 votes. A remarkable feature of the democratic contest was the fact that the winner carried the least number of wards. Major Crowley carried wards four, five, eight and nine; Mr. O'Donnell carried wards one, three and seven, while Rep. Meehan carried only wards two and six. In ward five Major Crowley led him by only one vote.

In striking contrast to the vote of the democrats was that cast by the republicans. The democrats cast 5908 votes, out of which only 113 blanks were recorded. On the other side the republicans polled a vote of only 4679, and of these the unusually large number of 1245 were blanks, which shows that many republicans remained away from the polls, and of those who were attracted there by the aldermanic ticket over 1200 cast blanks on the head of the ticket. Furthermore, Purchasing Agent MacKenzie who, like the head of the ticket, was running without opposition, received 3942 against 3434 received by the head of the ticket. There were 748 blanks on purchasing agent against 1245 on the head of the ticket.

The democratic contest for purchasing agent was won by Mr. Edward Foye who received an excellent vote, and his plurality was 607. In the aldermanic field both parties gave the preference to men who have had previous experience at city hall. The democrats nominated seven men out of nine who have served in either or both branches of the city council, while the republicans nominated six members of the present city council, a member of the present park board and two who have not had experience at city hall. There were several lively contests for common council and school board which are reported elsewhere, while there were also a few contests over ward committees.

There were many who believed that on account of the great number of candidates on the ballot the returns would not be complete until late this morning. But thanks to the speed and accuracy of the precinct officers, the last precinct came in one minute past two and by four o'clock the figures at city hall had the results complete.

An enthusiastic and expectant crowd remained at city hall until the last precinct came in, and as the indications pointed strongly to Rep. Meehan's nomination they cheered that candidate lustily. The latter appeared at city hall about midnight and was greeted as the winner. He declined to address the gathering until the returns were all in, and then he delivered a brief speech of thanks, expressing his appreciation of the grand vote given him. He then went home where he was kept out of bed receiving congratulations until almost sunrise.

The result of the vote by wards for all officers will be found on page three.

THE VICE CONSUL

Is Working on the Nicaraguan Case

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The Nicaraguan situation this morning was exactly where it was last Sunday night when Secretary Knox stated that the department was waiting for detailed information from Managua before taking any further steps. The vice consul at that capital, Mr. Caldera, is presumably working on the case, but so far nothing has been heard from him. The department is especially anxious to obtain full information as to the status of the Americans at the time of their arrest, particularly as to whether or not they were co-operating with the revolutionist army.

The officials are proceeding with deliberation and it may be a day or two before anything definite is received on which the department could act.

THEODORE LESLIE

Believed to be the Youngest Married Man

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Theodore Leslie today is certainly the youngest married man in the country. Theodore is two and he has brought back from Portuguese Congo land where he was born, a dusky bride of seven, the daughter of a Congo chief. Theodore's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Leslie, who have just returned on a vacation from a missionary post, explained today that when he was born the chief of the Bayakas, who had forty wives of his own sent him a spare grand-daughter for a wife as a token of regard. As Theodore was badly in need of a nurse the present was accepted and the royal African proprieties satisfied at the same time.

The wife accompanied her husband. It was only humanity to bring her she explained to her mother-in-law that she would surely be killed if left behind. Her people would believe she had told the tribal secrets to Theodore, her husband, who had carried them away to a strange land. Bride and groom will both return to Congo land when Dr. and Mrs. Leslie have exhausted their furlough.

INQUEST HELD THE TESTIMONY

Into the Death of Miss Perry In Case of Prominent Lumberman

An inquest into the death of Miss Margaret Perry, who died at the Lowell hospital under rather suspicious circumstances, was held this afternoon in the second session of the police court, Judge Pickman presiding. Among the witnesses present were Mrs. Whelan, the woman with whom the deceased boarded, Dr. Shipson, of the Lowell hospital, Dr. Joe V. Meigs, the medical examiner, and several others.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 24.—The hearing of testimony in the case of W. Y. Ellis, a prominent lumberman, charged with the killing of N. P. Willis, a business man of Indianapolis, Ind., began today. The defense will contend that Ellis although previous and subsequent to the killing appeared perfectly rational, for the time being was insane. This condition it was contended was brought about by alleged persecution of Mrs. Ellis, formerly Mrs. Willis, in connection with litigation instituted by Willis in an effort to gain the custody of their six year old daughter. Because of the prominence of the principals the case is attracting unusual attention.

6 O'CLOCK IN POLICE COURT

Larceny Case Engages Attention of the Court

A rather peculiar as well as interesting case was heard before Judge Hadley in the police court this morning, it being that of Paul H. Feidler of Matineen, charged with the larceny of 423 bottles of Matthews Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil from Joseph Routhier and Adolphe Delisle, of the Lowell Pharmacy.

According to the testimony offered by the government, the defendant, submitted a preparation which he claimed was of his own preparation and put it on the market as the original preparation.

Witnesses A. C. Hamel and William J. Bent appeared for the government, and the defendant was represented by Lawyer W. J. Bradley of Lawrence.

Joseph Routhier, a member of the firm known as the Lowell Pharmacy, with a store in upper Merrimack street, was the first witness called. He testified that last spring he met Mr. Feidler and exchanged about three gross of Matthews Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil, valued at $75, for about four gross of Gauvin's Aniseed of Syrup. Witness asked the defendant where he got the syrup, the latter told him that he had got it from Mr. Gauvin.

The current price of Gauvin's syrup is $15.30 per gross, but witness said that the defendant gave him the medicine for $18 per gross, a reduction of 90 cents per gross.

Mr. Routhier testified that he had sold some of the bottles of syrup and returned others to Mr. Feidler.

At this point an argument arose among counsel. Messrs. Hamel and Bent appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. W. J. Bradley of Lawrence represented the defendant. Mr. Hamel called the direct examination and asked a question relative to what had happened Mr. Bradley questioned the admissibility of the question. Mr. Bent arose and started to take part in the argument when Mr. Bradley objected, stating that he was willing to fight one man, but that he could not fight two men.

Mr. Bent insisted that he was not examining the witness and had a right to speak upon the admission of answers. Mr. Bradley held his point so far as the conducting of the case by one attorney was concerned, but the court allowed Mr. Bent to say what he wanted.

Witness said he had not analyzed the Gauvin's syrup to see if anything was the matter with it. He said that the cork was out of the bottle and the syrup had run all over the wrappers.

On cross-examination witness said that he kept books at his store but that his transactions with Feidler were not entered in the books at all. Witness admitted that the transactions between Feidler and him were the exchange of different preparations, though in some instances money was paid by either party.

Witness said that Mr. Feidler said that he had got the Gauvin's syrup from Mr. Gauvin, but did not state at what time or place the syrup was purchased.

There were two first offenders who escaped with $2 fines.

John Hennessy and Edward Fallon of Billerica appeared before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on complaints charging them with malicious mischief. The case was conducted in an undertone and the clerk of the court stated that Hennessy was found guilty and fined $15, while the other defendant was found guilty also and fined $1 less.

Neglect of Wife
Joseph Deane was charged with drunkenness and neglect of wife and pleaded guilty to both charges. Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society stated to the court that the man goes on a drunk week at a time and leaves his wife unprovided for and that she has to struggle hard to secure food for herself and children.

Patron John U. Clark corroborated the testimony offered by the former witness and added that he had seen the defendant drunk on the street on many occasions.

To Call Meeting of the Liberal Party

LONDON, Nov. 24.—At a prolonged meeting of the cabinet today held to discuss the crisis arising from Lord Lansdowne's motion to withhold from the budget bill the consent of the house of lords it was decided to call an immediate meeting of the liberal party for the purpose of outlining a plan of campaign.

In parliamentary circles it is believed that the house of commons will be prorogued as early as next Tuesday following Premier Asquith's announcement of the government's decision. This means probably an appeal to the country earlier than has been expected, quite likely during the first week of the new year.

GOVERNMENT'S PLAN UPSET
LONDON, Nov. 24.—The government's plan for the early prorogation of the house of commons was upset today. As soon as the house of lords met this afternoon it was announced that because so many peers desired to speak on the budget bill it would be necessary to continue the debate into next week and that a division would not take place until next Tuesday.

YOUNG GIRL HELD
She Was Charged With Assault on Clarence Glover

WALTHAM, Nov. 24.—Only counsel and police were present when Lillian Leblanc, the young French-Canadian girl, was brought into the Waltham district court today and formally charged with causing the death last Saturday night of Clarence F. Glover, head of the Waltham Laundry Co. The young woman was held without bail for a continued hearing on Dec. 5. She was not called upon to plead to the complaint which charged that she "did assault with intent to murder and did murder" Clarence Glover.

On her own statement that she was 16 years of age the girl was given a hearing in the juvenile court, and it is understood that the Leblancs are always the case in the juvenile court regarding Glover's death. The police proceedings were conducted with the strictest privacy, no one being admitted to the counsel's library where the session was held except the presiding judge, counsel and police. When the case which at present are obscure was brought into the court house, the girl was escorted by a police officer to a public place, where she was brought into the court house, the girl was escorted by a police officer to a public place, where she was brought into the court house.

As soon as the court proceedings were concluded Mrs. Leblanc and three officers started for the county jail at East Cambridge where the girl was locked up.

COURT DECISION
Will Allow Foreign Insurance Companies Into Canada

MONTREAL, Nov. 24.—A decision which if upheld by the higher courts will open the door of the Dominion of Canada to all foreign insurance companies without their being subject to the regulations prescribed by the Canadian insurance act was rendered by Judge Leet here today.

Leet in deciding in favor of the defendant in a case brought by the crown against Willis Faber & Co., insurance agents representing Lloyd's of London, declared the Canadian insurance act invalid. This act provides that an unregistered company may write insurance in Canada. The government had sought to restrain the Lloyd's concern from writing insurance in the Dominion because it is not registered.

In his opinion, Judge Leet says that the act is illegal in delegating the insurance business as a trade and "that the Dominion parliament has no power to regulate it in the way in which the act in question attempts to do."

DEATHS
MORTUARY—Patrick Moriarty died at his residence, 161 East Broadway street, this morning. He was a well known resident of St. Patrick's parish. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Cole of Lowell, Mrs. Thomas Dolan of Nashua, N. H., and three sons, Daniel, Patrick and James.

O'Rourke—John O'Rourke, an old resident of this city, died today at the city hospital. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of John J. O'Connell. He leaves two grandchildren, Miss Alice Conway and Mrs. Mary E. Richards.

ANNUAL BANQUET

Of the O. M. I. Cadets Was Held Last Evening

The annual banquet of the O. M. I. Cadets was held last night and it was attended by the same happy spirit and joyous enthusiasm as in former years. It was generally conceded, in fact, that last night's affair had it all over preceding ones. There were a great many counter attractions but they were not magnetic enough to attract the boys of the O. M. I. Cadets. There

The Cadets orchestra is composed of John Allen, first violin; John McQuade, second violin; Joseph Boland, first violin; George Conners, cornet; Ralph Wilder, piano; Joseph Morrison, clarinet; Joseph Raymond, trombone.

The various organizations of the Cadets were represented by the following: Track team, Capt. Arthur Sullivan and Manager John Baxter; football team, Manager Charles Farrell; baseball, Capt. Edward Brown, Manager Frank Donovan; basketball, George Ald, glee club, Director Joseph Stowell.

The Cadets have grown wonderfully during the past two years, so that now, with a total of four companies, the battalion numbers 364 men, and is still growing. Last year the boys did not go into summer camp as usual, but Fr. Sullivan says that this event will not be taking next summer.

The meeting closed at 10 o'clock last night, and dancing by the older members concluded the evening's program. The affair was a distinct success, and was due entirely to the efforts of Fr. Sullivan, who has worked hard and faithfully to bring the body up to a high standard.

Assisting at tables were Mrs. Jeremiah Harrington, Mrs. Etta Clark, Mrs. Daniel Conners, Mrs. James McGarvey, Mrs. Patrick Farrell, Mrs. Alex. Rountree, Mrs. Charles Keyes, Mrs. Stanley Roberts, Mrs. Mary Callahan, Miss Margaret McMenamin, Miss Juliette Sullivan, Miss Helen Clark, Miss Anna McCurtin, Miss Caroline McGarvey, Miss Agnes Sullivan, Miss Eleanor Harrington, Miss Margaret Cawley, Miss Hilda Noonan, Miss Christina Kane, Miss Sadie Connor, Miss Ethel Burns, Miss Katherine McCarthy, Miss Juliette Sullivan, Miss Mary Donovan, Miss Margaret Callahan, Miss Mary Sullivan.

A PIE PARTY
A branberry pie party was given last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Blackthorn, 130 Hale street. The party was in honor of Miss Muriel Blackthorn, it was her birthday and nearly 100 of her little friends gathered to assist her in celebrating the occasion. Ice cream and cake were served and at about 10 o'clock the branberry pie was broken into and it was a monster. The pie contained 75 presents and they were distributed among the children. Games were indulged in and everybody had a good time.

MAJOR RUSSELL HARRINGTON was an attendance at the banquet of about 400.

At 8 o'clock the companies formed in the school hall under the direction of their military instructor, Lieut. Leonard McArdle, and marched to the Y. M. C. I. hall, where a banquet had been prepared by the young ladies of the church.

DIED SUDDENLY

Old Greenback Leader Passed Away

TURNER, Me., Nov. 24.—Solon Chase, one time leader of the Greenback party, an editor, lecturer and stump speaker widely known for nearly half a century, died suddenly yesterday of heart failure at the age of 87. Mr. Chase had been suffering from a cold for a week at his home, Chase's mills, but his general condition appeared to be good, and no particular anxiety was felt. Two minutes before his death he called for a daily paper. Three decades ago Mr. Chase became famous as an advocate of Greenbackism, and he kept up his battle throughout his career. As a Greenback candidate for congress from the second Maine district, he stumped the whole eastern section of the United States, driving a pair of steers hitched to a hayrack, from the rear of which he delivered his speeches. The slogan, "Solon Chase and them steers" became familiar to everybody from Maine to the middle west. After the passing of the greenback agitation Mr. Chase withdrew from the popular eye, but as the editor and publisher of Chase Chronicle, a weekly organ, he continued for many years to utter his opinions forcibly, and he was often heard on the lecture platform also throughout New England.

IMPERIAL BANK
HOLDS THE FUNDS OF ABDUL HAMID

which, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung, the present Ottoman ruler purposes to recover through a legal action.

It is learned here that the Imperial bank is willing to surrender the money if the order bears the signature of the former sultan authenticated by the special seal adopted by him when the deposit was made. At that time Abdul Hamid entered into a strict compact with the officers of the bank under which no withdrawal from this account was to be permitted except upon the authority of the special seal.

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1862. It is a very long letter, and it contains a great deal of information about the state of the country at that time. It is a very important document, and it is one of the most interesting documents in the collection.

ALL UP FOR MEEHAN.

In one of the most harmonious ante-caucus contests ever conducted in this city, Rep. John F. Meehan has been nominated for mayor by the democrats of Lowell with a plurality that gives him a clear lead over his two closest opponents. From the beginning the fact was recognized that the contest was a three-cornered one with Meehan, Crowley and O'Donnell as the leaders, and it was not until all the returns were counted that the result was definitely known.

Rep. Meehan is a young man of clean record and marked ability. Unassuming and modest in manner, he is possessed of much natural ability, and his campaign demonstrated the fact that he is an eloquent speaker, a logical reasoner; that he is well versed in matters of state and municipal legislation and, therefore, well equipped to give the city of Lowell a business-like and progressive administration of her affairs.

From the beginning of the contest Major Crowley stood out prominently and firmly for perfect harmony in the party with the purpose that whoever might be chosen would receive the united support of all the other candidates. That was his policy in the beginning and he held to it until the last gun was fired.

A similar policy in favor of party harmony and good feeling among the candidates was adopted and put into effect by Mr. James E. O'Donnell, who came in a few votes behind Major Crowley. Both these gentlemen stand pledged to support the nominee of the party, and we have not the slightest doubt that they will do so in the most cordial and enthusiastic manner. The same is true of Messrs. Daly and Maloney.

It had been stated that anyone of the five men who were in the contest could beat the republican candidate at the polls, and that is probably true. Now that Mr. Meehan has been nominated it is the party's duty to give him its most loyal support and to see that every honorable means be adopted to secure his election as mayor. Equipped as he is by education, training and natural ability, he will make a chief magistrate who will redeem the city from the humiliating condition in which it has been placed during the past year. The fact that he carried off the nomination in the face of such opposition proves his ability as a campaigner. He will stoop to no undignified or ungentlemanly methods. He will brook no corruption; his record is clean and above reproach whether we consider his public or his private career. He will make an ideal candidate and a good mayor. It is up to the democratic party and the citizens of Lowell to elect him, as we have no doubt they will with a sweeping majority.

The rest of the ticket is perhaps the strongest that could be chosen from the list of candidates and will compare favorably with the republican ticket.

MUNICIPAL REFORM IN THE AIR.

All over this country the paramount question seems to be municipal reform. The principal cities are having their affairs probed by committees on finance or else by bureaus of municipal research. In either case the results are proving very satisfactory in exposing the defects in system and looseness in the methods of doing business, if not open and flagrant corruption.

In some of the cities the conditions revealed are really alarming. The reports prove beyond doubt the urgent need of a better system of conducting municipal business.

The general tendency of the reforms favored is in the direction of smaller governing bodies for cities and these to be constituted of men of eminent ability and unquestionable integrity.

The city of Lowell for some time past has suffered from the handicap of an antiquated charter. It will be some time before the various sections of our citizens can unite upon a form of charter suitable for adoption. It seems, however, that a close study of the charters being adopted by other cities will convince anybody that we would be better off with a smaller city council made up of men of eminent ability even though we had to pay them a reasonable salary for their services.

The question of charter reform is one of the most important to be considered in the immediate future. It is the question of deciding upon the best form of organic law for the government of our city in the future.

The city of Lowell has passed beyond the status of an overgrown town. It is now a city of 100,000 inhabitants with a prospect of reaching 200,000 within the next half century. The charter to be adopted must plan for future growth and for metropolitan methods.

Hereafter we shall have to do things on a large scale and to drop provincial ideas. But in all cases we shall have to apply business methods and progressive ideas in the management of municipal affairs. One of the worst things a city can do is to put incompetent men or dishonest or insincere men at the head of the government. Under present methods of conducting our government we have reached a state of affairs under which the ablest men find it very difficult to enter public office.

It requires men of experience to safeguard the city's finances, to prevent extravagance or injudicious outlay. The new charter of the future must centre responsibility in one executive head; it must define the duties of every department, provide a uniform system of accounting, and it must also provide for a periodical investigation of the city's financial condition in order that the citizens may know in what direction the municipal bark is steering, whether to the haven of success or upon the rocks of financial ruin.

At the present time the interest account of our city is much larger than it should be and long years of economy will be needed to get it reduced to what might be considered normal.

In the transition from the old to new methods the guidance of able and experienced men will be requisite, and that is the secret of the tendency to have smaller bodies. Men of wide and varied ability are scarce. If we want a score or more of such men we shall be disappointed; but if we want but a small number we may be accommodated. This is one of the great problems which our citizens will have to solve at an early day, and upon the disinterested wisdom of their solution depends in a great measure the future of this great city.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mark Twain, 76, suffering from a tobacco heart, says plaintively that he never smoked more than one cigar at a time.

It appears that the recent purchase by Congressmen Weeks of Newton of the Jacob Benton homestead in Lancaster, N. H., is not to make it his summer home, but to utilize it as an old lady's home. There is nothing of the sort in that section of New Hampshire.

Three New York physicians to receive decorations from Emperor William are Dr. Otto Killian, Dr. Rudolph Denig and Dr. Louis Feiler of the staff of the German hospital. The first named received membership in the order of the Royal Prussian crown, and two last named the medal and ribbon of the Iron Cross of the Red Eagle. The services of the German hospital to German immigrants and subjects' doubtless account for the Kaiser's appreciative action.

The Federation of Women's clubs of New York city has passed by a most important vote a motion to urge legislation that will prevent the wrecking of homes through the physical unfitness of parents. The motion was introduced by Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood, and she proposed that applicants for marriage licenses be required to show certificates from reputable physicians stating that they are free from insanity, dipsomania, tuberculosis and other hereditary diseases.

What is said to be the largest amount of insurance ever placed at one time on the life of a man was taken out by George E. Nicholson of Kansas City, president of several cement manufacturing companies. The aggregate is $1,500,000 distributed among about twenty-five companies, and is additional to $1,300,000 already held by him. Some of his companies are made the beneficiaries of the new policy, as he is a widower with two sons grown up, and is worth $4,000,000. He ought to believe himself a well man, for twenty-five physicians, representing as many different companies have examined and accepted him.

The German Housewives society has just awarded prizes to thirty-five model servants, women who have been two or more years in the same place. The twenty-five who had been two years in the same place received gold bees as a symbol of their industry. Eight rings and the two who had six years in the same place to their credit received each a ten dollar gold piece along with their rings. The society awards prizes every two years and among those rewarded last year several had ten and twelve year records.

President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota will go to Florida and California following his retirement from office. The president plans to make Minneapolis his home for the rest of his life, but his vacation, after leaving the president's chair, will be an extended one in the south and west. President Northrop will not engage actively in the work of the American Missionary association, of which he has been elected president, but will attend the meetings of the association in Boston during the second week of next October.

Dr. Thomas Bliss Stillman, 23 years professor of analytical chemistry at the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, has retired to accept the Carnegie pension. He was great in his specialty; according to his ideas all the cooking of mankind was wrong, because empirical in its origin; the time had come to have only scientific foods and drinks, compounded by chemical process. To illustrate this he gave at the Hotel Astor, a few years ago, a "synthetic" dinner on these lines, but made few converts.

Miss M. Cary Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college and chairman of the committee that has gathered statistics concerning college women in the United States, reported at a recent convention of the association of the college alumnae that when men and women were educated together there were no more marriages than when the sexes were educated apart. Her report showed also that college women had an average of 3.6 children each, while non-college women had an average of 2.5 children, although college women married later in life. College women choose better husbands, the report said.

The anti-suffragists have announced Mrs. George Cornwallis West (Lady Randolph Churchill) among the speakers whom they have engaged to lead American women the virtue of keeping out of politics. The suffragists reply by pointing out that in her recently published reminiscences Mrs. Cornwallis West declares herself a keen and ardent politician. As the mainspring of the Primrose league she tells how she used to travel about England making public speeches against women's rights for Ireland. The suffragists declare that the women in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, who vote for all offices from president down, have never made themselves as conspicuous, nor allowed their political activities to keep them away from home nearly as much as Mrs. Cornwallis West.

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them. A single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody's else hat. Many a husband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair, or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial. If it does not produce the results we claim, the remedy is called "Rexall '93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

"Rexall '93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color, or when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free and normal circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall '93 Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence.

So far as doubt this statement, until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall remedies in Lowell only at our store, The Rexall Store—Hall & Lyon Co., 67-69 Merrimack Street.

RUB ON PARISIAN SAGE DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS

Dandruff Germs Will Quickly Die, and Itching Scalp Will Say Good-Bye.

Your money back if Parisian Sage isn't the best hair tonic—the best hair grower—the best hair saver—you ever used, you be the judge.

It's really a wonder what a phenomenal sale Parisian Sage has made for itself in America in a few years. About a multitude of people have been cured of falling hair, dandruff and itching scalp by its use.

And how the American women praise Parisian Sage for its peculiar ability to turn harsh, faded, lustreless hair into fresh, beautiful, silky and lustrous hair in a few days.

Parisian Sage is today the favorite hair dressing and tonic of discriminating Americans, not because of sensational methods of advertising, but because it is the only hair restorer that will do just what it is advertised to do.

It kills the dandruff germs and cures dandruff, stops falling hair, and itching scalp in two weeks. It doesn't hurt, and it's sure to give you your money back.

For a long time my hair had been falling out, and my scalp gave forth great quantities of dandruff. I used several so-called hair tonics but never received any benefit until I used Parisian Sage. This wonderful tonic removed the dandruff and stopped my hair falling out. Jessie Sweet, Lowell, Mich., June 28, 1909.

If you haven't tried Parisian Sage, get a large 50 cent bottle today. It's sold by druggists everywhere, and by Carter & Burdette. It is a delightful dressing, not sticky or greasy. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Mail orders filled, all charges prepaid, by the American makers, Ghouse Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

FUNERALS

MARCHAND—The funeral of Mrs. J. R. Marchand took place yesterday from her home, 28 Pearl street. Solemn funeral mass was held at Notre Dame de Lourdes church, Rev. Frs. Viard, Brullard and Dubreuil, O. M. L. officiating. The choir sang "Pereant" and "Requiem." H. A. Racicot directed. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Dubreuil officiated at the grave. Undertaker Amelie Archambault had charge.

BARTLETT—The funeral of Mrs. Mercy V. Bartlett took place yesterday afternoon. Prayers were said by Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist church, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred L. Emerson, 11 South Loring street. Funeral services were held at the Wilson chapel, Cambridge. The services were conducted by Rev. F. H. Billington. Appropriate selections were sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. D. W. Robbins, Mrs. Grace Chamberlin, Mr. W. B. Chamberlin and Mr. D. L. Chamberlin. The bearers were Messrs. Charles Forbush, Everett Latham, Parker Nickles and Amos N. Kilder. Burial was in the Fairview cemetery, Westford, under the direction of C. H. Molloy & Sons.

DRAPER—The funeral of Dana M. Draper, infant daughter of Charles and Annie Draper, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of the parents, 31 Railroad street. Rev. A. R. Ditts officiated. Burial was in the Fairview cemetery, Westford, under the direction of C. H. Molloy & Sons.

WHEELER—The funeral of John Wheeler took place yesterday afternoon from the chapel in the Edison cemetery. Rev. Mr. Ellis of Chelmsford Centre officiating. Burial was under the direction of C. M. Young.

HESSON—The funeral of Elizabeth Hesson, daughter of John and Elizabeth Hesson, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, Dracut, Mass. Rev. Mr. Bartlett of Dracut was the officiating clergyman. There was singing by Beatrice and Shirley Smithson. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Burial was in the Edison cemetery, under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

DRACUT

There was a large attendance of voters at the special meeting of the citizens of Dracut held last night. Both questions were acted favorably upon. Town Clerk John W. Brennan called to order at eight o'clock and the first article, calling for the election of a moderator, resulted in the election of Arthur W. Colburn.

The meeting then took up article 2 which provided for a loan of $1000 for the year for the extermination of the brown tail and gypsy moths. There was considerable discussion relative to the matter, but a vote by check list showed that the article was carried, 64 voting in the affirmative and 11 in the negative.

Article 3 called for a loan of not more than $1000 for five years to be used under chapter 275 of the acts of 1908 and instructing the selectmen to petition the legislative commissioners for an allotment under the provisions of the article.

Warren W. Fox offered a motion amending the reduction of the amount to $2000 for a term of three years at a rate of not more than 4 per cent.

The article was passed by a vote of 22 to 1.

Article 4, which was to determine where the money raised under the previous article should be expended, was then taken up by the meeting.

Mr. Bassett moved that the money borrowed under article 3, be expended on Lakeview avenue between the Lowell line and the Pullman car tracks in Collinsville.

The motion prevailed without debate and there was not a dissenting vote.

A 50 Cent Box of my Rheumatism Remedy Free.

My remedy has actually cured men and women seventy and eighty years of age—some were so decrepit that they could not even dress themselves. To introduce this great remedy I intend to give fifty thousand 50 cent boxes away, and every suffering reader of this paper is consequently invited to write for one. No money is asked for this 50 cent box neither now nor later, and if afterwards more is wanted I will furnish it to sufferers at a low cost. I found this remedy by a fortunate chance while an invalid from rheumatism, and since it cured me it has been a blessing to thousands of other persons. Don't be sceptical, remember the first 50 cent box is absolutely free. This is an internal remedy which goes after the cause of the trouble, and when the cause of rheumatism is removed, have no fear of relapse. Rheumatism in time will affect the heart, so do not trifle with this merciless affliction. Address, enclosing this adv., JOHN A. SMITH, 5426 Smith Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

BURNED TO DEATH

Six Persons Perished in a Fire in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—In a Brooklyn fire believed to be of incendiary origin, six persons were burned to death today. Four persons received probably fatal and a dozen others serious injuries.

The blaze was in a four-story tenement building in Haven's place. Fanned by a strong wind, the fire originating in the basement, swept quickly upward. Escape by the stairways being cut off, most of the sixty tenants in the building rushed for the fire escapes. Several in their panic jumped from windows and were injured, one woman fatally. Nearly two scores were carried out of the blazing structure by firemen on ladders.

The fire was marked by a number of tragic incidents and many thrilling rescues. Three of those burned to death were children, the others being two women and a man. One unidentified woman was found clasp the body of her dead infant in the rear of the second floor where the flames had overtaken her. Another woman, reaching the street in safety, rushed back in an attempt to save her children. Her body with those of her children was found in the house. Still another mother saved her child by throwing it from a window into the firemen's arms. She jumped and was fatally injured.

Nearly all the victims were Italians.

Takes His Daughter With Him

Footpads Attacked Man at Amesbury

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Deputy sheriffs in automobiles raced about Chicago yesterday in search of a seven-year-old girl heiress and her father, into whose custody the child was given yesterday by a circuit court judge. The efforts were futile, however, and the fleeing father and daughter are thought to be on their way to the father's home in the east.

The search was for the purpose of gaining possession of Kathryn A. Good, daughter of Henry F. Good of Lock Haven, Pa. The mother of the girl, who was divorced from her husband, was killed in an automobile accident near Buffalo in September, and the child's grandmother, Mrs. John R. Hoxie of Chicago, was made guardian of the girl's estate, which is valued at about $100,000.

No sooner had the girl been given into her father's care yesterday than the grandmother got a writ enjoining Good from taking Kathryn out of Illinois. Deputy sheriffs were whisked in automobiles from one hotel and railroad station to another, but were compelled to admit defeat.

Mrs. Hoxie says she was legally appointed guardian of the girl by the probate court and that the father had no legal right to the child.

THE OFFICIAL VOTE

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—It was officially announced by the executive council today that Eben Dyer of Hopkinton was re-elected governor on November 2 by a plurality of 734 votes over James H. Vahcy, his democratic opponent. The official plurality of Lieut. Gov. Louis Frothingham of Boston over Eugene N. Foss of Boston was 773. These figures agree very closely with the press returns of the election.

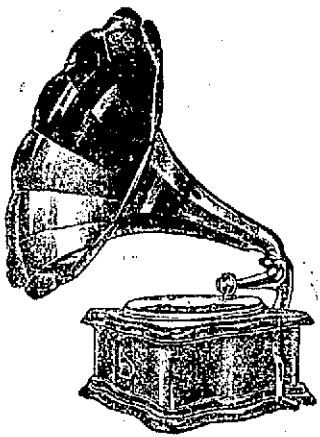

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Oswald Legere and Miss Gertrude M. White were united in marriage Tuesday afternoon at the parochial residence of St. Patrick's church, by Rev. Timothy Callahan. The bride was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, and Mr. Edward White of New York, the bride's brother, was best man. The bride was becomingly attired in white silk, and carried a large bouquet of chrysanthemums, while the bridesmaid wore blue silk and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. Mr. and Mrs. Legere left on a wedding tour and on their return they will live at 13 Butterfield street. They will be at home after Dec. 8th.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS

Bill to be Introduced in the Legislature Next Year

A bill providing for direct nomination in all representative and senatorial districts will be introduced by the republican majority to next winter's legislature, according to a statement made yesterday by Speaker Walker of the house.

Direct nominations were much considered in the state in the last campaign. The democratic platform contained a plank declaring in favor of that principle, while in the 4th Essex and the Cape senatorial district, both of which elected the incumbent candidates for the senate, it was made the principal argument.

Senator-elect Arthur L. Nason of Haverhill, who as a representative led the direct nomination cause in the house for two years, and who carried the 4th Essex district, has announced his intention of fighting for another bill in the senate.

With the legislative organization against him his chances would probably be no better now than they have been in previous years, but, according to the interview given yesterday by Speaker Walker, the organization will take the initiative. He declared his belief that a general bill, providing for referendum of some kind on the question, "will be presented early in the coming session."

According to the speaker's plan, the bill will declare outright for direct nominations in all of the representative and senatorial districts. Then the referendum will be attached, giving the voters of any particular district power to accept or reject the proposition at any time. In those places which believe the convention system of choosing state officials is better, the present law will stand.

In speaking of the matter yesterday, Speaker Walker said: "It is true that I believe the time has come when the question of direct nominations in representative and senatorial districts can best be met by submitting the matter to the people of those districts and letting them decide for themselves whether they will have conventions or the direct nomination system."

He told of the advance made in direct nominations in Massachusetts and called attention to the fact that 173 of the 240 members of the house and 13 of the 40 members of the senate are chosen that way.

"It seems to me, however," he continued, "that the legislature is scarcely in a position to understand precisely just what the sentiment of a given district is. The compactness of a district affords, after all, a poor standard on which to base legislative action in this important regard."

In conclusion he declared that the interests of all would be best subserved if legislation were enacted putting local questions of convention or direct nominations, which affect neither the state constitution nor party organization, squarely up to the people themselves.

"This would seem," he concluded, "not only the more scientific manner of treating the matter, but, to my mind, would be the fairer and more equitable way."

There will be a number of bills submitted, however, which will go further than is proposed by Speaker Walker. Senator-elect Nason has already declared that he intended to file a general bill, applying to the state officers as well as to the legislative districts. The father of that measure in last winter's legislature was former Representative Edwin C. McIntire of Gloucester, a republican, and he also has declared that he will file a general bill again this year.

It may be that the democratic state organization will do the same, and the latter body may even go to the extent of including direct nomination of candidates for United States senator. This has not been definitely decided upon as yet, but it has been considered at 15 Beacon street, and should the action be determined timely, there are a number of democrats in the membership of next year's house who stand ready to act as godfather for the proposition.

WINTER STORM

Struck This Section This Morning

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—An early winter storm with a cold, sleety rain on the coast and some snow in the interior reached New England from southern climes early today and with a big mountain range of high pressure over the lakes and a trough of low pressure off the coast stiff north to northeast gales prevailed.

In some ways conditions resembled the famous storm of eleven years ago next Friday when more than 500 lives were lost off the Massachusetts coast including the 250 which went down on the steamer Portland.

The gale off the coast was about the usual northeast severity ranging from 30 miles in Boston and 60 and 70 miles an hour on exposed points like Block Island, Nantucket and Cape Cod. Shipping clung to safe harbors and vessels caught off shore scurried back for shelter. No serious accidents had been reported up to noon although a fleet of boats in Provincetown harbor had been well knocked about and one of them lost her topmast.

Mr. James E. O'Donnell, candidate for nomination for mayor, will ask for a recount of the votes for the mayor-alty candidates in the interest of his friends. Some of his friends believe that some mistake has been made in the count.

McDonald also
Mr. Joseph McDonald, who got eleven place for alderman on the democratic ticket yesterday, has asked for a recount. He polled 36 votes less than Mr. Lyons, the rival who got ninth place and ten less than John J. Delaney, who was tenth man. Mr. Delaney has not asked for a recount.

GET NO TURKEY GEN'L CLARKSON

Nantucket People Are Shut Out

NANTUCKET, Nov. 24.—Nantucket people will have a turkeyless Thanksgiving day tomorrow and all because of a sixty mile northeast gale which caused a temporary suspension of the steamers plying between the island and the mainland. The annual consignment of turks was due to arrive today but the storm interfered.

The gale caused extremely high tides and the wharves were inundated. The Nantucket mosquito fleet of fishing boats was badly damaged.

Six fishing smacks were caught by the storm on the fishing grounds east of the island, but all reached port safely today after a perilous experience.

POLITICAL NOTES

In his initial entry into politics William J. Gargan, "Smiling Bill," as he is affectionately called, made a great run in ward four for the common council leading the bunch of eleven candidates. Mr. Gargan is a capable young man and his friends are confident he will be heard from in the lower board. The defeat of John W. Sharkey, a clean cut, progressive young man, was unexpected, but he will be in the field again.

WOMEN WANT MOP WRINGERS

Because they make the mopping of floors so much easier. Most people dislike to handle dirty, wet mop waste. With the Reliance Mop Wringer the hands need not come in contact with hot, dirty soap suds at all. Save your hands—any body can use this wringer—simply attach to the mop—put in the waste, push down the handle and your mop comes out air dry. If wrong by hand and with less work—that's what we all want—less work.

Said to be Slated for Retirement

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The announcement in Washington that James S. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York, would not be reappointed when his term expired on Jan. 1 caused general surprise in republican circles all over the country. It was also unofficially announced that Richard Parr, the man who unmasked the sugar frauds in New York, would succeed Clarkson. Parr said he knew no reason why Clarkson should not be reappointed, declaring that the surveyor had given him earnest support in the sugar trust investigation. Mr. Clarkson has held the office since 1902 and for thirty years was one of the most active men in republican politics in the middle west. He is a native of Indiana, but lived in Iowa for many years.

A NEW TRIAL

COURT GRANTS ONE TO MRS. TEAL

ALBANY, Nov. 24.—The court of appeals yesterday reversed the judgment of conviction and ordered a new trial

Decides Against Dr. Chase in Fight for $300,000 Estate

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in the case of Leonard H. Phillips et al., vs. Dr. Horace Chase, affirmed a final decree revoking a probate decree of April 23, 1893, whereby Mrs. Jennie P. Chase, who a short time before became the wife of Dr. Chase, adopted his son, Dr. Forest Woodruff Chase, by his first marriage, as her son.

Mrs. Chase and the adopted son are now dead. She died first, and Dr. Chase was the only heir of his son. She had an estate of about $300,000, which now goes to her brothers and sisters. Had the adoption stood Dr. Chase would have inherited it through his son.

Dr. Chase objected to the entry of the final decree, which was based upon his undue influence in procuring his wife to have the court grant her leave to adopt his son.

The keynote of the decision is that a party shall not be allowed to profit by his own wrongdoing.

Dr. Chase claimed the evidence before the jury at the trial did not warrant finding undue influence on his part in procuring the adoption. He said the adoption decree could not or should not be set aside as there was no fraud committed by his son, the other party to the adoption proceeding and also because the status created by the adoption could not be changed after the death of both Mrs. Chase and his son, the parties to it.

The court holds that the evidence warranted a finding that Mrs. Chase's mind had been overpowered by her husband so as to have forced her against her will to bring a petition in court for the adoption of his son, and that this was a gross fraud upon his wife and was a fraud upon the court that the decree of adoption should be set aside.

The court further declares that Dr. Chase having procured the adoption in order to secure his wife's property for his son, thinking that if the son got the property he would benefit thereby, the adoption should be set aside to prevent him from profiting now as the heir of his son by his wrongdoing in procuring the adoption.

In the case of Mrs. Margaret Teal, who was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for subornation of perjury growing out of the Frank Gould divorce case.

Mrs. Teal rented apartments to Bessie Devos, an actress who was named in the case. The specific charge was that Mrs. Teal tried to induce Mabel MacCausland, an employee of a military establishment, to testify that she had called on Miss Devos to solicit her trade and had seen Mr. Gould there.

INCENDIARY FIRE

Residents of Berwick, Me., Excited

BERWICK, Me., Nov. 24.—Residents were much excited today over the second fire of supposed incendiary origin within a month at Beaver Dam. On October 22 the Beaver Dam town hall was burned and traces of an incendiary were found. Last night while the occupants were absent the farm buildings of Frank Guphill were burned.

This fire started in the barn, burning the horses, cattle and poultry before they could be removed and Mr. Guphill is positive that the fire was set by some one. His loss is $5000, partly covered by insurance.

SUPREME COURT

Says Fish Warden Made Illegal Seizure

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday held in the case of William T. Dunn of Dartmouth vs. Fish and Game Warden Samuel J. Lowe of New Bedford that the laws authorizing game wardens or district policemen to "search in suspicious places" for lobsters unlawfully taken or offered for sale, does not justify an officer in searching sacks carried by a person in the street, without a search warrant. The plaintiff is held entitled to recover. Dunn sued the defendant for damages for making a wrongful search for lobsters. He was carrying two sacks containing lobsters received from a common carrier, and had not opened them. It was not unlawful for him to have them. Lowe met him, and suspecting the lobsters had been unlawfully offered for sale, seized them. He later returned them to Dunn. He had no search warrant. The court says in conclusion: "The statute does not contemplate or authorize such a violation of personal rights." The law has since been changed, so that the officers may make a person display fish or game in his possession for inspection.

OPENING OF THE NEW THEATER, NEW YORK'S "MILLIONAIRE" PLAYHOUSE

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

THE opening of the New theater has proved the overshadowing feature thus far of the first half of New York's dramatic season. The opening ceremony was a promising one, indeed, attended by a list of notables in public life, as well as in the artistic world, and the production of "Antony and Cleopatra," which followed two days later, attracted an assemblage probably never equaled at a similar function in this country. The New theater is the outcome of the national theater project which originated several years ago as the result of the agitation in favor of the playhouse which should be the center of drama in this country.

Built of Sandstone and Marble. The New theater is located on Central Park West (or Eighth avenue) between Fifty-second and Fifty-third streets. It is a handsome gray sandstone and marble structure, containing every conceivable feature that should go into the most up to date of playhouses.

Much that is novel has been done for the comfort of the patrons of the New theater. Six coat rooms have been built off the circular main corridor, rendering it unnecessary for a man to wait more than a minute before receiving his hat. Barring an enormous crush, there will be no standing in line with a draft blowing upon one's back.

Acousticones For the Deaf. The chairs were made especially for the New theater and are of steel framework, although they appear to the eye to be made of mahogany. They are wide, comfortable and upholstered in a rich erise. The number of the seat and the theater's crest are woven in the tapestry on the back, and underneath is an opening connecting with the enormous plant which supplies the playhouse with fresh air. To a hundred of the chairs are attached acousticones that the deaf may hear as well as see. There is also another novelty and convenience. In the side of each enormous ice chest and shelves for the storage of china and silverware. In this room tea, coffee, food and cakes will be served by attendants during the performance. During these periods an orchestra will play at one end of the foyer, while the other will be devoted to the exhibition of famous paintings lent to the theater.

Millionaires' Theater. The theater was built through the contributions of about twenty New York millionaires and consequently has become known as the "millionaires' theater."

Spalding Off For European Tour. Albert Spalding, the talented American violinist, has sailed for Europe to engage in another tour of the continental capitals, where he has already won fame.

After a summer's rest at the American summer home of his parents, Mr.

musical and artistic life there, and many of the most eminent musicians, writers and artists in the world have been entertained within its handsome historic walls, for it was once the palace of one of the famous Talleyrands.

Albert Spalding is an ardent bibliophile and has acquired a fine collection of rare old books, to which he is constantly making choice additions. Being an accomplished linguist, he is intimately familiar with the best literature of the past and the other with the brilliancy of a splendid future.

Forbes-Robertson's Success.

Mr. Forbes-Robertson's New York season at Maxine Elliott's theater, which was scheduled to terminate recently, at the end of a month's run, has been so successful in Jerome K. Jerome's symbolic play that the run of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" has been indefinitely prolonged.

At every performance since the start, without exception, Forbes-Robertson has played to the capacity of the house. Numberless letters of appreciation have been received from all kinds and conditions of people, from ministers and clergy down to the man in the street.

It is extremely unlikely that the desire generally expressed for Mr. Forbes-Robertson's revival of "Hamlet" can be consummated this visit, owing to the absence of his scenery, properties and costumes and his triumph in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

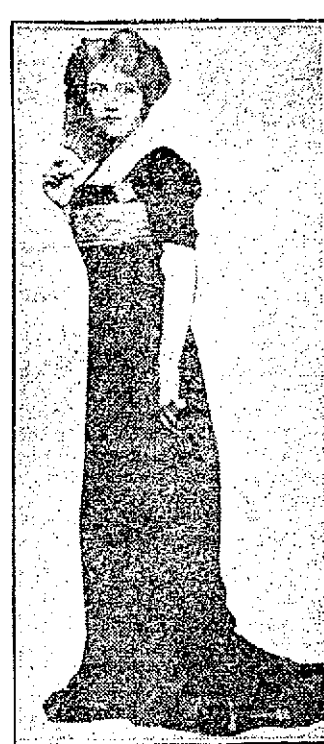

"The Play Not the Part."

William Collier is not one of those stars who are always insisting upon having the center of the stage. He knows better. A playwright recently asked for an interview with him in order to take his measure for a new piece. "Of course," said the author, "I shall build the play about you. You will be on practically the whole time."

"Now, stop!" said Mr. Collier. "You build your play about an idea. I'll play any part in a good play and be grateful for it. But there isn't any part in a bad play that's good enough for William Collier." The playwright went away amazed and hasn't yet written the play.

That Bernstein Duel.

What an irreparable loss might have been inflicted upon the drama had the bullet of the offended critic who challenged Henri Bernstein to a duel gone to its mark. Measured by popularity, he is already the most successful living dramatist, and he is but a young man. Charles Frohman has three com-of all countries, while his long residence abroad has enabled him to pick up many priceless works, some of which he has come across in some dusty old shop in Italy, which not infrequently proves a veritable treasure house, and again in a London bookseller's dingy habitation.

As in the matter of composers, his excellent taste is shown in his preference for the ancient classics rather than the more modern writers, and he numbers in his collection many a volume which is a triumph of the bookmaker's art of centuries past.

Camille Saint-Saens and Albert Spalding.

Camille Saint-Saens, the eminent musician and composer, is greatly interested in the career of Mr. Spalding and when he appeared with him in concert in several of the musical centers of Europe complimented the young virtuoso upon the fineness of his interpretations.

Perhaps the most expressive thing that has ever been written about Albert Spalding was from the gifted pen of a famous Italian critic, who, in speaking of a recital in which Saint-Saens and Spalding appeared together in Florence, said: "In the concerto in D by Saint-Saens the young violinist stood worthily by the great master, and as the huge audience heaped ovation after ovation upon them one could not help but think of the dawn and sunset standing there with joined hands, the one with the great glories

By TOMMY CLARK.

THE unfortunate and untimely death of several football players in different sections of the country has focused attention on American football as it is played today and given to it probably the worst black eye it has had in years, for, coupled with the death of Cadet Byrne at West Point, is the case of Midshipman Earl Wilson, the navy quarterback, who was probably mortally injured in a flying tackle in the Annapolis-Villanova game. It has been said that the greatest injuries come from bruising mass plays, but it is pointed out in a very significant way by those opposed to even the so-called new game that Villanova has a lighter team than the navy; therefore it can hardly enter into the present discussion.

The general opinion of the majority of ex-college players is that the trouble lies not in the differences of weight, not in the differences in methods of training, not in inferior football knowledge, but in the rules themselves.

The football rules committee says that it has opened the game. Maybe it thinks it has. But just look carefully at the penalties that surround an incomplete forward pass. On the first and second downs an incomplete forward pass entails the loss of fifteen yards. Well, a team's hardly going to take a chance on that play. Then, when it has, it is backed up somewhere near its own goal line or even in its own territory anywhere when it's playing against an opponent of nearly equal strength. It would be too hazardous.

Again, on the third down, if a team tries to pull off the forward pass and it fails to the ground the ball goes to the opponents on the spot where the ball was put in play for that third down. Who's going to try a forward pass under such conditions? Naturally enough, since it is hampered by such a rule, a team in its own territory has simply got to stick to line bucking on the first two downs and punting on the third.

There seems to be only one remedy to this difficulty. Let the committee remove these penalties or else modify them.

There's one rule that ought to be amended right away. Dragging a man after he has been tackled or tumbled over ought to be prohibited. That's where most of the injuries occur. If ten men are pulling one, somebody's got to give, and it's going to be the defense. It's the players, then, on the defense who are hurt. It's true we've got to keep scoring plays, but we can have them without the dragging play.

There is more danger in the forward pass than there ever was in mass plays, and, while that statement may appear a little rash, I am going to show you the reason why.

In a mass play all the tackle has to do is to stiffen his neck, bend his head and plunge into the line. When a man is going like that his neck cannot be twisted. He may be bruised a little by the fall or when the other players pile on him, but his neck and spine are not in danger. On the other hand, when a tackle goes after a man who is trying to catch a forward pass he is looking upward and his neck is in a position that is very dangerous. If suddenly knocked from his feet and struck in the face or under the chin his neck is liable to be twisted. Poor Eugene Byrne probably got his first injury when he tackled Hamilton Fish, who was trying to catch a forward pass.

Byrne, who was looking upward and over his shoulder, was suddenly bent backward, and his head struck the ground, twisting to one side. He got up and went back into the next play. Many of the players believe that he was fatally hurt the first time and that he collapsed the second time after going in through sheer will power.

Danger in Striking Head.

Some of the rulemakers and others would have us believe that all the former dangers in football came from the old mass plays. They set about to change the rules. The first thing done was to eliminate the guard back, tackle back and all that class of plays that were formed by playing more than three men back of the line. They then instituted the forward pass, which was intended to keep the ball in the open and, by scattering the men over the field, prevent injuries from those grinding scrummers that formerly made the game such a jumble to the spectators.

These rules were all well intended. They made the game much better for the spectator, and the sport naturally grew into greater popularity. But it did not eliminate a particle of danger.

If mass plays were as dangerous as some persons assert they can be played under the present rules with just as much danger as they could under the former laws. Harvard has a play over tackle that brings nearly every man on the team through the gap.

There is no way that danger can be eliminated from football by changing the rules. They might change the game so that it would be altogether different in principle, but then it wouldn't be football.

When the rules of football were changed it was with the idea that the sport should be made more open and that an eleven need not necessarily be coached to believe that all hope of its success depended upon retaining the ball continually in its own possession.

It was a heroic struggle for some of the old timers to admit that this might even be possible, and there are some to this day who rebel against it. The theory of mass play in football as it had worked out, not so much to the physical injury of players as to the utter lack of attractiveness to the sport, and the steady tendency that was making it an exclusive pastime for the giants as opposed to the men of average physical size, was built on the foundation of retention of the ball at all hazards.

There is nothing in mass play in football which is attractive. Its value is usually nil nowadays except when it is employed to gain a short distance.

There is little of mass play as it took place five years ago. A big team which confronts a smaller team and finds it easy to break through the defense of the smaller team is apt to fall back on line plays because it is the easiest way of winning the game. There are fewer teams, however, which under the new rules have been able to sweep across a field for long distances, gaining two or three yards or a little more at each down, than there were in the past.

There have been instances where a team has made, say, twenty-five yards through driving at the tackles or between them and the ends. Such an instance took place last year in the game between Yale and Princeton last year, but that is a rare exception.

The injury to Byrne, the West Point cadet, is accredited to mass play. The use of that term would appear to have been adopted more because it sounds objectionable than because those who have employed it are thoroughly conversant with the real character of mass play.

When one man under the new game essays to carry the ball he is not surrounded by three or four others, who form a wedge or a chisel shaped group, which seeks to crowd the opponents to earth.

He usually runs alone. One of his companions may seek to block a certain player and another companion seek to block another player. A third may essay to get in such a position that he can ward off runners who try to seize the man with the ball. A fourth may try to get into a position where he can prevent the back from checking the advance of the ball. That isn't mass play. It is a running formation, and its purpose is to scatter the defense and not let it be welded into a compact body because another compact body is trying to break through the line. That was what resulted under mass play in other days.

To attempt to stop a running formation on the football field by diving head-first at the player who has the ball and whose interference is ranged on both sides of him seems to be taking a risk which is not warranted and which is not theoretically good football.

The diving tackle, while it almost seems at times to the anxious football player to be the only manner in which he may accomplish his wish to stop the advance of the ball, is foolhardy and unsound. The tackler loses command of himself as he hurls his body at his adversary and if he misses him is wholly out of the play. If, on the other hand, he attempts to body-check the player he is likely to make his tackle successful at the same time.

When the cause of four or five of the injuries of recent occurrence on the football field is thoroughly analyzed it is possible that it will be ascertained that mass play is not so much the reason for them as a faulty method of tackling.

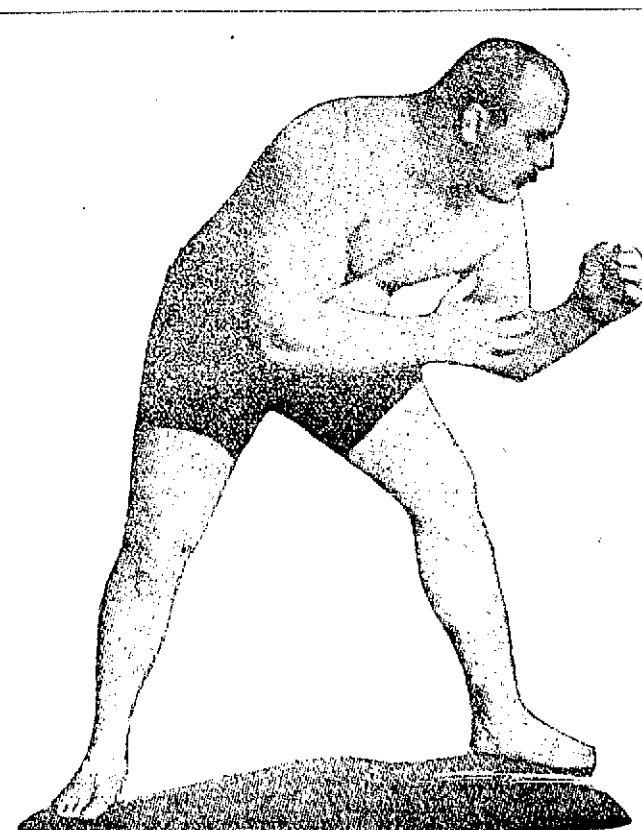

So far as young players are concerned, the diving tackle should be absolutely prohibited, and if there is no other manner in which to prohibit it a penalty should be charged against a team one of whose players commits it. It is not at all difficult to tell when a player makes a diving tackle.

If older players dive at a man now and then in a last resort to stop his advance with the ball it is not good football, and there is no reason why they should not be penalized for a play that has little to commend it.

GIRL ARRESTED

She is Suspected of Having Shot a Man

WALTHAM, Mass., Nov. 24.—Found under the bed of Clarence F. Glover, the man with whose mysterious death she has been connected, after hiding for three days without food and submitting to three and one-half hours' questioning, Miss Hattie Le Blanc, of Arichat, C. B., collapsed in the police station early yesterday morning. In a statement given out today, the police say the 17-year-old girl admitted having been with Glover on Saturday night, claimed that he assaulted her in his laundry, that he drew a revolver and threatened her life, following which she ran from the building. She said that as she was leaving by a window in the rear she heard a shot. Then she made her way to the Glover home, went to Mr. Glover's room and hid herself under the bed. No other person had any knowledge of her presence in the house, she said.

Miss Le Blanc had been sought for since the statement by Glover, before his death, in which he charged her with shooting him. An undertaker believed she was in the Glover home and told the police of his suspicions. The girl was found under the bed.

From the Glover home yesterday

was held the funeral of the dead man. Mrs. Glover, his wife went to the cemetery with the body and had returned but a short time when the search was made.

FOUND A FISH

Woman Discovered it in the Milk

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 24.—Mrs. M. E. O'Brien of 4 Wellington avenue was making the sponge for her week's baking yesterday morning and turning in milk found a two-inch minnow splashing about. She rescued the fish and put it in a bowl of water.

By use of the telephone Mrs. O'Brien gathered in a full jury of neighbors to all in judgment on the audacity of her milk man. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty of undue dilution of the milk and the recommendation that no mercy be shown. After an all day's exhibition the milk fish died. A warm reception was promised the milkman on his morning rounds.

INAUGURATION

Of Gov. Forbes of the Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 24.—In the marble hall of the Ayuntamiento, once used for conference by the Spanish authorities and now the Chamber of Popular Assembly, at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning, W. Cameron Forbes of Massachusetts, took the oath of office as governor-general of the Philippines and delivered his inaugural address. He is the fifth and youngest governor-general since the United States instituted civil government here.

Improvement in the material condition of the islands and the people was the key-note of Gov. Forbes' address. He dedicated his administration to the advancement of the people and country and declared that the country's greatest need was capital. He counseled Americans and Filipinos to unite jointly to strive for the advancement of the islands, quoting figures to show that the per capita production in the Philippines was far behind that of Porto Rico and Hawaii.

The governor outlined an extensive program of public improvements, including roads, irrigation, rivers and harbors. He read the original McKinley instructions and declared they had been fully carried out, the United States only retaining a necessary strong central control.

Following the address, Gov. Forbes held a reception.

Gov. Forbes, in his inaugural address, spoke at some length with reference to the stability of the Philippine government and protection which it would give to investments. "Capital demands a stable government," he declared. "Capital is not particularly interested in the color or design of the flag; it wants just and equitable laws, sound and uniform policy on the part of the government, just and fair treatment in the courts. The faith of the United States is pledged that all of these benefits shall be permanently assured to the Filipinos. No capitalist need feel alarmed as to security of his investment, provided it has been made in such a way as to fulfill the conditions imposed by law. The United States stands pledged to the establishment and maintenance of a stable government in the Philippine islands, not the sake of capital which may be invested here, but for the sake of the welfare of the Philippine people and the faith of the United States before the world. The security of foreign capital is merely an incident in the general security of property rights to the Filipino, but both are now permanently assured."

"There is not on the horizon discernible any cloud which indicates the possibility, of any kind of disturbance in the present status of these islands either from within or without by war or insurrection."

"The United States is strong, determined, fixed in her policy, and not to be dissuaded or coerced. The development of the Philippines will proceed along the lines originally set forth, strictly adhered to by each successive administration and by the gradual process in line of declared policy, not by spasms or jerks."

BOUT STOPPED

By Order of the Supt. of Police

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—In less than one minute of fighting in the first round last night Sam Langford, the Boston boxer, beat Mike Shreck up so badly that at the order of Supt. of Police Thomas A. McQuaid, Referee Henniger stopped the bout and gave the decision to Langford.

Shreck had just tottered to his feet after his second knockdown, and Langford was just poisoning for the knockout when the bout was stopped. The 2500 persons who had paid $5, $3 and $2 to see this mill became so enraged that it was with great difficulty that Shreck was permitted to reach his dressing room without being hit with a chair, several being raised over him.

Shreck came into the ring very fat, weighing at least 200 pounds, while the Boston boxer was trained to the minute. Langford lost no time in pelting him, he reached for Shreck's stomach and landed, then whipped his right to the chin, dropping the fat man like a log.

Shreck came to his feet with some labor and managed to clinch a few times, while Langford did some murderous infighting. Before the minute was ended Langford once more reached the stomach lightly with his left and crossed his right hard to the jaw. This ended it. Shreck got up at the count of nine, but could hardly stand and to save a knockout the battle was stopped.

Langford tried all day and last evening to come up with Jack Johnson, who is in Pittsburgh, but failed. He challenged Johnson from the ring.

A feature of the evening's milling was the resurrection of the veteran Johnny Stroup, who 17 years ago drew with George Dixon in 20 rounds. Stroup fought Young Green, half his years, six fast rounds and had the better of Green.

STEAMER MISSING

NO TIDINGS FROM THE MARIA HERRERA

HAVANA, Nov. 24.—No tidings have reached here of the missing steamer Maria Herrera of the Herrera line, which left Havana October 30 for Santiago de Cuba, where her passengers were landed. The Maria Herrera then proceeded for Porto Rican ports with a cargo of cattle. She has not since been reported and grave fears are entertained for her safety. She is now overdue on the return voyage to Havana eight days.

BODY EXHUMED

Miss Glendelis Victim of Dropsy

ATHOL, Nov. 24.—By order of Asst. Dist. Atty. James A. Stiles of Gardner the body of Miss Sophia Glendelis, aged 25, who died suddenly at the home of friends on Freedom street, a week ago, was exhumed yesterday, and in the afternoon at the undertaking rooms of J. F. Higgins on Exchange street an autopsy was performed by the medical examiner, Dr. James Oliver, assisted by Dr. A. V. Bowker and Dr. George J. Bassow. It was announced by Dr. Oliver at the close of the autopsy that there was absolutely no evidence of foul play, and that the cause of death was from dropsy.

There were present besides those taking part in the autopsy Dr. J. A. Smith, Dr. David G. Coolidge and Dr. Marlon Bowker. There had been many conflicting stories since the girl's death and it is to clear the case up the step was taken.

INVITATION PARTY

GIVEN AT O. U. A. M. HALL LAST NIGHT

The A. L. A.—whatever that stands for—an organization of young ladies, gave a very pretty invitation party in O. U. A. M. hall in Middle street last night. Despite the fact that it was the night of the primaries the gentlemen turned out in large numbers and assisted the ladies in making the affair a grand success. The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion, the predominating colors being yellow and white, while the stage was daintily set with greenery and crimson and blue bunting. General dancing was enjoyed from 8 o'clock to midnight.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

There are just 100 of these coats—the result of a fortunate purchase made by our buyer, who happened to be in New York when these plums were offered. He jumped at the opportunity to give the young men of Lowell such magnificent coats at this price. These coats are not to be confused with the usual $20 Overcoats. They're far and away beyond anything ever offered in the Military cut style at $20.00. Every one of the patterns is attractive, the materials are of the very best and each coat bears the marks of the highest order of hand tailoring.

It's such a pleasure for us to offer exceptional values, that we ask you to compare these coats with what others offer at the price. Take the coat home, examine it closely, if you are not satisfied with your purchase, or feel that you can duplicate the coat at less than $25.00, bring it back and we'll cheerfully refund your money.

We're enthusiastic about our showing of Military Coats and we want to have you see them.

ENDED HIS LIFE A $3500 VERDICT

Fitchburg Man a Suicide by Shooting

FITCHBURG, Nov. 24.—Fred E. Whipple, a painter living at 28 Temple street, committed suicide at his home late yesterday afternoon. A .32-calibre revolver with two chambers empty, found by his side, told the story of the deed.

Whipple had been despondent for several weeks, yet he was with friends Monday night and was about his home yesterday. He ate his dinner at noon yesterday with his 11 year old son, Joseph Whipple, and appeared in good spirits. Late yesterday afternoon when the son returned from school he found his father sitting on a sofa in the parlor. There were blood stains on his shirt, which attracted the attention of the boy, and without waiting to make an examination he ran to the tenement of Charles Moore where he told what had happened.

Mr. Moore accompanied the boy to his home and upon making an examination found Whipple dead. There were two bullet wounds under the heart, which undoubtedly caused instant death. Medical Examiner Thompson was notified and after viewing the body turned it over to the undertaker. Medical Examiner Thompson stated that Whipple had been found dead some time before the body was found. Whipple was one of the well known residents of the city. Some years ago he attempted to take his life by shooting himself, but was prevented from carrying out intentions by friends who took the weapon away from him. Whipple is survived by one son and one brother.

ACCIDENT CASES

FELIX RICHARD FRACTURED HIS KNEE

Felix Richard, aged 51 years, and living at 57 George street fell while at work in the Massachusetts yesterday and fractured his left knee. He was taken to the Emergency hospital for treatment.

Fractured Hip

Jeremiah Tony, a boy five years of age, was taken from 29 Swift street yesterday afternoon with a fractured hip, received, it is said, through a fall from a wagon. The accident occurred about 4.30 o'clock.

BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Finnia Cassignol, the French billiard champion, and Harry Cline of Philadelphia won the two games played yesterday in the 182 ball line tournament for the championship of the world. Cassignol defeated Albert Cutler of Boston, 300 to 412, and Cline defeated George F. Sloan, the local victor, 500 to 392.

In the Cassignol-Cutler game the Boston player in his ninth inning made the highest run of the tournament thus far, 153 points, then failing to get either object ball out of balk space. The Frenchman was both deliberate and delicate in his cue work, setting up even frames with his opponent with a run of 97 in the 14th inning.

The game then dragged and at the 23d inning the men were tied again with 353 each. Cassignol drew away gradually with one run of 55, and won the game in the 37th inning.

FLOODS ARE GENERAL

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—Nearly every river and creek in Oregon was out of its banks last night owing to heavy rains, and in eastern Washington floods are general though the rainfall was not so heavy. The greatest damage has been done along the Willamette river.

Man Injured in a Street Car Accident

Car Accident

BROCKTON, Nov. 24.—Patrick Hunt, aged 64 years, who alleges that he was crippled for life in a street railway accident on North Main street, this city, in 1903, through the carelessness of a motorman, was given a verdict of $3500 by the jury in the superior court just before adjournment yesterday afternoon. It is the largest award made in a damage suit during the present term.

Mr. Hunt sued for $13,000. He claimed, supported by witnesses, that he and his party signalled the motorman; that the car stopped, and then, learning that it was not the one he wanted, he started across the street, and was struck by the car.

The claim of the Old Colony Street Railway company, through witnesses, was a denial of his story.

SAMUEL COMPERS

Refers to the Contempt Sentence

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Insurance should be subject to the regulation of congress rather than to the caprice of state legislatures, according to Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Co. He expressed this view last night incidental to a discussion of wage earners insurance as he addressed a representative gathering of 900 persons at the tenth annual dinner of the National Civic Federation.

He said congress should declare interstate insurance "to be what it in fact is—not only an instrumentality of commerce, but interstate commerce."

Samuel Compers in an address last night on his European trip referred briefly to the contempt sentence now hanging over him.

He said: "In the clash of interests in our comparatively new country there must be some standard bearers who will go ahead and find out what are the people's rights under the constitution. If the courts disagree these standard bearers have no choice but to state their case spiritedly and to carry it to the courts of last resort. Those who thus contribute to make the law definite or who through their action obtain needed changes in law perform a great public service. If they suffer it is a good cause."

Senator Root, the last speaker of the evening, took issue with Mr. Kingsley in his demand for federal regulation of insurance. "We must be always watchful," he said, "not to break down the power of local governments just for the sake of an efficiency which comes from centralization. Let us remember that in the local governments lie the heart and centre of our liberties which have built us up into a great and strong nation of individuals. If we overrule the constitution in this matter of insurance there will be demands for government control of other business and we will find that we have established a dangerous precedent."

FAST BRITISH DREADNOUGHT

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Nov. 24.—The new British Dreadnought Vanguard completed an eight hour trial last night, during which she attained the remarkable speed of 22.4 knots an hour, a full knot in excess of the Admiralty's stipulation.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

A fair sized audience witnessed the performance of "A Convict's Daughter" at the Opera House last night. The plot of the piece is of the common day and portrays a pretty story, but like all melodramas right triumphs and the windup is along the line of "they lived happily ever after."

There is considerable comedy introduced in order to remove the seriousness of the plot which is very pleasing.

The cast of the company included some very good men, including Clark R. Feiglar, who portrayed the role of "William Woodford," the former convict. W. J. Florence played the heavy part, taking the role of "James Blackburn."

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD" TONIGHT

Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead," unimpaired in every way, is seemingly more vibrant and compelling than in the past. It is now in its twenty-fourth season and is playing to audiences that completely fill the theatres where the company appears. The audiences follow, the thread of the old story with as much unflinching interest as if it were all brand new.

The production in all the essential details that go to make up a play, are perfect. Such familiar scenes as the old farmyard in the New Hampshire hills, breathe the air of good, wholesome honesty. The equally familiar Grace church scene, with the choir singing the well-known, but always as in former seasons. One of the great assets of the longevity of this little play of a simple people lies in the very high standard always maintained in production and presenting company. Frank Thompson, Denman Thompson's son, who is manager, keeps the traditions of the play well in hand and he consequently renews a golden harvest every season.

The famous double quartette of farm hands is one of the distinct features of the play and the old and new songs that are rendered always meet with the warmest and most appreciative approval. Edward Shader is playing the part of Uncle Josh, and among the other old favorites may be mentioned Maggie Dryer, Fred Clark, Charles Clarke, Earl Redding, George Patch, Dave Willard and Anita Fowler.

"EAST LYNNE"

Tomorrow, matinee and night, the attraction at the Opera House is an adequately staged production of the most popular of all dramas, "East Lynne," by Joseph King's New York company. The engagement is for matinee and night only, and special prices will prevail.

"East Lynne" is one of the greatest emotional dramas ever written.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

Leon W. Washburn's production of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" will be the attraction at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday and daily matinees. The play is a comedy and is presented and vaudeville feature of the production during the season of the play. Popular prices will prevail. Seats are now on sale.

HATTIE WILLIAMS

Hattie Williams will be at the Opera House soon in Michael Moore's famous dramatic comedy "Detective Sparks" which comes here under the direction of Charles Frohman, after a notable engagement of 100 nights at the Garrick theatre, New York City.

The Williams needs no introduction to local playgoers and will remember her so well in "The Girl from Maxim's," "The Girl from Kay's," "The Little Cherub," "The Rollicking Girl," and "Fluffy Ruffies."

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

Theatre-goers and book readers who have read the famous "Brewster's Millions" story by George Barr McCutcheon, will be delighted with the announcement that the dramatic version of the book will be presented at the Opera House soon.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The big holiday bill, at Hathaway's theatre, this week, is headed by the brilliant Little China play called "Sun-Sun." Miss Mabel Barden heads the very complete cast presenting the novel. The scenic investiture of the play is particularly rich. The love of the Little piece is the love of two Chinese for the Naiking maiden, one of the lovers being a gambling house keeper, the other a humble laundryman. The incidental music has been especially composed for this production.

Anna Chandler, one of the most striking stage comedienne ever seen here, is guaranteed 100 proof. Her personality is remarkable and nobody sees her but that likes her. Grace Emmet, in "Mrs. Muir's Secret," a "hand" will supply plentiful laughs, and the Great Egbert and his clever Little-pations furnish one of the most striking of funnies on the bill. Other acts are: Marrou & Heines, in minstrel moments; El Barto, the merry wizard; Bert and Lottie Walton, and the Lath-escapes.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, with special seats at the night for women.

PHILIPPE THIERRY

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Tonight another big amateur show will be given at the Academy, which bids fair to excel all the past performances. Marlowe, Myers and Murri, in their charming travesty, "A Lesson in Shakespeare," are still setting a tremendous hit, while Rube Dickinson as the ex-justice of the peace, presents a novelty as a down cast Yankee that gains him much applause. The feature biograph picture, "Sweet Revenge" teaches a strong lesson. Travelletta of Rome and illustrated song, "Harvest, Come in Out of the Rain," completes a splendid program.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, the Theatre Voyons will be opened at 10 in the morning, and performances will be continuous till 10.30 in the evening. The picture program will be an exceptional one, and the featured attraction, "Her Father's Sin," a beautiful and appealing love story. The musical feature will be "Home to Our Mountains," the gypsy duet from "Il Trovatore," sung by James Roles and Lillian Bates. These singers have made an excellent impression the past week with their duets, and tomorrow's will be well worth hearing.

STAR THEATRE

Extra performances, presented in full, and consisting of vaudeville, motion pictures and illustrated songs, will be given at the Star Theatre tomorrow afternoon. Reato's educated dogs, the spariest canines on the stage, and "Mabel's" cat, a real sensation, are stealing vaudeville attractions, which will be seen for the last time tonight. Tomorrow Fisher and Fisher, the crazy cyclists, presenting the funniest knockabout act on the American stage will be seen, and on Friday all new moving pictures will be shown. The admission of five cents allows a seat.

COM. PEARY

TENDERED RECEPTION BY NAVAL PRESS CLUB

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Commander Robert E. Peary and Walter Wellman, the Arctic explorers, met here last evening for the first time since both of them began seeking the North pole.

The occasion was a reception tendered Commander Peary by the naval press club of Washington at which were distinguished scientists, officials of the government and others.

The feature of the reception which was informal, was the meeting between Commander Peary and Mr. Wellman. Cordially greeting Commander Peary, Mr. Wellman said: "I am glad to greet you as the only man who reached the North pole."

Commander Peary expressed his gratification at this evidence of confidence and said he wanted an opportunity to discuss with Mr. Wellman their Arctic experiences and as a result a tentative arrangement was made to do so.

Commander Peary made a very brief address but made no reference to Dr. Cook.
